9-4-1998

The Hawk's Eye - September 4, 1998

Follow this and additional works at: http://docs.rwu.edu/hawk_eye

Part of the Education Commons

Recommended Citation
http://docs.rwu.edu/hawk_eye/3

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Publications at DOCS@RWU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Hawk's Eye by an authorized administrator of DOCS@RWU. For more information, please contact mwu@rwu.edu.
New fitness center to accommodate students

Kelly A. Scafariello
Editor-in-Chief

In the beginning weeks of September, Department of Student Life will unveil the new Student Life Fitness Center, located in Cedar Hall, one north.

The center will provide each student with plenty of room to workout, allowing the Athletic Department facilities not to stretch this. It will also meet the demand of health and fitness that will help to increase the longevity and quality of life of students.

RWU's Director of Student Life, Richard Stegman realized the increased interest in this area among students several years ago. Because of the fitness awareness by students, Stegman had an idea to create an on-campus fitness center accessible to them.

He thought of proposing the idea three years ago to President Anthony Santoro but realized the timing was not right. "At the time, we just did not have the space," commented Stegman.

However, with the recent addition of Bayside Apartments and the off-campus apartments at Almeida, RWU was able to offer students a wide variety of campus housing to choose from. This gave RWU more space, allowing Stegman to propose his plan to build the center to Santoro.

The proposal stated that the fitness center was to promote healthy living. The center would occupy the empty floor of one north in Cedar Hall.

There would be three aerobic rooms, a free weight area and a cardiovascular room. Also, dining services would operate a small store, selling soft drinks and various snacks for convenience.

Stegman, who thought the center would be a benefit to the students, approved the proposal. Stegman commented, "President Santoro, Vice President of Finance Tom Oates and Grant Writer Margaret Church were instrumental in raising funds to get started."

At the end of June, crews began in Cedar knocking down a couple of walls for aerobics and breaking down four rooms for the weights and cardiovascular area.

The major construction is over, leaving the painting and delivery of equipment to be done. Bulletin boards will be added to the walls, and announcements.

Stegman said, "All the rooms will be air conditioned and we are installing stereo too."

"We want to make working out convenient, fun and practical."

"There are going to be hired students who will train, exercise and manage the center," Santoro. "There are going to be hired staff who will train and exercise with the center." There are going to be hired students who will train and exercise.

For the convenience of students are going to be hired. For the convenience of students are going to be hired. For the convenience of students are going to be hired.

To check in, each student must flash his or her ID. The Student Life Fitness Center will provide opportunity to exercise and train along with education on nutrition and substance abuse.

"I want them to know the basics about the machines, how they work, and what muscles they help build."

The hours will be

Changes, page 4

Index:
Page 2: Editorials
Page 3-4: News
Page 5-6: Features
Page 7: Arts
Page 8: Sports
Published by and for the students of Roger Williams University

Articles and opinions expressed in The Hawk’s Eye are the responsibility of the writers and editors and do not reflect the opinions or policies of the university.

Want to become part of the staff at The Hawk’s Eye?

Do you like to write? Do you enjoy taking photos? Are you creative? Do you like to have fun? If so, The Hawk’s Eye is looking for you!

The Hawk’s Eye is a major source of information for the RWU community. The Hawk’s Eye will continue to grow over the year. We would love for you to grow with us.

There will be an open meeting on Wednesday, September 9 at 4 p.m. in the Other Place. We look forward to seeing you there.

If you have any questions, please contact Kelly or Donna at extension 3229.

Hawk’s Eye Letter Policy

Letters should be dropped off at The Hawk’s Eye office in the lower Student Union before deadline. Any letters submitted after this date may not be printed. Letters must be typed, double-spaced and spell-checked. All letters must be signed. Anonymous letters will not be printed. The writer should include his/her phone number, although the number will not be printed.

The Hawk’s Eye reserves the right to edit all articles.

Call 254-3229 Fax 254-3257

Can you believe the summer is over?

It seems like I was on Narragansett Bay kayaking in ninety degree weather just yesterday. Now I am back, bracing myself for my final year at RWU. Every new school year I can’t help but reflect on my first day of college. Here I was, an only child from a small town in Connecticut, being thrown into the freshman dorm, Cedar Hall. At first I was scared that I didn’t know anyone. As the day went by, I realized that everyone else on my floor was just as scared. As days became weeks and weeks became months, I got involved and developed wonderful friendships.

I joined many clubs and organizations, trying to find the right one for me. There is so much offered here at RWU. The only way for you to get the most out of the university is by seeing what is out there. Get involved, you will meet so many people and have so much fun doing it!

The best advice I can give you is, enjoy every moment. Your next four years is one journey you will never forget.

And remember that 8 a.m. classes, Core Science 101 with lab, and cab. food are all part of that college learning experience! Have a great year!

Kelly A. Scafariello Co-Editor-in-Chief

Welcome everyone!

I am Donna Zakszewski, one of the Co-Editors of The Hawk’s Eye. I am looking forward to a great season sharing my thoughts. This year we will be updating some changes this year, one being the new media coordinator Nora Mills who will be helping us out. It will be an exciting to have new faces join our crew, so if anyone is interested please give us a call at extension 3229. Or come by the office located in the bottom of the Student Union. Our door is always open.

To tell you a bit about myself, I am a Communications major with a double minor in Psychology and Music. My hometown is Wellesley, Massachusetts. I have been a part of the paper for four years now and have really enjoyed it. I have learned an abundance of skills that will aid me wherever I go.

I would like to encourage people to join the staff as well. College is a vast learning place. I want to share this inspiring quote taken from the Ephesians 5:15-16: “Be careful, then, how you live—not as unwise but as wise, making the most of every opportunity.” That is what I will try to do in this new position as Co-Editor.

Kelly A. Scafariello - Co-Editor-in-Chief

September 4, 1998

Dear RWU Students:

Welcome! Every fall, as new students arrive on campus, I recall my first day at college. You never forget that first day because it signals a big change in your life. My mother pulled me into the college after a thirty minute drive filled with silences and inconsequential conversation. (Did you pack toothpaste? Do you have your phone number at work in case there is an emergency?) and helped me lug all my important belongings up the three flights of stairs. Being the first to arrive, I got my pick of bed, dresser drawers and closet, before the arrival of my three (yes, three, I was an only child from a small town in Connecticut) roommates.

Before she left, my mother insisted on putting everything away. While helping her, I alternately wished she would leave and hoped that she would stay, lastly, she hugged me and drove off. I felt scared and excited as I brushed away the tears and climbed the stairs to return to my room. I remember squaring my shoulders and saying to myself, “This is your new life and it is up to you.” I then walked over to a few students sitting in the lounge and entered into the conversation. Some in that group became future roommates and lifelong friends.

Your first day at RWU may have been a little different, but you probably had some of the same moments: goodbyes to family, hellos to future friends, anxiety, excitement and the realization that this is your life. I want you to know that if you join thousands of RWU students who have gone before you, one thing is foremost in our minds—your success here. We want you to feel comfortable, respected, and valued as a member of our community, challenged to achieve your potential. We are counting on you to be responsible for yourself, contributing to others and the community. To that end, I encourage you to examine each of your actions to see if it is in your best interest and that of your new community.

Have a terrific year and stop in anytime I can be of help.

Karen R. Haskell, Ed.D.
Dean of Students

Dear RWU Entering Students:

On behalf of the faculty, staff and your student colleagues, I take this opportunity to welcome you to Roger Williams University. Please accept my congratulations on your acceptance to Roger Williams University and my sincere appreciation on your decision to become part of the family. I wish you every success as you make the transition to university life.

You are about to embark upon the most challenging journey of your life during which you will find your capacity to learn to be ever increasing. It will also be the most rewarding journey of your life if you take the time to become engaged in the curricular and extra-curricular activities available to you.

The experiences you have out of the classroom are as important in your education as are the experiences you have inside the classroom. Do not procrastinate. Graduation may seem to be a very distant goal, but I assure you that your years at Roger Williams University will pass quickly.

This letter also affords me the opportunity to announce that Roger Williams University has been selected as a "Top Tier" Northern Liberal Arts College in the latest university rankings published by U.S. News & World Report. This is very important third-party affirmation of the University's growing reputation for quality programs, strong faculty and excellent students.

Again, thank you for choosing Roger Williams University. I look forward to our next four or five years together.

Anthony J. Santoro
President
Money on Unicard saves the day

Kim Hilderbrandt
Staff Writer

It’s 11 p.m. You have class at 8 in the morning and you suddenly realize—you’re out of clean clothes! You run for the quarters. Diet! Only dimes and nickels! You start to panic, then you remember UNICARD!

Your stomach is growling so loudly that your roommate can’t study. You decide to order a pizza from the snack bar. Reaching for your wallet, you find nothing in it but lint! What to do? Then you remember UNICARD!

Student IDs, better known as unicards, have become an important tool for Roger Williams students. Not only is your unicard used for daily meals and snack machines, but you can now use it to do your laundry and not have to worry about having quarters. Actually, you may never need cash on campus if you use your unicard wisely.

It’s fast and convenient to put money on your card. Just take it to the Bursar’s Office in the Administration Building and put any amount of money you wish on your card. There is no minimum required. It usually takes a few hours for processing, but if you request that the money be put on it right away, the Bursar’s Office will make sure that is done. Just be sure to bring your card with you or they can’t accommodate your special request. Remember, too, that you cannot take money off it once you put it on your unicard.

So next time you have emergency laundry or pizza needs, remember your unicard—it’s your passport to RWU!

The snack bar for late night munchies

Student Life staff always there with helping hand
grade point average if they were unhappy with one of their courses. Kenneth Osborne, Assistant Dean for Experiential Learning and a graduate of RWU, fondly remembers his dilemma: "One of them was a former drug dealer and another one was an inmate on release." He goes on to say that his class was known to challenge the professors at this time because they had a yearning to learn.

There were no guarantees that this progressive way of teaching would work, and by the late 1980s changes had to be made as the times were changing too. No longer were students rolling in as they had when the doors had opened in 1969, and it was time to re-evaluate the school and its willingness to experiment. The economy was shifting with the times and according to faculty member and RWU graduate Phillip Szenher, "Departments and faculty decided we could not afford to be radical and experimental because we weren't bringing in the students. We had to offer more conventional education, training for jobs, careers, so we began to revise the early curriculum and approach to teaching."

As a result of such revisions the progress of Roger Williams can be attributed to economic and technological evolution. Within the last decade the school changed from college status to that of a university, received a 10-year accreditation by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, as well as established the Roger Williams University Ralph R. Papitto School of Law. In its progression, the university has acquired various buildings and in an effort to remain on this campus is this notion that the faculty is reserved scholars and experts in ivory towers. We are here as a teaching college, our primary mission is to educate and help students who believe in God's love. The Catholic Student Association is reestablishing itself at Roger Williams with more energy than ever and would like you to join us as we strive to find and practice our faith in college life. We believe that we can build our faith together by serving the community, attending inter-collegiate retreats, and taking time out to do stuff that's just plain fun.

"I need them and get the help I'm looking for." Part of the draw is a combination of some of the experimentalism and radicalism that students want and need. And by the late 1980s changes had to be made as the times were changing too. No longer were students rolling in as they had when the doors had opened in 1969, and it was time to re-evaluate the school and its willingness to experiment. The economy was shifting with the times and according to faculty member and RWU graduate Phillip Szenher, "Departments and faculty decided we could not afford to be radical and experimental because we weren't bringing in the students. We had to offer more conventional education, training for jobs, careers, so we began to revise the early curriculum and approach to teaching."

As a result of such revisions the progress of Roger Williams can be attributed to economic and technological evolution. Within the last decade the school changed from college status to that of a university, received a 10-year accreditation by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, as well as established the Roger Williams University Ralph R. Papitto School of Law. In its progression, the university has acquired various buildings and in an effort to remain on this campus is this notion that the faculty is reserved scholars and experts in ivory towers. We are here as a teaching college, our primary mission is to educate and help students who believe in God's love. The Catholic Student Association is reestablishing itself at Roger Williams with more energy than ever and would like you to join us as we strive to find and practice our faith in college life. We believe that we can build our faith together by serving the community, attending inter-collegiate retreats, and taking time out to do stuff that's just plain fun.

My name is Jeff LeMay, and James Meineke and I are co-presidents of the CSA. The CSA is affiliated with St. Mary's Church on Wood Street in Bristol and our masses and a great opportunity to do so; four students were confirmed last year.

We're not about making sure you go to church. In October, we will be holding several events connected to the high holidays of Chanukah, Holocaust Remembrance Day, Purim, and Passover. And, as always, we will be holding several Shabbat Dinners throughout the Fall and Spring semesters.

For further information or to become a member please contact Lauren or Suzy at ext. 5445.
You can prepare chicken burgers 101 different ways.

You know you’ve ordered delivery too often when the delivery person knows you by name.

You CAN survive without a car.

Letters are much better than e-mail.

You DO need to go to class.

Have a stuffed animal to sleep with.

It’s okay to cry and be homesick.

When it rains, it pours; take advantage of the sunshine.

Caffeine, more caffeine.

When something is wrong, talk about it—because if you don’t it will build up inside, you will explode and things will be worse than if you had originally talked about it.

The saying “Life is 10% what happens to you and 90% what you do with what happens to you” applies to college—you will love it if you get involved with something you enjoy.
Many programs offered in School of Engineering

DID YOU KNOW?

* The RWU School of Engineering offers the following programs-
  * Construction Management
  * Engineering
  * Environmental Engineering
  * Environmental Science

* School of Engineering graduates are in demand by the industry.

* School of Engineering graduates experience high job satisfaction.

* School of Engineering graduates enjoy high starting salaries and high lifetime compensation.

* You can major in another program and minor in a School of Engineering program. Think about what engineers do for your daily life—water and water treatment; electricity generation and distribution; heating and cooling; transportation, including the cars, trucks, bridges, roads and railroads; communications; buildings and all the infrastructure to support them; and just about everything else that affects your ability to function efficiently and comfortably.

The Wright Brothers flew their airplane at Kitty Hawk less than ninety years ago, and since then there has been an explosion in engineering capability. We have gone from marginal bicycles as the best form of transportation in the 1890's to sophisticated cars, aircraft, and space vehicles.

We have grown from a country confined to the east coast because of the lack of transportation west, to a global society with men on the moon and space vehicles on Mars. Computers did not exist, then the first ones filled a room; now you can carry them to class.

What will happen to engineering during your career? Do you want to be a part of it?

* If you are a freshman and you are undecided about your major, and
  * You are attracted to a profession that allows you to contribute to society

* You are attracted to a profession that experiences high job satisfaction

* You are attracted to an academic major that allows you to enter any of several professional fields

* You are attracted to a field with high ethical standards

CONSIDER ENGINEERING

There are openings in Engineering for both men and women.

Come to the Engineering Building to see the MINI-BAJA RACE CAR or COMPOSITE MATERIALS BRIDGE, built last year by Engineering seniors. When you do, come talk with us. Consider it an open invitation.

Dr. Igor Runge, Dean of Engineering - ext. 3314
Dr. Richard Mayo, Associate Dean - ext. 3498

RESPECT YOURSELF
AND WHILE YOU'RE AT IT... HOW ABOUT ME TOO?

BECAUSE YOU'RE WORTH IT.
AND SO AM I!

The Dean's Diversity Council works to encourage openness and appreciation for diversity on our campus and in the world. We celebrate our differences and our commonality as human beings. The Council membership includes Hillel, International Club, LGBT, Multicultural Student Union, and the Women's Center. If you would like to take action to make a difference, contact the Dean of Students at 254.3042.
Kelly A. Scafariello
Editor-in-Chief

This summer the Lilith Fair, a sold-out all female concert, toured the country, taking it by storm. For all those living under a rock the past two years, the Lilith Fair is a concert containing all female artists. The concert was conceived by Sarah McLachlan.

McLachlan, who finally got sick of seeing the pattern of male concerts, decided to do something about the status quo. She contacted other prominent female performers and the rest is a mystery, uh... I mean history. Actually, it was just the beginning of something great.

The concert was a fresh idea that reached those neglected loyal fans of female artists making the Lilith Fair a phenomenon. McLachlan teamed up with performers like Tracy Chapman, Shawn Colvin, Indigo Girls, Dar Williams, Paula Cole, Jewel, and Fiona Apple.

This year, the artists included Neneh Cherry, Sheryl Crow and Natalie Merchant. I had the opportunity to attend this year's Lilith Fair at the Meadows in Hartford, Connecticut. The concert felt like getting together with friends at a party. Some fans calmly sat on their blankets smoking cigarettes and eating bags of chips. Others danced crazily to the music.

With sold-out concerts, plenty of revenue from ticket sales and high praise from national magazines and newspapers, Sarah McLachlan's Lilith Fair continues to climb the ladder of success. Each year the Lilith Fair takes a step closer to becoming legendary.

Lilith Fair Rocks Country

McLachlan raises female artists to new level

Sheryl Crow and Natalie Merchant. What's that building way over on the other side of campus that looks like a spooky old barn? That building, known as the Barn, is the Performing Arts Center and houses the Roger Williams University Theatre Department.

Are you interested in theater? Do you love being part of a close-knit group of people who share a common interest? Then the Barn may be the place for you. RWU's Theatre Department produces a full season of shows from one-act, student-directed plays to contemporary drama to musicals to Shakespeare. Education is the number one goal of the department. When you walk into the Performing Arts Center, you are greeted by a friendly face and an aura of determination and fun. The unique performing space in the theater means a different set-up for each show and a different learning experience.

With a full season already scheduled, the Theatre Department is looking for people who have a passion for theater, enjoy learning and are ready for a good time. You don't have to be a theater major to participate and contribute. Auditions are quickly approaching for the first show of the season. They will take place September 10 immediately after the beginning of the year picnic. The picnic begins at 4:30 and auditions should begin around 6:30. Not interested in acting? There are plenty of other jobs which will be filled on September 10 as well so come on over, enjoy some food, pick up a script, and start off the year acting, designing or stage managing a show.

Stop by and discover for yourself that in that spooky old barn are people who will answer your questions and welcome you into a unique aspect of the RWU community, or call Nicole at ext. 6107 or Mary at ext. 3626 for further information.

Get Free Food and Get Involved

Come join the festivities at Roger Williams University's annual CLUB AND INTRAMURAL FAIR. Now's your chance to join any club or organization you like. You'll have a chance to speak with club members and find out more about each club.

You'll also get to participate in the TASTE OF BRISTOL food fest. Let us know who makes the best food in town. Best of all, it's FREE. All you need to bring is yourself.

Sponsored by The Department of Student Activities & The Student Senate

DATE: Wednesday, September 9TH
TIME: 8:00PM - 9:30PM
PLACE: Paolino Recreation Center

Auditions Open to Everyone

PERFORMING ARTS CENTER, "The Barn," has open auditions for plays running throughout the semester. Questions, contact The Barn at 3620.

Impassioned Embrace by John Pielmeier
Thursday September 10
The World Goes Round by Kander & Ebb
Monday & Tuesday September 14, 15
Twelfth Night by William Shakespeare
Monday & Tuesday September 14, 15

Theatre Corner

Nicole Pulaski
Staff Writer

What's that building way over on the other side of campus that looks like a spooky old barn? That building, known as the Barn, is the Performing Arts Center and houses the Roger Williams University Theatre Department.

Are you interested in theater? Do you love being part of a close-knit group of people who share a common interest? Then the Barn may be the place for you. RWU's Theatre Department produces a full season of shows from one-act, student-directed plays to contemporary drama to musicals to Shakespeare. Education is the number one goal of the department.

When you walk into the Performing Arts Center, you are greeted by a friendly face and an aura of determination and fun. The unique performing space in the theater means a different set-up for each show and a different learning experience.

With a full season already scheduled, the Theatre Department is looking for people who have a passion for theater, enjoy learning and are ready for a good time. You don't have to be a theater major to participate and contribute. Auditions are quickly approaching for the first show of the season. They will take place September 10 immediately after the beginning of the year picnic. The picnic begins at 4:30 and auditions should begin around 6:30. Not interested in acting? There are plenty of other jobs which will be filled on September 10 as well so come on over, enjoy some food, pick up a script, and start off the year acting, designing or stage managing a show.

Stop by and discover for yourself that in that spooky old barn are people who will answer your questions and welcome you into a unique aspect of the RWU community, or call Nicole at ext. 6107 or Mary at ext. 3626 for further information.

Academic Computer Center Welcomes Freshmen to Roger Williams University

Fall '98 Hours Of Operation
Monday-Thursday 8am-midnight
Friday-8am-4pm
Saturday-noon-6pm
Sunday-1pm-midnight

other satellite lab hours to be announced and posted

The staff at the ACC is here to help you with your computer needs. For more information call ex. 3258 or better yet stop by and speak with a Lab Consultant to discuss our services. We are located on the second floor of the Gabelli School of Business.

Good Luck!!!
Keep an eye out for in-depth coverage of fall sports starting with the first schoolwide issue September 24.

Sports Editor Richard Calebus will be looking for sports minded people to help cover the sports. If this interests you, contact Rich at extension 3229.

September home games

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>Women's Soccer</td>
<td>11 a.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>Women's Soccer</td>
<td>4 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>Women's Tennis</td>
<td>3:30 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12</td>
<td>Men's Soccer</td>
<td>1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19</td>
<td>Women's V-Ball</td>
<td>4 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>Men's Soccer</td>
<td>1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15</td>
<td>Women's Tennis</td>
<td>4 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>1 p.m.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Yankees are the best team in baseball history

Kelly A. Scalfariello
Editor-in-Chief

This is an Editorial. The views expressed in this article are my own.

In 1961 the New York Yankees had an outstanding team made up of players like Yogi Berra, Mickey Mantle and record holder of the most home runs in a season (61), Roger Maris.

So how can the 1998 Yankees be compared to and even surpass the '61 team that had such great success?

The 98' team is on the way to breaking the record for the most wins in a regular season. They need to win only 25 more games. Currently, they have 93 wins.

Let's face it, how can they lose? The team is not powered by just three or four standout players but rather the entire lineup.

The Yankee infield is sensational with Tino Martinez at first, Chuck Knobloch at second, 1997's rookie of the year Derek Jeter at shortstop and Scott Brosius at third base.

Examine their batting average. You will see that they are all hitting over .300. Martinez has over 100 RBIs batted in. Brosius has been the clutch hitter, striking with a home run at any time.

The outfield is not too shabby either. Left fielder, Chad Curtis is like a human net. Curtis catches anything hit at or around him. Centerfielder Bernie Williams is dangerous to the opposing team offensively as well as defensively. Of course rightfielder Paul O'Neill is a force with a batting average over .300.

The pitching is just as deadly with an all-star lineup including Andy Pettite, David Wells, Hideki Irabu, David Cone, The Duque Hernandez and Mariano Rivera.

Let's not forget the bench: Daryl Strawberry, Chili Davis and Tim Raines, who can get on base any time.

The team is stacked thanks to the arrogant yet intelligent team owner, George Steinbrenner. He knows what it takes to have a winning team. You need to acquire key players.

Unfortunately, teams like the Twins or the Royals who do not have a checkbook the size of George Steinbrenner's will never have the ability to win. With the lack of money and players they are unable to compete with a team as great as the Yankees.

Fortunately for Yankee fans, they will be able to watch a winning team ride all the way into the World Series.

This year will be a memorable for not only the fans but for the players. Along with the 1961 Yankees, this year's team will go down in the history books.

To: RWU Students
Date: Sept. 9 - 18 1998
From: The Campus Entertainment Network
Phone: For more info call 894-3248

WHILE YOU WERE OUT

Message: We planned some great Welcome Back Week Events

Wednesday, Sept. 9
11:25 Student Union
FREE
KICYCHAIN PHOTOS
Freos daytime programs
Saturday, Sept. 12
8:30 pm Dining Hall
FREE
CRAIG KARGES Mentalist
Special events committee
"CITY OF ANGELS"
Friday, Sept. 11
8pm Dining Hall
Films committee
TITANIC
9 pm student union
Films committee
Friday, Sept. 18
PEP Rally/BONFIRE/COMEDY
Look for details
Films committee
Theme weekend
Saturday, Sept. 19
"CITY OF ANGELS"
Films committee