Edwards Angell Palmer & Dodge LLP Takes On Two New Pro Bono Projects

In January, Edwards Angell Palmer & Dodge LLP stepped up to the plate again and took on two new PBC projects, The Derrick Cazard Foundation Project and the Immigrant Domestic Violence Project.

The Derrick Cazard Foundation was established to provide low income children with resources to participate in activities to enhance their development and promote positive community experiences. EAPD's Alison Reuter will provide the organization with legal counsel to assist in board selection and creation of a formal business plan.

The Immigrant Domestic Violence Project partners EAPD with the Catholic Social Services of Fall River and RWU law students. EAPD attorneys Matt Murphy and Erika Lindberg are representing immigrant victims of domestic violence in applying for legal status through U Visa applications and/or VAWA applications.

PBC Staff Present Workshop at ABA Equal Justice Conference on Identifying Unmet Need Through Community Organizations

On May 19, Eliza Vorenberg and Suzy Harrington-Steppen presented the Pro Bono Collaborative model and PBC techniques for identifying unmet legal need through community based organizations to over 40 conference attendees from all over the country. If you would like copies of the workshop materials, please...
RI Judiciary Launches New Website

Earlier this week, the RI Judiciary launched a fabulous new website: www.courts.ri.gov/default.aspx. The website includes a wonderful "Self Help" section with resources, frequently asked questions and guidance for self-represented litigants.

2011 PBC Annual Cocktail Party

This year's PBC Cocktail Party, held on May 12, was a huge success thanks to our 2011 Host Committee, event sponsors and attendees. Thank you for your continued support of the Pro Bono Collaborative.
