President Speaks

In a recent interview, Dr. Ralph E. Gauvey, President of Roger Williams Jr. College, made known a few basic plans for a pending four-year curriculum at the Bristol campus. Utilizing a weatherman's percentile scale of possibility, Dr. Gauvey suggested an eighty percent chance of the program's implementation by nineteen sixty-four.

If all goes well students will be allowed to pursue further studies at the college, Columbus of the new campus. A number of majors in English, History, Mathematics, Social- Political studies, and Education probably in the senior division.

The factors determining a particular student's acceptance in the college curriculum, according to the President, are:

1. The expressed desirability of student and community for the program.

2. The availability of capable instructors and sufficient facilities necessary for a creditable program leading to the granting of the bachelor degree.

3. The acceptance of the bachelor degree by educational institutions and prospective employers.

Dr. Gauvey's formula for achieving baccalaureate status at Roger Williams hinges upon counseling: "Highly personalized counseling is vital to the success of an educational system. Here at Roger Williams classroom instruction and personal counseling services are counseling services are considered inseparable."

Before a student chooses a major course of studies for a bachelor's degree at the planned "Roger Williams College" he will have had the benefit of professional guidance presented on a highly personalized format.

New Look

On registration day returning students discovered a number of changes and improvements over last year's plans.

Students entering the Y.M.C.A. were greeted by a smart sign on the outside of the building which finally informed the public that Roger Williams is located inside.

Once inside the registration room, many students discovered for the first time that most classes would average fifty minutes, as opposed to one hour and twenty minutes last year.

Another surprise shook quite a few students who were unprepared to pay fifty-percent of the tuition, and who were forced to return home to get the difference. Although a few were inconvenienced, the majority, at the end of the semester will appreciate having had to pay half.

Another welcome surprise was the new furniture in the lounge and office in the Bristol Street building. The Quill also learned from Mr. Hallenbeck, Director of Planning and Development, that more new chairs and tables are on order but have been delayed because of the war in Viet Nam.

The classrooms at Pine Street have undergone a number of changes. Half of what used to be the large drafting class-room has been partitioned off and is now used as the main office in that building. One of the old offices is now a class-room, the others, the former biology laboratory office, now houses L.B.M. machines which the school is leasing.

The only change from last year which do not seem in the interest of the students are the prices in the store and in the prices of the coffee shop.

The heavy demand of the war, has delayed production of items which contain metal.

The Quill also learned from Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Davis, and Mr. Hallett, Jennette Frase, and Pete Taylor.

Jeffrey Felisman

Mr. Felisman completed his Bachelor's work at New York University and received his Master's degree from the University of Rhode Island. His course work is complete and his thesis is yet to be finished.

Mr. Felisman was familiar with Mr. Felisman because he taught history at the college, last year, at Roger Williams.

New Instructors

Ronald James Davis

Mr. Davis received his Bachelor's and Master's Degree from Depauw University in Indiana. He completed his B.S., degree in Biology at Purdue University.

Mr. Williams has been a teaching assistant at Purdue University during the past two years under the direction of Dr. Sam Postlethwaite.

Dr. Walter Hobbs, Jr.

Dr. Hobbs received a B.S., Degree and a M.A. Degree in Industrial Arts from Ohio State University. He received an Ed.D. Degree in Administration from Teacher's College, Columbia University and did Post-Doctoral work at New York University.

John R. O'Brien

Mr. O'Brien holds a bachelor's degree in Psychology and a master of education in counseling Psychology.

Dr. Hebert holds his B.A. degree from Assumption College, a B.A. degree from Assumption College, and a M.A. and Ph. D. degrees from Brown University.

Dr. Hebert has been on the faculty of Brown University, University of Colorado, University of Arizona and the University of Idaho.

Residents Campus

Due to the tremendous influx of out-of-state applications the admissions department for the first time is accommodating a total of 70 students in dormitories.

The school has made arrangements for 37 girls to board at the Y.M.C.A., and 22 students at the Crown Hotel.

Further accommodations have been provided at 30 Moore Street for 21 boys.

Former president of the Student Council, Richard Guldinment is proctor of all the boarders.

An interview concerning the students' adjustment to communal living was conducted. Our first stop was Moore Street where we cordially accepted. We learned there are 21 boys in this house; ten from New York, four from New Jersey, five from Pennsylvania, one from Massachusetts, four from New York, and four from various other places.

When discussing the value of an education, the terms itself deserves some qualification. Education denotes a learning process which in turn gives rise to student behavioral changes. Obviously, the desired end, or change in behavior determines the course of studies utilized. The individual goals and aspirations of the student are evaluated and superimposed on the most logical curriculum available.

The ideal situation above serves as a general norm for choosing appropriate subjects; however, the intrinsic weaknesses of the guideline become apparent upon closer inspection. Of primary concern to the student are the new and comprehensive insights to be gained from formalized education. The search for new experiences has led him to college. In a state of budding life goals and accept contemporary modes of education. The search for new experiences has led him to college. In a state of budding life goals and accept contemporary modes of education.

The conflict between expressed desires and a student's initial enthusiasm. Tedium colors scholastic requirements and a potentially capable student performs less ably than expected.

The causal factors of such a situation include unrealistic goals and "less than ideal" pre-college counseling. The primary inducement offered adolescents entering college is invariably of a financial nature; high paying jobs upon graduation. The developing awareness of the young student is positively stunted by this measure employed by a society unsure of its own intentions. The arts and humanities, evolved through Man's past dealings with his existence, are chided as useless extravagances. The student is pressed by his background to pay little heed to, or disregard completely, the thought and actions of humanity concerning life itself.

Contrasting concepts meet the Freshman immediately in the form of "required" liberal arts courses, a necessity of a narrow nature. Socially conditioned desires and concepts of education are redressed by enlightened administration. Realizing the dangers of narrow technical training, educators attempt to broaden the student's perspective with liberal curriculum; however, the task of convincing the student to involve himself seriously with the aesthetic studies is left to the winds. A crippling handicap is placed upon the underclassman so ill prepared to bear it and under achievement results.

Students at all levels of education must be prepared to accept views alien to their own in an objective manner. The value of a new concept too often becomes lost in a maze of preconceived absurdities learned unconsciously for the most part. Common sense has come to mean the subjective conjecture acquired from our own private dreams rather than knowledge based upon orderly empirical investigation. By channeling our mind and relatively attainable goal, engineering, business, and even many liberal arts majors, condemn themselves to bifurcated awareness.

and the math department.

Mr. Zimmni is responsible for the co-operative department which handles the technical engineering work study program. By integrating related subjects and by giving the co-

Ordinaries increasing responsibility, the end result is a more efficient chain of communication and consequently better achievement for the student.

College Spirit

In every college much is said from time to time about College Spirit, and in most cases with stress on the negative side. At Roger Williams this semester, college spirit seems to be high; the fraternities and the sororities are out in force seeking their pledges; the QUILl has added a number of recruits to its roster; a lively interest in being generated in the basketball schedule; new clubs are being formed... all in all these things speak well concerning how cramped we are for space.

Whether these are but flurries of interest in October that will disappear before this Christmas break, or before the year is over, remains to be seen. It is an easy matter to complain that things could be better. The question for every student to ask himself is What am I doing to enhance the activity where you can do your part. Think it over and be a contributor, so that 1966-67 will be the best year for cooperation and enthusiasm among the student body Roger Williams has ever had.

STUDENT POLL

Polls seem to be a big thing in this country today. Polls to tell you what time an event is, what time etc. So not to be different we have one.

We want to know how the students of this great institution feel about having a winter weekend.

The whole bit, a big name on Friday, neatly and bonfire Saturday, and a jam session Sunday. (There will be boxes in both buildings to deposit your ballots. Look for them and please let us know how you feel.

Dean Salatino Announces Appointments

Another innovation this year is the setting up of area coordinators in addition to the department heads. This procedure is designed to facilitate communications from students, to faculty, to the Dean.

In the past, for example, English, math, humanities, etc., were regarded as separate independent identities, each having a department head. The names and needs of each department were considered individually. Often the lack of communication from faculty to department heads to the Dean was not smooth and efficient as is now possible under the new system.

A new procedure integrates departments which have a common denominator. For example, all the social sciences (psychology, sociology, history, and political science) are grouped as one. Mr. Verstaden co-ordinates all these departments.

Mr. Richlin is in charge of humanities, English, philosophy.

Mr. Sherman co-ordinates the sciences, the engineering.

Sound Off

In my estimation, the faculty of Roger Williams Junior College is superb and the student body is outstanding. They are making excellent headway towards the universal circumstances.

...Chet Wel-Cranston

"There is great room for improvement in some of our faculty members."

...Feldman-Cranston

"I feel that the faculty of Roger Williams College has an excellent staff of learned people. This opinion is based on the fact that I have had thus far this year."

...Janet Pleasam-Cranston

"The faculty is all right; NOTHING EXCEPTIONAL."

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:

At this new student year, I was appalled at the mass confusion, line cutting, elbowing, trampling, and general confusion at registration. I had been warned in advance to arrive early; so I came at 7:45. There were already about twenty students ahead of me which I figured wasn't too bad. By 8:00 there were fifty students ahead of me.

May I suggest a humble solution to this problem, which on inquiring, I find has plagued every college since the school was founded.

The solution is simply that a volunteer (and there seemed to be an awful lot of "helpers" that day) station himself at the front door before the students arrive. When the exodus begins, the volunteer hands each student a numbered card, much the same way as is done in the meat department of a market.

If a student knew that he would not be admitted to the registrar's office until the number preceding his was called out, there would be no confusion, no line cutting, no elbowing and no simplification.

Engineering Club

New Club

The Engineering Club of Roger Williams Junior College is now receiving new members of the Engineering, Science, and Computer science, which is contrary to last year’s ernship of only Engineering

The first meeting of the Engineering Club was held on
Oct. 7, and tem-

ounced.

During the meeting, such topics as field trips and dances were discussed.

Those students interested in joining must contact either Irwin Gross or Bob Mato.

The next meeting of the Engineering Club will be held on Oct. 20, for the election of officers.

Business Club

Forming Now

The Business department of Roger Williams Jr. College is now in the process of forming an “Economics and Marketing Club.”

The group would most probably operate under the title of students to the Business structure. Plans include guest luncheons, the formation of business units, and field trips visits to businesses in the Rhode Island area.

Students interested in joining should contact either Mr. Fein-

Phil Alpha Epsilon

The Phil Alpha Epsilon
Club held its semi-formal dance
on September 22.

The main purpose of the dance was to get the students acquainted with the returning students and each other.

We also have new officers.

They are as follows:

PRESIDENT - Richard Gug-

VICE-PRESIDENT - E. Jay

TREASURER - Steve Albe-

SECRETARY - Ray Huening

The Phil Alpha Epsilon is a national fraternity for junior male students of good character and scholarship.

The chapter was founded in Providence, Rhode Island,
on September 12, 1948.

Activities are held to raise funds and to cultivate friendship with fellow students.

Since the beginning of the semester at Roger Williams,
Phil Alpha has kept itself busy with pledging and the planning and sponsoring of social functions.

On Friday, October 7, Phil
Alpha sponsored a New Year’s Party.

The ticket was held at the

VA Details New GI Bill

The nation's 1200 university and college newspapers, magazines and other publications have been asked to join the Veterans Administration in an all-out saturation campaign to encourage every veteran-student with all details of the GI Bill payment procedures of the education program.

The VA has asked the veteran going to school should be prepared to pay his expenses for at least two months.

Training

Correspondence Cost only.

Full-time training courses are 14 semester hours, or the equivalent.

Three-quarter time equals 10 to 12 semester hours.

Half-time is 7 to 9 semester hours.

One-quarter time or less is 4 to 6 semester hours.

One-eighth time or less is 3 to 8 semester hours.

A cooperative program is a full-time program, in the classroom and alternate training, with the training supplemental to the educational institutional portion.

Library Grows

A government grant of $5,000 has been given to Roger Williams for its library, as a result approximately 2,000 new books have been added. These new books deal mostly with economics, political science, railroad, and field work, research or other types of prescribed activity. Some of these books are based on the established charges for lessons completed and serviced by school, these allowances will be paid quarterly.

Complete work is not the interest of VA, Money or wages from such outside work is entirely the veteran-student's business.

Schools

The law requires that monthly certificates of attendance signed by veterans must be sent to the VA. The veteran has attended classes.

Necessarily these certificates can be sent only after a month's schooling has ended. On the 20th of the following month, VA mailing the payment checks.

Proper and prompt sending of these certificates will eliminate delays.

Travels Through New England

WALT! Please don't turn the page while reading me. I'm writing this just for you. I'd like to welcome you to my world. I have 11, 000 birds and I hope that you will enjoy what I have to say; join me in my travels for new and exciting experiences.

This week I have a guest by my side as we travel to Salem, New Hampshire, to tackle a sport which is relatively unheard of in New England.

Well, we were approaching Salem and what a beautiful sight it was. Ed, my guest, and I were pulling up to a stop sign and our eyes caught a glimpse of what we came for, Gliders.

There were those noiseless birds filling the airways with their sleek lines and slow-motion movements.

We just couldn't go fast enough to reach the Gliderport and find out what makes Gliding one of the fastest growing sports in New England, and to try our hand at it.

We were finally there, The Northeastern Gliderport, one hour and 10 minutes and 1 mile away from Providence and as you will bear, it's worth every minute of travel time.

Ed and I immediately went to the desk to inquire about the Muzzleloading demonstration ride, and before you could say parsley we were airborne.

The initial sensation was too fantastic to describe and I really don't think that one could find the words to express the thrill of the ride, of which we found ourselves speechless.

The take-off was a bit shaky like the Glider was towed to the desired altitude by an engine-powered plane; the higher the altitude the longer the ride. TEAM.

After the tow-plane drops in the stratosphere and before you probably be the beat dressed advisor. Any organization wishing to hold a function must secure a permit and your card will admit you to our airport.

This year let's get out there and find out what makes Gliding a sport which is exclusive use of Rolo Jewelry at Providence and as you will bear, it's worth every minute of travel time.

The day ended with Ed and myself spending a total of four hours at the Gliderport, riding Wonders as the Glider was towed to the drive and perfectly upright and facing the wind.

The season with an opportunity to tackle a sport which is relatively unheard of in New England.

The parking lot for at least two months will be payable by the owner of the vehicle. All vehicles will be towed away at the owner's expense.

Allowances must be in evidence on cars and must be picked up prior to October 31, 1966, coach of the Brown University Basketball Team.

Student Activities

All student organizations from last year that are functionally organized and will fill out a student organization form for 1966-67, This form must be filled out by Mr. Plazza's office.

Each organization has to have a faculty member to serve as an advisor. Any organization wishing to hold a function must receive approval from the Dean of Students according to the rules published in Mr. Plazza's office.

Welch Heads TAP For March Of Dimes

Chester J. Welch, 28, of 108 Narragansett Avenue, Providence, has been appointed TAP (Teen-Age Program) chairman for the March of Dimes for the state of Rhode Island, it was announced today.

In addition, TAP groups throughout Rhode Island and the nation are helping to stimulate the interest of teenagers toward health through the health professions, Health Care Careers pictures, and has been associated with the March of Dimes for the past seven years.

Chester and his volunteers fellow workers are currently occupied with decorating a March of Dimes float to be used in the Columbus Day Parade in Providence.

"Now pioneering in the first organized offensive against birth defects, after making the conquest of polio possible, we of the March of Dimes are very much interested in today's teenagers are the parents of tomorrow," Mr. O'Connor said. "The more they are interested in personal interest in the prevention of birth defects because nowadays more than one-third of our first born are born to girls in their teens."

"The National Foundation March of Dimes is providing young people with up-to-date scientific information that will help them have healthy babies. We also want to reassure these prospective parents about their possibilities and make sure that they are prepared for the hard day of graduated study when they become future parents."

"Activity Fee is spent for Your good. At most equitable elections to Student Council. Requisites leadership to the student Council."

MRS. ERNEST BELL, a student at Roger Williams, has exhibited her art at the R.I. Convention Center, Providence, in November.

WILLIAM MALA, a student at Roger Williams, will exhibit his art at the R.I. Convention Center, Providence, in November.

"Any Good" by George Bernard Shaw will open at the Rhode Island Civic Theater on October 11. It will run through the 29th of this month. The presentation will be the first time in the R.I. School of Design Theater and student tickets may be purchased at the Box Office.

Dr. Timothy Leary will appear at Harvard in December.

Art Unlimited, Cyker Galleries, and Toloff Gallery have opened their seasons here in Providence.

"The BEACHIES have now recently made public their real family name, it's Barnes, they felt that Wilson was a better stage name."

"Why Should You Vote?"

The Student Council had a budget of $16,000 last year! This money came from Your Student Activity Fee.

Are you interested in how and why this money is spent? If so, then You should vote, because this is the only opportunity you will ever have to voice Your opinion under the present system.

The present Student Council constitution does not allow You a voice in Your government! For this reason three independent candidates have formed the Progressive Party to be Your voice in the Student Council if elected. To win we need Your vote, but in return we pledge to represent YOU.

If elected we will see that the Constitution is rewritten and that the Student Council is given back to the Students. In this way You, the student is given a voice in Your government.

We also intend to have the Student Council promote more school functions at no cost to the students.

TAP committee wants you to see Your $20.00 Student Activity Fee is spent for Your good. At most other junior colleges attending students are admitted free of charge to such functions.

We would also strive for fairer and equitable elections in the Student Council.

Remember this is Your school and Your money and for this reason we ask You the Students to decide on the issues and return progressive leadership to the Student Council. Our campaign to the students by voting for RALPH WHEELER, S. TEXEIRA, and ROBERT MUNRO as the common students' representative to Student Council, Ralph Wheeler

DEAR FRED:

I have a problem. I am an 18 year old freshman who's very lonely and I don't understand it. My figure isn't bad [80,26,88] and I was first runner-up for the Queen of the Senior Prom back home. so how could one around here have asked me for a date?

Near Williams Park.
He ran off with my girl and a 6-pack of Bud. What should I do?

You're friends, but last night I think this whole column is a big farce.

I want to be Dean of students. How do I go about it?

My roommate and I were doing paper routes. What do you do when you have a question for your advisor by contacting the receptionist at Broad Street or Pine Street. The list of students and their advisors and the location of the advisors' offices will be posted on all of the student bulletin boards.

Make a note of the time and place of your appointment and make every effort to keep it.

Your advisor is there for your benefit so please take advantage of this opportunity to discuss your educational progress.

FASHION

The flair for this month is the mod look with a touch of military. High collars, and slinky buttons accent this look. Hats, vests and jacket are also popular.
