Follow RWU Law on Facebook

Posted by David Logan on 09/11/2009 at 12:00 AM

The School of Law is always striving to use technology to reach the broadest audience with news about our terrific faculty, staff, students, alums, and programs. In the last few years, our Admissions Office has used Facebook to communicate with our incoming class with much success.

Now the School of Law has launched a fan page on Facebook. Our fan page will channel all the latest developments at the School of Law directly into your newsfeed. When faculty members are quoted in the national media, a new blog is posted, or an exciting program is on tap, you will be among the first to know. If you are already on Facebook consider becoming a fan of Roger Williams University School of Law and spread the word to anyone you know who is considering an RWU Law education in the future.
