A professor worth notable admiration, respect, and recognition does not achieve such status through simply lecturing or mere physical presence within the classroom, but rather, his influence should be inferred in a different way. A good and memorable professor not only stimulates growing minds but also encourages acquired knowledge to emerge in a fashion that is creative, cognitive, and productive.

We feel Dr. El-Sayed M. Zaki is such an individual and duly worthy of our respect and admiration. Through his dedication, interest, and consistent efforts, both in and out of the classroom, our minds have experienced a wealth of growth, maturity, and understanding.

In thanks for his efforts, we the Senior Class gratefully dedicate this yearbook to Dr. El-Sayed Zaki, an individual and a professor well deserving of a place in both our hearts and minds.

There are many people at Roger Williams College that have helped all of us in one way or another, either scholastically or personally.

One person on this campus has helped all of us in many ways. When we had academic problems, he would always be there to see what he could do. When we had a personal problem, he would be there to listen, to act as a father image to all of us. He never put on any false airs about what he thought. He would always come right out and tell you if he thought you were stepping in the wrong direction.

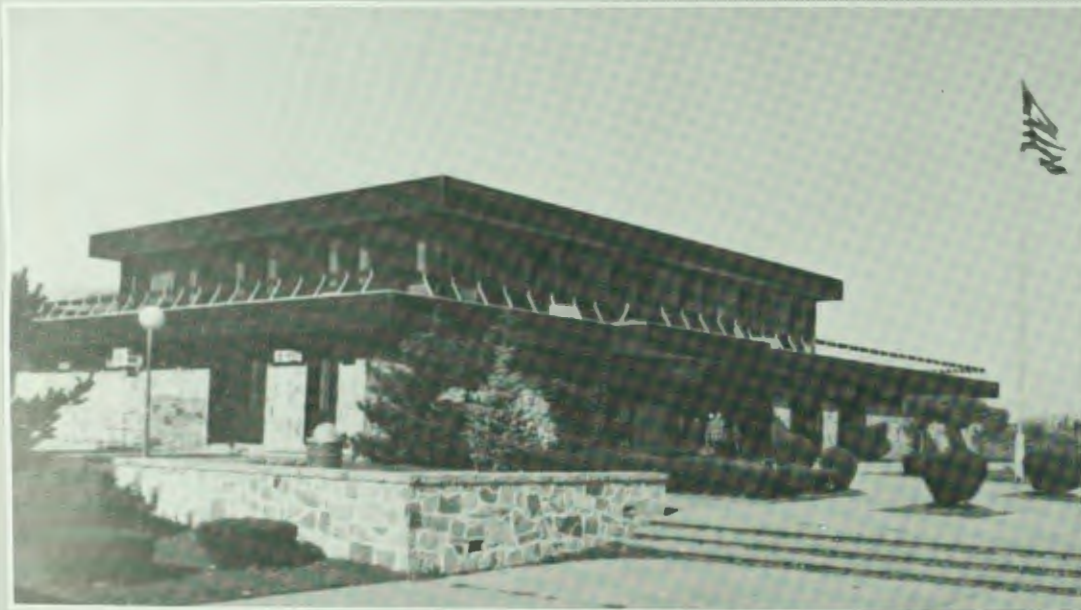

It is always nice to know that there is someone around who is there with a helping hand and open arms.

This person means more to us than just being the Head of Athletics or the Assistant Basketball Coach. He is a friend to all of us and that is the most important aspect of all.

So with these few words of thanks and praise and love, the Yearbook Staff of the Class of 1977 would like to dedicate this page to you, Hector Massa, to show our appreciation for all that you have done for each and everyone of us at Roger Williams College.

Office of the President

May 2, 1977

To the Graduates:

I am both envious of you and thankful for you. Your whole lives are ahead. There are probably many of us who wish that we could be starting off with you.

Yet we are indeed glad that you have been here with us because you influenced us as much as we had an impact on you and your future.

And so we are thankful for your presence here and for all the good things that happened while you were here.

You should continue to think of us as friends. Keep in touch as alumni as you pass through the continuing cycle of life's experiences.

Sincerely,

William H. Rizzini

Cross Country

The Roger Williams Cross Country team is coming along rather slowly but surely under the leadership of Mr. Robert Conway. The Harriers were 2-5 in dual and tri-meets and came in third in the Small College States Tournament and fourth in the "Pop" Crowell Invitational. The R.W.C. Harriers were led this year by a fine newcomer to the team, Greg Vaslet, a freshman and promising runner, and secondly by senior, Ben Hellmann, who has been a fine leader in this sport for his four years at R.W.C.

Soccer Team

The Roger Williams Soccer team started off with a boom this year with a record of 4-9-1. The team was led in scoring by Scott Boeshen and Eric Jay, and led by senior captain, Ron 'Bayonne' Kopacz. Bayonne has been a leader in team spirit for three years at R.W.C. and we're all going to miss him, as well as the team.

Under the coaching of Gil Costa and assistant coach, Jorge Perriera, the Hawks will be back for another fighting season next year.

He died on the morning of Monday, May 16 in Detroit, Colorado while visiting his mother. Dr. Fulton was the husband of Mary Howe DeWolf Fulton. He lived with his wife on Mount Hope Lane in Bristol. Dr. Fulton was born in Kankakee, Iowa. He was 78.

A long time friend of many, Dr. Fulton was a member of the Roger Williams Board of Trustees, elected on January 19, 1977. Since then, he was Chairman of the Honorary Degree Committee for three years, member of the Building Committee, Development Committee, and the Memorial Committee. It has been said that he had great influence in the college and that he made it a point to attend events of the college.

A Very Busy Man
After graduating from Brown University in 1920 with a Bachelor of Science Degree, he was employed as a Research Scientist. Dr. Fulton later went on to Oxford University for three years. He came back to the United States and attended Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore where he graduated in 1925 with an M.D.
For over 30 years he practiced medicine as an intern at St. Elizabeth's, from 1948 to 1965. Dr.

Fulton was Physician-in-Chief of the Department of Medicine at Rhode Island Hospital.
During World War II, he was a Colonel in the U.S. Army Medical Corps from 1942 to 1946. He was then Chief of Medical Services at Valley Forge Medical Hospital and Chief of Medical Services at Ashland General Hospital in White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. Dr. Fulton was the chief of the cardiovascular section of Walter Reed General Hospital in Washington and he received the Army's Legion of Merit in 1946.

Reportedly, when he was working in West Virginia, one of the patients was Dwight D. Eisenhower.
Before he retired from practicing medicine, Dr. Fulton belonged to the American College of Physicians. For three years, he was Chairman of the Board of Governors, Report of the College and Vice President.

Friends Remember
One of his many friends remembered him as being a very kind and generous man. He was a very busy man, but he always found time to attend events of the college.

Ferrycliffe Farm Revisited

Ed Fern: The following is reprinted from an article as it appeared in the March 1976 edition of the R.W.C. Alumni Newsletter. The article should like to thank the authors of the newsletter for the use of this invaluable collection of information.

With the Mount Hope Bridge being driven down, Roger Williams College has been given a new lease on life. A farm in a hamlet setting, one of the most beautiful in Rhode Island, its land is on a steep cliff that was once part of Ferrycliffe Farm overlooking Mount Hope Bay. The College had the fortunate opportunity to acquire six acres of Ferrycliffe's one hundred thirty acres in 1965 from Mr. Mary Howe DeWolf Fulton and Dr. Marshall N. Fulton. Although the Bristol Campus is much smaller than the College, whose beginnings can be traced as far back as 1919 in Providence, the new campus has a unique claim to its history.

Ferrycliffe Farm dates back to 1877 when the property was purchased and named by Mrs. Fulton's grandfather, Dr. Herbert Marshall Howe who was both a practicing physician and artist. Dr. Howe purchased the land from H. B. Bowen, his twenty thousand dollars.

Farm's heirlooms dating back to Dr. Howe's time illustrate his devotion to Ferrycliffe. An 1893 map marks the boundaries of the property and also shows a specific line of trees that were intended to attract the drive of the new home Dr. Howe had hoped to build. Although his new home was never built, these trees may still be seen south of the College pond among a newer growth of trees and undergrowth.

According to Dr. Howe's map, the original fields bordering Ferry Road were much broader in 1956 when Ferry Road was widened, the farm had added the property to the State to save the trees that once edged the western land. Now part of a median strip, these trees still shade Ferry Road and are part of a colorful seascape as one drives by the College approaching the Mount Hope Bridge in autumn.

As part of the road widening, the State moved back the original stone wall and the beaver stone posts still seem as one enters the College gate. Once removed, these handsome looking posts were only recently replaced with the lovely rustic symmetry that they carry now.

Metacom Avenue was to later cut across the Farm's best agricultural acre front field leaving an unusable portion west of the new road opposite the New Site. This section has since been sold to a developer while east of it and Metacom Avenue is the College's northern parking lot, also part of the original farm.

The New Site property and its history is linked to General Burnside whose summer residence once stood southeast of the Site.

Fragments of the house once belonging to the Union General Governor of Rhode Island, an United States Senator may still be visible about leaves and an orchard.
Using the College's main gate as an exit, one can cross Ferry Road, turn left, pace about one hundred feet, and still see an eye-height tree that led to the main house where the Howes resided over a period between 1855 and 1927. Fragments of the house known as the "Homestead" still remain, a rambling Victorian building that was of New England character that weathered shingles and a large porch which surrounded it on three sides. Light green grass covered it.

More recently, when the College had a Sunday Open House, he came to see the exhibit and to meet potential students. This visit was most typical of him. He was always interested and concerned. His role as a Board member was taken most conscientiously.
All of us will miss him.

FERRYCLIFFE FARM as it was in the early 1960's. The 60 acre farm dates back to 1877. It was a working farm where the usual chores were milking the cows, seasonal cutting and pitching of hay, bringing in of corn crops and the general care and harvest of the garden.

EDITORIAL

By GEE AERTSEN
Editor-in-Chief

I was honored to know Dr. Fulton, yet only for a brief four years. However, those four years were enhanced greatly by his friendship. When I came to Bristol and Roger Williams as a very confused freshman, it was the Fultons who put me at ease very quickly. At that time, I knew absolutely no one in the Rhode Island area very well, yet I felt at home as a result of this friendship.

Over the next few years, that friendship helped to remind me that this college does contain hope for the future because at the end of my sophomore year, I was planning on leaving Roger Williams over the political flap at the college at that time. It was Dr. Fulton who took me by his side in front of the old dorm and told me not to leave because everything would be all right. I took his advice and came back the following semester to find the college back in a troubled state with such worries as the losing of accreditation fading away.

His advice not only helped this student weather the occurrences on campus at that time, but other things as well. Over the next two years I was unfortunately out of contact with the Fultons because of my total involvement on campus yet I knew that they were there if I needed them.

I have learned many beautiful facts about Dr. Fulton in the past few days that I had never known before doing this story. I learned just how truly modest Dr. Fulton was. In talking with a few of his local friends, many were unable to tell me, completely, about Dr. Fulton because he had never fully revealed himself to them. Each friend had a somewhat different aspect of him to relate, yet when asked to elaborate on facts that I knew about, they often said, "I did not know that." However, there were impressions which they all had which were the same. Some of these were that Dr. Fulton was very personable, that he was a great leader and that he was a fine doctor. I am sure that there are much more.

Reality seems to dictate that there is never enough time for friends to fully and truly know each other. For Dr. Fulton, I wish I had known him better!

Spirit Will Remain

There is a prayer for the state of Rhode Island which begins "Praise be to Thee O God, for the little prism where man have seen the splendor of thy glory." It is a beautiful prayer and continued in paraphrase seems an appropriate way to express our gratitude, admiration and affection for Marshall Fulton. "In the life of a man who ventured to settle in the coastal town where a college was planted in open companionship and none are bereft; by the sparkling bay where spirit grows because nourished in compassion and truth and integrity."
Dr. Fulton loved Roger Williams College and served faithfully for many years as a trustee and committee chairman. He believed ardently in its future and in the contributions its graduates would bring to their own countries throughout the country. Those of us who knew him are fortunate and

A 'Renaissance Man'

By GEE AERTSEN
Editor-in-Chief

An article was distributed by the Board of Trustees of Roger Williams College in the May 1977 issue of the Quill. It was a tribute to the life of Dr. Marshall N. Fulton, a man who was a true Renaissance Man. He was a man of many talents and interests. He was a physician, a teacher, a leader, and a friend. He was a man who was always there for his students and his colleagues. He was a man who was always there for his friends and his family. He was a man who was always there for his country and his world.

DR. MARSHALL FULTON is joined by MRS. NUALA PELL and MR. PHIL ANDERSON in studying a student's model of a future Roger Williams building. This occurred earlier this year at a Trustee-Student Luncheon.

Not To Be Forgotten

Since Dr. Gauvey is out of town, and I know that he would want very much to contribute to your tribute to Dr. Fulton, I am taking the liberty of sharing with you part of a letter he has written to Mrs. Fulton. "It seems like only yesterday when I first talked with you and Marshall in his office in Providence and we discussed together our dreams for a unique and significant concept for higher education which could be built on Ferrycliffe farm. The two of you made this dream possible and thus it is that the passing of Marshall symbolizes to me the loss of one more strength which has helped in the origins and continuity of Roger Williams College."
"Fortunately there are many of us who will always remember Marshall's contribution to the building but in the growth and continuity of the college and I for one can assure you that this magnificent contribution will never be forgotten."
I too share the thoughts Dr. Gauvey has expressed.
Sincerely,
Mrs. Ralph E. Gauvey

Chairman of the Board

Ramsay does now. He has been managing Ferrycliffe since 1957, and likes to point out that the central section of the home will be one hundred years old in 1977. Mr. Ramsay also states that the farm gave up its operation in the late fifties with the last cow being sold in 1952.
"We had talked for a number of years as to just what would be the best use of this land," says Dr. Fulton.
The Fultons did not wish to see a housing development spoil the natural beauty of the Farm's landscape, yet the future for keeping Ferrycliffe as an operating farm was

Friend & Mentor

Marshall Fulton, our dear friend, mentor, and guide, has passed on. He was a man who was always there for his students and his colleagues. He was a man who was always there for his friends and his family. He was a man who was always there for his country and his world.

Dr. Fulton's work in the society and in Roger Williams College which he served as president and as a member of the Board of Trustees. He was a man who was always there for his students and his colleagues. He was a man who was always there for his friends and his family. He was a man who was always there for his country and his world.

A Tribute

Dr. Marshall Fulton embodied the spirit of the college. He was a man who was always there for his students and his colleagues. He was a man who was always there for his friends and his family. He was a man who was always there for his country and his world.
