SCHOOL OF LAW HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

MORRIS DEES, ESQ.

Doctor of Laws, Honoris Causa

Founder, Southern Poverty Law Center

B.A. University of Alabama

J.D. University of Alabama School of Law

Born the son of Alabama cotton farmers, Morris Dees is the founder and chief trial counsel for the Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC) in Montgomery, Ala. After launching his law practice in 1960, Dees won a series of groundbreaking civil rights cases that helped integrate government and public institutions.

Known for innovative lawsuits that crippled some of America's most notorious white supremacist hate groups, Dees has received numerous awards. These include Trial Lawyer of the Year from Trial Lawyers for Public Justice, the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Award from the National Education Association and the Salem Award for Human Rights and Social Justice. In 2009, he was inducted into the Trial Lawyers' Hall of Fame by the American Trial Lawyers' Association. In 2012, the American Bar Association honored him with the ABA Medal.

Wayne Rogers portrayed him in the 1996 feature film, "Ghosts of Mississippi," about the murder of civil rights worker Medgar Evers. Dees was named one of the 100 Most Influential Lawyers in America by the National Law Journal in 2006. He has written three books: A Season for Justice, his autobiography; Hate on Trial: The Case against America's Most Dangerous Neo-Nazi; and Gathering Storm: America's Militia Threat. In 1991, NBC aired a made-for-TV movie called "Line of Fire" about Dees and his landmark legal victories against the Ku Klux Klan.

THE HONORABLE ALICE B. GIBNEY

Doctor of Laws, Honoris Causa

Presiding Justice,

Rhode Island Superior Court

B.A. Rhode Island College

J.D. Catholic University School of Law

The Honorable Alice B. Gibney is the presiding justice of the Rhode Island Superior Court. A West Warwick native, born to schoolteachers, she graduated from Rhode Island College in 1969 and went on to Catholic University School of Law in Washington, D.C., where she earned her law degree in 1972.

Judge Gibney began her career as a law clerk to Superior Court Judge Florence K. Murray before entering private practice in Providence. She served as an assistant U.S. Attorney in the late 1970s, then reentered private practice. In 1982, she became a Workers' Compensation Court Commissioner, and served in that capacity until her appointment as an associate justice of the Superior Court in 1984. Judge Gibney served on the state's Commission on Judicial Tenure and Discipline from 1991 until 2003, including six years as chair, and has taught as an adjunct professor at RWU Law.

Judge Gibney has spent much of her career concentrating on civil cases, including many medical malpractice lawsuits. When former Governor Donald Carcieri nominated her as presiding justice in 2009, he said: "Justice Gibney is admired and respected by her judicial colleagues and by all those who come before her courtroom. Considered a conscientious and gifted trial judge known for her ability to manage complex litigation and high case volume, Justice Gibney is well suited to serve as Presiding Justice."

IN MEMORIAM
CHIEF JUSTICE JOSEPH R. WEISBERGER
(1920-2012)

Retired Rhode Island Supreme Court Chief Justice Joseph R. Weisberger '92H, '97H(Law) – a Roger Williams University Trustee and a central figure in the founding and development of RWU Law – passed away last December at the age of 92.

Chief Justice Weisberger served as chairman of both the Roger Williams University School of Law Advisory Board and its Board of Directors and is the namesake of the school's first endowed professorship. In 1991, he led the feasibility study that recommended establishing RWU Law.

A graduate of Brown University and Harvard Law School, Weisberger interrupted his undergraduate studies in 1941 to join the Navy, where he served in the Pacific. He practiced law and served briefly in the state Senate before being appointed to the bench in 1956 at age 35. He was a Superior Court judge until 1978, when he was appointed to the Rhode Island Supreme Court as an associate justice. He served as chief justice from 1993 to 2001. In the years following his retirement, he helped lead the court's mediation program.

“You hear many accolades for Chief Justice Weisberger's long and distinguished service to our state,” said RWU Law Dean David A. Logan. “But to me it is also personal: he was instrumental in the founding of this law school and was the first and longest-serving Chair of our Board of Directors. He was also a classic gentleman and a wonderful mentor to me.”

Roger Williams University School of Law is honored to present the Dean's Distinguished Service Award to Chief Justice Joseph R. Weisberger, who is represented by his family today.

WILLIAM J. COFFEY EXCELLENCE IN MARITIME WRITING PRIZE

This prize is given in memory of William J. Coffey, a nationally renowned maritime law expert and adjunct professor of the School of Law, as well as former Interim Director of the Institute and Vice Chair of the Institute's Advisory Board. The prize is awarded annually to recognize exceptional writing by law students on a topic in admiralty and maritime law.

MARINE AFFAIRS JOINT DEGREE PROGRAM

Students interested in more extensive study of marine law and policy simultaneously earn a JD from RWU and a Master of Marine Affairs degree from the University of Rhode Island (URI). Joint degree students enhance their legal education with additional courses at URI on economic, international and policy considerations, positioning them well to address today's complex maritime, ocean and coastal legal issues.

Melissa R. Chalek

Rhode Island Sea Grant Law Fellows

The Rhode Island Sea Grant Legal Program, housed at the Marine Affairs Institute, is one of only four Sea Grant Legal Programs in the country, and the only one in New England. Through a partnership with Rhode Island Sea Grant, qualified law students serve as Sea Grant Law Fellows and are matched with requests from nonprofit groups, government agencies and private industry to conduct applied legal research and analysis on topical marine resource and maritime law issues.
