ROGER WILLIAMS JR. COLLEGE

MARCH 1964

Elaine Elsbree, Miss Roger Williams 1963

MISS ROGER WILLIAMS

The Quill proudly announces that it will sponsor the "Miss Roger Williams" contest again this year, as it did last year. This has become an annual event to choose the girl at Roger Williams who most typically represents the modern American college beauty.

In an effort to promote healthy competitions of the school, The Quill has asked several organizations to sponsor and support a candidate in the contest. The winner of the contest will receive a beautiful trophy, along with a crown to be worn for the evening. She will be crowned by Miss Roger Williams of 1963, Miss Elaine Elsbree. The first two runners-up will also receive trophies compliments of The Quill.

The balloting will be held in April so there is plenty of time for the organizations to campaign for their candidate. The crowning of Miss Roger Williams will be held at the Coronation Ball to be held in April.

The Quill has put on display in the Bookstore the Trophies to be awarded in addition to the crown to be used in the coronation ceremonies.

ADLAI STEVENSON SPEAKS AT BROWN UNIVERSITY

A. Tetreault

"Americans make the Negro shine shoes for a living—then condemn him for his low position in society."

—George Bernard Shaw

On January 28, a large number of business and community leaders met at Brown University to discuss "The Economics of Equal Employment Opportunity."

From 10:00-10:30 a general session was held in Sayles Hall. Barnaby C. Keeney, President of Brown University, presided; Rabbi William G. Braude, of the Temple Beth El delivered the invocation; and Mayor Reynolds and Governor Chafee gave brief welcoming speeches.

From 10:45-12:15, four panel sessions were held: Community Relations, Matching Skills with Opportunities, Education and Training, and Economic Growth through Equal Employment Opportunity.

At 12:30, in the Sharpe Refectory, The Most Reverend Russell J. McVinney, D.D., Bishop of Providence, delivered an Invocation after which a buffet luncheon was served.

At 1:30, Mr. Keeney rose and introduced Senator Pastore who, in turn, introduced Mr. Stevenson. Our delegate to the United Nations began by saying that President Johnson had chosen him as his representative (before Dallas, the then Vice-President had been scheduled to speak) because he "was good at speaking on matters about which he knew nothing." In dismissing the guests after Mr. Stevenson's speech Mr. Keeney commented that Mr. Stevenson's knowledge of the questions being discussed "is obviously greater than his modesty permits him to admit, and what he does know actually is—which is more than can be said for the 'knowledge' of many people who speak on Civil Rights Issues."

In his speech, Mr. Stevenson stated that "Your efforts (to provide equal job opportunity) will have the full support of the Administration which will utilize every power at its command to protect and extend the constitutional rights of every American." He remarked that his "greatest difficulty" in his daily tasks at the United Nations is the answering to "the wonder and disillusionment of our friends who cannot understand how a nation conceived in liberty can keep some of its citizens in life-long bondage while everlastingly preaching social justice to others." He presented very convincing arguments against racial prejudice—arguments to which his eloquence gave even greater power than their truth alone could give. At the close of his speech, he summarized:

Put simply, discrimination is bad business. It is also expensive business costing Americans each year more than our total budget for the exploration of outer space.

But to explore the inner space of Man's heart and mind costs nothing!

If we do, if we search out the bias that still lurks in too many hearts and minds, the practical results will have greater meaning for us as a people and as a nation than reaching the moon.

Mr. Stevenson was enthusiastically applauded. Undoubtedly this was due in great part to the fact that he was Mr. Stevenson—but it also indicated that his message had been well received.

The reception of Mr. Stevenson's speech, the obvious concern for the Negro, shown by the business and community leaders, and the calm, quiet, yet adamant demeanor of the Civil Rights leaders constitute another hopeful sign that in the not too distant future America will truly be "The Land of the Free," and that someday "We Shall Overcome!"

EDITORIAL

Mike Agresti, a student here at Roger Williams, deserves a lot of credit for the initiative and leadership he displayed in organizing a baseball team. He organized the players, found a faculty advisor, recruited a coach, got the best prices on the best equipment, and presented a proposed balance sheet along with his ideas to the Student Council.

Mike's work and subsequent accomplishment showed that it hasn't necessarily been a lack of interest on the part of the students that has been the problem with our sports program, but rather a lack of leadership.

This newspaper has in the past held the position that the Student Council as the elected leaders and representatives of the student body has the responsibility to the students to supply this leadership. It is the opinion of this newspaper that they should be the prime movers behind these activities. So far, there has been no tangible evidence put forth that the sports committee has done anything to further the sports program of the school.

One solution this newspaper would like to offer is to increase the student activities fee. This is not an entirely new concept, as this fee was increased from $4 to $5 in the Fall of 1962 so as to be able to allot $2 per student per semester to the Athletic fund. Even a small increase would provide a substantial amount. This might possibly amount to enough to permit the school to hire an athletic director. It would be the sold job of the director to initiate and follow through on a sports program, both varsity and inter-maural. This would still keep the fee well under what is charged by other schools.

This is the time to act. With a new campus all but a reality, steps should be taken now to assure the type of leadership that a campus college is so in need of.

Norm Champagne, Class President, 1964

NORMAN CHAMPAGNE ELECTED PRESIDENT

Norm Champagne, a management student, was elected president of the senior class.

Norman, a veteran of three years service in the Marine Corps, including 18 months in Korea, resides with his wife and two children in Newport, R. I.

He was selected by Mr. Murgo earlier this year to attend the Business Symposium at the Sheraton-Biltmore.

Norman is currently employed as Bench Foreman at the Newport Provision Co. He is very active in the YMCA youth programs, and Church social activities.

Norman attended Rogers High School in Newport, and plans to continue his studies at the University of Rhode Island.

As president, Norman will be chief class representative in the alumni association. He is in charge of the class in planning and executing the functions of Senior Week. He will also represent the class during the Homecoming and be a speaker at the commencement exercises.

KAPPA PHI TO ELECT A QUEEN

On January 22, 1964, Kappa Phi Fraternity held their Spring semester elections. The results are as follows: Don Clements — President, Charlie Rogers — Vice President, Bob Hemmerle — Treasurer and Jim Fecteau — Secretary.

Attending the Kappa Phi January Dance, which was held at the Lambskin Club, Warwick, were more than 150 people. Mr. Wall, the Fraternity advisor, was presented with an honorary brotherhood certificate. Mrs. Wall was called upon to draw the winning ticket for the tape-recorder raffle. The winner, Tony DiFilippo, is a student attending R. I. Radio and Electronics School. Also during the dance, Terry Sheridan, Secretary of the Kappa Phi Alumni Association, addressed the group about the progress of the Fraternity since the founding in 1959.

Events in the future include a March Dance, which will be held at the Lambskin Club on March 7. The Dance will be for couples only, and all tickets will be sold at the door.

At the last meeting of the Fraternity, three Roger Williams co-eds were nominated to be the Queen of Kappa Phi. The nominees are: Monica Jannitto, Jo-Ann

PROFILE ON EDUCATORS

Mr. Herbert Fine joined the college staff in September, 1963, to teach accounting and economics. He is married and now resides in Cranston.

Mr. Fine is a native of Rhode Island, having been born right here in Providence. He attended Classical High School and U.R.I., where he studied in Business Administration and majored in Accounting. He became certified as an accountant in 1963. After graduating from U.R.I. in 1958, Mr. Fine served in the U.S. Army. While in the Army, his job involved traveling throughout New England auditing Post Exchanges and branch exchanges on the New England Nike Sites. He is still active in the Army Reserves with the rank of First Lieutenant.

After his release from the Army, Mr. Fine worked as a Public Accountant. Prior to his coming to Roger Williams, he was Comptroller at Flowerized Presentations, a national firm involved in the manufacture of artificial Christmas trees and artificial flowers.

When asked about his particular interests, Mr. Fine mentioned that he enjoys bowling and plays golf whenever he has the chance for some relaxation. He is a member of the Rhode Island Society of Certified Public Accountants, and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

When asked why he left business for teaching, Mr. Fine answered that he had been an instructor in the Army Reserves on inactive duty and decided that the Academic life looked interesting and challenging. He felt also that there was a need for more teachers in his particular field. He added that he had entered the accounting field because he felt that it would be interesting and varied work and he had found that he had an aptitude for math and problem solving.

In relation to his teaching at Roger Williams, Mr. Fine believes that the student should receive a practical application of accounting principles rather than a strict theoretical view, especially at the junior college level because many students do not have the opportunity to go on for further study. A practical approach to accounting enables the student to go out and use what he has learned if he finds it impossible to continue his education.

Pugliese and Jane Lyons. The voting for the Queen will take place at the next meeting of the Fraternity. The new Queen will be announced at the Kappa Phi Queen Dance which will be held on March 28 at Johnson's Hummocks. Since this plans to be the most lavish event of the year, Kappa Phi looks forward to seeing you there.

BOOKS IN THE LIBRARY

The fires of Moscow have long since chilled; the cannon of Waterloo are silent and rusted, but the poetry and the history, the dreams and the reality of the Age of Napoleon live on. The 1960's will probably not be named the Age of Kennedy, the 1940's will not likely be named the Age of Churchill, nor will the 1860's be the Age of Lincoln, but the decades surrounding 1800 have been universally acclaimed as the Age of Napoleon. What is it about this man and this age that has captured the imagination of succeeding generations? This question is answered in J. Christopher Herold's The Age of Napoleon, as the fires burn, the cannon boom, and the regimental banners wave once more in a brilliant study of not only Napoleon, but the times that sired him. Herold's stirring narrative is enhanced by 350 illustrations that help to recreate the drama and the excitement of a fascinating era. This pageant's list of characters is an uncommonly noble one: Wellington, Czar Alexander I, Murat, Robespierre, Danton, Bernadotte, Jefferson, Goethe, Nelson, Goya, Beethoven, and, of course, Napoleon himself. The latter is subjected to an unusually objective analysis by the author whose conclusions will surely interest any student of history, whether it be social, political, or military.

The Horizon Book of Napoleon is but one of numerous new and interesting books in our library. Theodore Draper has written a modern history of the Communist party in America, entitled, The Roots of American Communism which may be the definitive study in this field to date. Draper begins with the party's founding in 1919 and traces its development to the present, illuminating the individuals and "the shifting policies that guided it."

For contrast, some readers might enjoy Joseph Campbell's second volume of his The Mask of God Series, entitled Oriental Mythology. Campbell's comprehensive work on man's myths is absorbing, if sometimes perplexing. This particular volume taps the rich sources of oriental literature.

A book that everyone should read but that too few will is Durward Allen's passionate plea for a more potent conservation policy, Our Wildlife Legacy. After a clear explanation of the problem, Dr. Allen outlines a sane program of wildlife management. Since our nation may have a population of over 300 million by the year 2000, we cannot afford to remain ignorant of this acute problem.

Less important to the general reader but of keen interest to literary historians and anyone who might enjoy the poetry of the Seventeenth century poet, John Dryden, is the latest in the Twentieth Century Views series, Dryden.

LITERARY CONTEST

Have you been writing poems furtively in your room late at night? Have you been secretly studying and copying the Hemingway style? Well, The Quill proudly announces an outlet for the creativity of all you Neo-Frosts and Neo-Hemingways. There will be a creative writing contest sponsored by The Quill, beginning immediately, with a ten dollar prize to be awarded to the author of the winning entry. All students at Roger Williams Junior College are eligible to participate and are urged to do so. Any original and unpublished poem, short story, or essay will be considered as a valid entry. However, short stories and essays must be limited to five hundred words in length and poems to fifty lines since the winning entry will be published in next month's Quill. Judging will be done by the faculty advisor and the editorial staff of The Quill. Entries may be submitted to Miss Jean Samson, Mr. Frank Nagle, or Mr. Dennis Martin. The deadline for the submission of work will be announced on the bulletin boards. Good luck and good writing!

GO TO EUROPE THIS SUMMER

The only requirement you need to spend the summer working in Europe is the desire to see Europe. The American Student Information Service with headquarters in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg will place you in a job of your choice, obtain all of the necessary documents and even provide you with a travel grant.

In a move to fill more jobs and spark additional interest in the ASIS program, ASIS is offering travel grants to all registered students and teachers.

Interested students may obtain the ASIS 24-page prospectus which contains complete descriptions of all jobs and job and travel grant applications by writing directly to Dept. V. ASIS, 22 Ave. de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg. Enclose $1 to cover the cost of airmail postage, overseas handling and shipping fees.

A book that considers the morals of Dryden's Restoration England and those of nearly every other important Western society and period is Crane Brinton's, A History of Western Morals. Man has always been concerned with morals and as the publisher remarks, "he has practiced virtue and longed for vice." Dr. Brinton arrives at some poignant and, possibly, controversial conclusions concerning religion, sex, crime, and progress in the saga of Western Man in this very interesting study.

All of the above books and many other new and equally interesting ones may be found in the College Library. Come in and visit us soon.

DAY STUDENT COUNCIL NEWS

There were three new student council members elected at the Feb. 21 student council meeting. The reason for this special election was the loss of three members from last semester's day division. The new members elected were Martha Percival, Arthur Small, and John King.

After voting for this election, the council then heard from Michael Agresti, a representative from the baseball team, who was seeking to have the council appropriate money for the team. Mike mentioned several favorable comments in presenting his case, such as already having a faculty advisor, the availability of a manager, an umpire, and the possibility of a playing field. After hearing his presentation, the student council voted to appropriate the necessary funds.

Also, the Student Council heard from Frank Nagle, editor of the Quill, who wished to have an additional appropriation for the school newspaper. Frank Viera, president of the council, lauded the Quill for the excellent work that had been done for the first semester. After hearing this commendation, the council voted for the appropriation.

As a final note, Frank Viera discussed the untidy condition of the student lounge. He said that severe disciplinary action will be taken against any student who is caught damaging the lounge.

THE NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club will sponsor a candidate for the Miss Roger Williams contest. The candidate will be chosen at our next meeting.

Members of the R.W.J.C. club attended a Communion Mass and Breakfast on Sunday, March 1, at the Cathedral of S.S. Peter and Paul. After mass, a breakfast was held in Cathedral Hall on Broad Street. The purpose of this Communion was to Commemorate National Newman Club Week, which is celebrated on every campus in the country. One hundred members from the Providence-Fall River region attended the mass in a body.

Members of our club were invited to a regional meeting held at U.R.I.'s Memorial Union on Feb. 23. We were also invited to attend a film showing at R.I.S.D. on Wed., Feb. 26.

Mr. Rizzini, our faculty advisor, informed us that he will present guest speakers at various monthly meetings. The R.W.J.C. club is seeking national recognition. This will come when our constitution is sent into the National headquarters in Washington, D.C.

We welcome new students to join our club and receive spiritual and social advice from our director Fr. Doyle. The R.W.J.C. club will host the Regional delegation on March 22, 1964.

The Electronics Club at work.

THE ELECTRONICS CLUB

The electronics club held its first meeting on March 5. Present at the meeting were Dave Saucier, Fred Nelson, Bob Earnst and Carl Walker. Eight other members, for various reasons, were absent.

Carl Walker, organizer and moderator of the club, talked about the aims of the club and the areas of electronics they will study.

The meeting was held in the Chemistry Lab, but all future meetings will be held in the Physics Lab on Pine St. The school donated the use of its equipment for use by the club, and Mr. Verrechia agreed to act as faculty advisor.

QUILL PLEA

The Quill is looking for students interested in journalism who intend to return to Roger Williams next semester.

A meeting will be held soon for all students who are interested in working on the newspaper this semester, and especially those who plan to return next year. Plan to attend if you are interested. Without student participation, there can be no newspaper.

R.W.J.C. POLITICS CLUB

The Roger Williams Junior College Politics Club started this semester with two meetings so far.

The main meeting was held Tuesday, March 3, 1964, under the direction of Mr. Lee L. Verstandig, faculty Advisor.

Mr. Verstandig said in an interview, "The purpose of the Club is to investigate, discuss, and evaluate politics at local, state and national levels. The organization hopes it will be able to better inform students of the awareness of politics as well as to contribute to more objective and mature potential voters."

The Club hopes to meet weekly, and, whenever possible, have outside speakers of various levels at least once a month.

Membership is now open for all students interested in learning more about the political systems of American Government.

THE DRAMATICS CLUB

The Dramatics Club prepares for April 11

Casting for the spring play took place at Mr. Rizzini's house Thursday, Feb. 27. The following were chosen for the parts: Millicent Collins, Irene Melone, Lorna Collins, Holly Hollstein; Pandora, Dale Murchison; Diana Wentworth, Jane Lyons; Mrs. Judith Wentworth, Ellen Corrigeux; Sidney Lanfield, Richard Perkins.

Rehearsals start Thursday, March 5, and will run right up until "Little Acorns" is presented, Saturday, April 11.

Students interested in helping behind the scenes are requested to contact Mr. Rizzini.

R.W.J.C. CHORUS

The second meeting of the R.W.J.C. Chorus was held in the auditorium on March 6. Officers elected were: President, Joseph Robertson; Secretary, Joanne Quigley. The Chorus nominated Frances Kokolski as Queen candidate for the Queen Dance.

Jim Washington accepted the job of Musical Director. Mr. Tiffany is the Faculty Advisor.

Other members of the group include: Robert Chatto, Roland Gustafson, George Hunt, Frances Kokolski, Maureen McNulty, Dale Murchison, John O'Garman, Richard Perkins, David Ramsey, and Meredith Thayer.

The Chorus is school supported and there are no dues.

EVENING STUDENT COUNCIL SPRING DINNER DANCE

The Spring Dinner Dance sponsored by the Roger Williams Jr. College evening student council will be held on Saturday, April 18, at 7 p.m. at the Admiral Inn, 490 Mendon Road, Cumberland, R. I., according to an announcement by the council president, Harry Templeton, and faculty advisor, Mr. Fabrizio.

This dance is the highlight of the spring undergraduate season. Those who have attended previous dances can vouch for the pleasant and convivial atmosphere of the whole affair. Tickets can be purchased at the bookstore at $7.50 per couple. Music will be provided by the old standby, Lou Grande, the master of want-to-get-up-and-dance music.

The council has, as always, some noble suggestions for the year as its contribution to the college. First, it is planning to offer two $100 scholarships to students who meet the qualifications set by the council. Secondly, it is planning to complete another project dear to the college future. This will be announced later.

At the dance numerous drawings for valuable prizes will be made. The most important of these will be a drawing for a General Electric 17" Portable Television Set with movable stand. If you are in the mood for a really pleasant evening (and who shouldn't be?), then plan to attend. You'll be glad you did.

Challenges and Problems of Youth

The urgent need for bold and concerned action on the problems and challenges of youth, now and not in an indefinite future, was stressed today, Feb. 28, by Senator Claiborn Pell (D-R.I.).

"We need not be concerned alone with the problems caused by youth, such as juvenile delinquency," he said in an address to the Senate. "Rather, we should direct our attention to the obstacles which youth confronts. Here are the basic problems, and we must make a massive assault to insure their removal."

In paying tribute to the Administration's concern with the young people of our country, he proposed the concept of a "Dialogue with Youth," so that the Nation's young can better make their own opinions known. "We need their help just as much as they, in turn, need ours," Senator Pell said.

As a politician he emphasized his "close association in the Senate with youth" through the intern program he has inaugurated. Approximately 175 young men and women have served in his office in this program, he said. "My purpose is to help stimulate their interest and participation in government and politics, regardless of party, and in public service."

ONE ACT PLAY

On April 11, 1964, a three act play entitled Little Acorns will be presented by the Dramatics Club of Roger Williams Junior College. In addition to Little Acorns, faculty advisor, Mr. Wm. Rizzini has also chosen a one-act play, Objective Case, written by Louis John Carlino, to be presented the same evening.

Unlike Little Acorns, which is being presented by the members of the Dramatics Club and with the direction of Mr. Rizzini, Objective Case is being produced solely as a student project. This means that all acting, costuming, organization, and direction will be done by the students of Roger Williams Junior College without the assistance of a faculty advisor.

Objective Case, by Louis John Carlino, made its debut at the White Barn Theatre, Westport, Connecticut, on July 23, 1961. It is a rather 'off beat' production requiring only four main characters. The main plot centers upon two characters entitled He and She, who happen to be employees of a particular department store. The time is the present, and the place is anywhere in the world. In order to differentiate from most college and secondary school productions, Little Acorns and Objective Case will be presented on a "theatre in the round" stage in the auditorium of the Y.M.C.A. Many people have criticized the theatre in the round compared to the conventional Proscenium Stage; however, the theatre in the round, which is similar to the stage at the Warwick Musical Theatre, appears to appeal to the creative minds of the viewing audience. It gives them a chance to concentrate on the main plot of the story, and to center their minds more on the acting, since all elaborate scenery and props will be void from the set.

A first organization meeting will take place during the week of March 10. All students interested in helping to produce Objective Case should contact Mr. Rizzini or Rosemary De Kold.

Phi Kappa pledges demonstrate "the bird."

Phi Kappa Sorority rolled into its second semester with a coterie of six new members. After surviving the ordeals of pledging, Rosemary DeKold, Ellen Corriveau, Lucille Mignella, Maureen McNulty, Joanne Quigley, and Frances Kokolski were installed.

The Fraternity-Sorority dance, held March 7, drew a large majority of students.

Lucille Mignella was selected as the sorority endorsed candidate for Miss Roger Williams. Lucille is in her second semester at Roger Williams, and hopes to continue here. She was entered in the Miss WICE contest, and won the Miss East Matunick Beach contest in 1961.

THE CANTERBURY CLUB

The Canterbury Club opened this semester with a splash!—Party, that is!

The members and guests had an enjoyable swim at the Y.M.C.A. Pool on February 15. They then had an informal gathering in the Young Adult Lounge.

Since the President, Allen Holden, transferred to R.I.C., James Washington has replaced him. Jim has many good ideas for programs and discussions and hopes that more students can find the time to attend the meetings of the club.

SENIOR CLASS NEWS

A high percentage of the 1964 Senior Class showed up for the first class meeting held on March 4. The meeting was called by Mr. Salvatore Piazza, advisor to the class, for the purpose of electing class officers.

Officers elected were Norman Champagne, president; Frank Viera, vice-president; Lee Kevorkian, secretary; Jean Samson, treasurer; and Charley Rodgers, student chairman of the graduating committee. Carl Walker was appointed chairman of the Alumni Homecoming Dinner and Ray Kelley was put in charge of arrangements for the senior prom.

Norm Champagne expressed his thanks to the group for their support and promised to perform faithfully as president. He called an executive committee meeting in order to get things rolling for Senior Week.

All seniors are urged to place their orders for their class ring as early as possible. Jean Samson has been selected as the company representative in the school. Jean has said that all orders should be placed by April 1 in order to insure delivery before graduation. Orders may be placed with Jean in the School Bookstore. A $10 deposit is required when the order is taken.

REGISTRATION

Registration at R.W.J.C. slightly declined for the second semester. However, according to Mrs. Brown, the recorder, the first semester total number of students was the highest ever enrolled at this institution. There are now 377 day students and 124 evening students registered for the second semester.

BASEBALL

On February 21, 1964, a baseball team was formally organized when the Student Council approved the necessary appropriation for the buying of equipment. Also, this team has the sanction of both the Student Council and the Administration. This is the first attempt at such a team; however, of the nineteen candidates who have signed up, most have had good experience.

The team was formed for three reasons: first of all, a firm basis for future teams is needed and with the available talent, a successful season is a good possibility; second, since baseball is an integral part of a sports program, it will be an aid in acquiring a campus; and finally, baseball will help in bringing recognition to the school which will make the school more desirable to future applicants.

Mr. Dennis Martin is the faculty advisor and moderator. He is very interested in making the team a success and will try to schedule games with such schools as P.C. and U.R.I. along with other fine teams.

In this baseball team, the student body can expect a good attempt at success and some well-played games.

For the benefit of those who would like to see some of the games, the practice field is Davis Park on Smith Street, and the probable game field will be Mt. Pleasant. A schedule will be posted along with results.

BASKETBALL

The basketball team finished this season in a blaze of glory by winning the last two games against Chamberlayne J.C. and Becker J.C. The final scores were; Chamberlayne 48 - R.W.J.C. 58; Becker 81 - R.W.J.C. 92. The Becker game went into an exciting overtime to give the Jolly Rogers a victory.

The team finished the season with a strong 5 wins to 16 losses. The team has a final total of 1525 points with an average of 72.6 points per game. The most points scored for the half were against R.I.S.D., played at Mt. Pleasant gym, with 60 points at the half. This game gave the Jolly Rogers their high game, also, by downing R.I.S.D. with a final score of 89 - 73.

The opponent teams scored 1808 points with a game average of 86.1 points. The greatest defense by R.W. was launched against Chamberlayne J.C. on Feb. 18, 1964 when the Jolly Rogers held C.J.C. at bay with 48 points. They had the high for defending at the half of the same game with 18 points to C.J.C.
