1Ls Introduced to the Beauty of Narragansett Bay

Posted by David Logan on 10/18/2011 at 09:14 AM

It was a sunny autumn afternoon on Narragansett Bay, perfect for members of the class of 2014 to get to know a little more about their new coastal home. Hosted by the Marine Affairs Institute, the annual 1L boat trip gave students interested in marine affairs a chance to learn about marine issues facing Narragansett Bay from the staff of the leading non-profit conservation group Save the Bay aboard the Aletta Morris. Along with Institute Director Susan Farady, Professor Michael Burger and 3L's Colin Lynch and Kristen Bonjour, almost two dozen 1Ls cruised under the Mount Hope Bridge, viewed their campus from the water side, and helped haul back a bottom trawl, catching native creatures such as squid, winter flounder and crabs.
