

“Where We Are”

Paige Swenson

Some of us choose not to see and they remain blind to the red, yellow, blue, and green but it's all right there in front of me, not just the Earth, but the world unforeseen Between tangerine and aquamarine
The orange of the sky and blue of the sea
It's true we all share this heavenly body
For such a species unclean
A planet God gave to humanity for free