The Year in Review

As the year draws to a close, a review of the services and features which have been deployed this year seems appropriate.

The staff under Academic Technology Services will be expanded for next semester with Robin Levesque joining the team. This expansion will enable ATS to more readily assist the growing number of faculty with integrating technology into their curriculum and aid in the use of administrative systems for advisement.

Blackboard was enhanced by the addition of language packs. This feature allows faculty to control the language used by Blackboard for text-based items.

Turnitin has been incorporated within the Blackboard structure. Due to some incredible feedback from our instructors, especially one in particular, Turnitin has already enhanced the application to meet the needs of faculty at Roger Williams University.

Apreso, a video capturing tool, was installed in several classrooms on campus. This tool equips instructors (and others) to record course content. The recording is then able to be released by the faculty to those who were unable to attend the session or for future class review. Apreso can also be used within Blackboard should the faculty wish to do so.

Vision6 was deployed on the computers in the teaching labs. Vision6 provides faculty a means of controlling lab computer activity. As well as controlling activity, the faculty has the ability to work on a specific computer and even display the work to the rest of the class.

Secureexam is installed in the computer teaching labs. This program prevents access to computer programs and services during exams and quizzes deployed within Blackboard.
