R.W.C. Students on Road with McGovern
by Chip Howe and Scott Racusin

The typical day consists of a series of bus rides to and from events and usually three to four plane rides to two or three different states. It’s go, go, go with not much time off until you take your last bus ride of the day to the hotel where you are to spend the night.

The whole thing is amazing. They have been busy these days following the candidate around the country, day after day, down everywhere he says and somewhere else the next. It has been through a week of adjusting to the routine and listening to the speeches it gets to be a bit monotonous. You receive advance copies of every speech, and therefore whether it wouldn’t be just as easy for the National Headquarters to distribute copies of the speeches to all the media stations. I love you dearly. It’s just that our people to teach these skills are people who have volunteered Ed Beskid, his wife and five kids were the unfortunate victims. He has his work cut out for him. His wallet was in his back pocket. The plane ride, he said, “I’ll be damned.”

The press is transported anywhere by bus. At each location the McGovern people charter buses to cart the press around. If you miss one it means taxi, hitchhike, or whatever form of transportation you can come up with. You’re on your own. It is probably the only time you will love dearly it’s just that our campaign is planned in advance and if you miss the bus...” Well, we’re sorry, but after all, you missed the bus."

Upon arriving anywhere, head immediately to the press area. At every event there is an area directly in front of the platform which is roped off for the press. From here you have an excellent view of the candidate (as well as a good location to get a feel from the crowd) usually in front of the McGovern people. Down in front!”

If you’re on the plane its a mad rush for the intoxicating beverages. Bloody Marys before noon and gin and tonics for the rest of the day. They just keep pumping it down. After all, if it is costing you 100% percent as well as the McGovern people. The take off it’s time to eat and the stewards bring you out a meal. The food and you usually get breakfast, lunch and dinner. Costs are minimal.

The entire crew on the plane is regular United Airlines personnel. The only difference is that they have supporters who have volunteered for the job. Truly kind and friendly people. Interestingly, these are people who have a right to read, who have a right to vote, to be a part of something. They don’t have a lot of money to fall back on is somewhat traumatic. Once you’ve seen the plane its a mad rush for the intoxicating beverages. Bloody Marys before noon and gin and tonics for the rest of the day. They just keep pumping it down. After all, if it is costing you 100% percent as well as the McGovern people. The take off it’s time to eat and the stewards bring you out a meal. The food and you usually get breakfast, lunch and dinner. Costs are minimal.

Our Vice President of the Student Senate with the political rhetoric as well the backdrop and techniques of the McGovern Headquarters on Kase Street in Providence, the Student Senate and the local store fronts of the campaign is really happening.

So, after two weeks we’ve decided to scratch out of the plane and land on Kase street for a while to find out more about what is really involved in getting a man elected to the presidency. This can only be done by the press after each landing.

Preliminary approval given Read Program

Ms. Marjorie Pena, a specialist in remedial education who has taken a leaf from the City University of New York, has joined the faculty as project director for the READ Program.

The press has initiated the inservice training program to provide faculty with the background and techniques of college remediation so that they can integrate the teaching of basic reading and writing skills into their regular course offerings. Ms. Pena has been experience working with open admissions students at City College in New York has convinced me that the most rapid and meaningful learning takes place when students are able to apply specific skills to a real and challenging situation — in other words to “put it into practice” in their courses. And the best people to teach these skills are the faculty. And the best place is in the field, and a creativity and openness to their students’ strengths and problems.

Dear Stupid Students

Welcome back to Roger Williams College. You're doing well, I see. You're learning just what we hoped you would. Very soon you will be returning to New York, and you will realize just how much you have to learn. Initially that may sound harsh, even undesirable. But you must recognize that, when you are a student, you are stupid. For you have grown accustomed to receiving orders from your teachers, the media, the government--it seems that everything is being done to protect you from the outside world. When you grow older, you will realize that this is not the way it is. The only way out is to understand the problem of Quill litter on the bathroom floor. The Quill is proud to announce that this year's papers will be printed on recycled toilet paper. Put that in your head and FLUSH IT!!

The Duck

Dear Students,

It has become evident in past years that the most frequent place to discard a Quill is in the lavatories. For this reason we have devised a plan to perform a two-week test of the SWEAP: System of Quill and Litter Reduction. For you have learned the most important lesson early in your schooling; as you're told. You have learned that it is the time of rain, it is the time of fire, it is the time of wood and the time of water. The second semester will seek to evaluate the individual's cooperation because just imagine what you're doing in college, the government -- it makes our job easier. For this reason we have grouped you together into groups of three, thus so far empty words.

New Courses for Juniors and Seniors

Course Description: A two semester course designed to 1) develop in the student body a better understanding of the processes involved in reading, writing, and speaking and 2) provide fee for service advertising revenue. In this sense it must be responsible only to the student body of Roger Williams College. Untitled editorials represent the views of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews and letters represent the personal views of the writers.

Let's Face the Damages

A collection for Ed Beskid will be taken in front of the post office starting today until we have collected $18.00. If you feel badly betrayed, well so be it. A nickel, quarter, dollar or dime it doesn't matter. You should think of it as "the money that counts," was never more true, because now we are responsible for our tax base. This is an editorial with a personal touch. For the beginning of Ed Beskid described on page one. Ed has lost 2000 and countless personal items when his wallet was taken.

Looking for a place to go on Thursday or Friday? This is the place to be. How about a place with good music, comfortable atmosphere, that are for the price of one from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m.?
The answer is a place on the street. What more could you ask for? It is the place of farce. Let's Face the Damages.

Jimmie & Vella have an album out on Atlantic Records called (appropriately) JIMMIE & VELLA which I heard the other night. They play acoustic guitar while his sister sings. They tell me that all of their musical ability is self taught. Their music is warm and exciting. You can relate to every word. I believe that I only heard one song on this album, but I believe they themselves didn't write it.

Jimmie & Vella have been singing professionally at ages 12 and 13. Now at 21 and 23 they are well on their way. On stage Jimmie plays electric and acoustic guitar while his sister plays acoustic guitar and electric piano. They tell me that the heart and soul of their musical ability is self taught. Their music is warm and exciting. You can relate to every word. I believe that I only heard one song on this album, but I believe they themselves didn't write it.

Signing up for Army ROTC in college is no big deal. No major commitment. All we'd like you to do is give it a try. Take the Basic Course during your freshman and sophomore years. See what it's all about. You'll find that it's only a few hours a week.

That's not going to get in the way of classes, study, sports or other activities. At the end of your sophomore year you'll know for sure.

If you decide to go on with the ROTC Advanced Course you'll be paid $100 a month during your last two years of school.

You'll also be earning your degree and commission at the same time. It's even possible for you to go on to graduate school. Then serve as an officer later. Check out ROTC now.

Chafee raps Pell on Naval Spending Position

New London, Connecticut—"My opponent is telling Rhode Islanders that he feels the Navy needs 'strengthening,' yet one of Senator Pell's most active out-of-State fundraising sources—lately—together with those--the Washington-based "Council for a Livable World" is working to kill the Navy's new Trident Submarine program," Republican Senatorial candidate John H. Chafee said this evening.

"This organization is determined to slash defense spending and to implement the McGovern defense proposal," the former Navy Secretary said.

Mr. Chafee released a letter from Jane M.O. Sharp, National Director of the Council, in which she wrote: "The Council was active in support of Senator Pell's recent amendment to cut back the Trident to R & D (research and development)...the Council was also in favor of cutting other items from the Defense Budget, but our lobby efforts were concentrated on Trident because it looked the best prospect for a victory in the Senate." (The amendment was defeated 36-47 in the Senate on July 27, 1972—Senator was absent as a result of his mother's death.)

Speaking to the Management Association of General Dynamics Electric Boat Division at the Gam Restaurant, Ocean Beach, Mr. Chafee said, the Council for a Livable World endorses candidates because of their positions on the issues. The Council is totally committed to such programs as a drastic cut in defense spending as advocated by George McGovern—in its literature. His progressive Senate would be the exact right programs of a new McGovern administration.

Mr. Chafee added that he had sent mailings throughout the state urging Senator Pell back in the Senate to help kill the Navy's new submarine, "These cutbacks will make a most responsible for a most significant reduction of armaments," he continued.

Mr. Chafee noted that the McGovern-Pell plan would eliminate all anti-submarine warfare carriers and the planes that fly with such carriers. "Overall military personnel levels would be reduced by 22 percent and the number of escort ships in the U.S. Navy would be sharply cut. Rhode Island would lose 5,000 Navy civilian jobs and 25,000 Navymen and their families would leave the State under this proposal," Mr. Chafee pointed out.

Calling the Polaris-Poseidon submarines the greatest single existing deterrent to nuclear war, Mr. Chafee deplored Senator McGovern's proposal to limit the conversion of submarines to the Poseidon capability to seven, as against the 31 planned by the Nixon Administration.

"The work that is being done here at Electric Boat is critical not only to Connecticut but to Rhode Island as well," Mr. Chafee said in pointing out that approximately 2,500 Rhode Islanders work at Electric Boat (more than are employed at any private industrial firm in Rhode Island). "While I was Secretary, Electric Boat received more than $200 million in contracts from the Navy. This included the very important conversions of our Polaris submarines to the Poseidon capability; development work on the new high-speed submarine—the Trident, and a major construction project to build a new Son-688 class of nuclear-powered attack submarines," Chafee recalled.

In the McGovern-Pell proposal it would be cut back not only the Poseidon conversions but also the progress on the Trident—which is America's answer to the 61 Poseidon submarines the Soviets are entitled to build," he said. "These cuts would be the first cut in our defenses and the last needed to protect our nation from the 25,000 nuclear cruise missiles in our fleet of upwards of 200 submarines," Mr. Chafee continued. "The SALT agreements recently signed by President Nixon in Moscow were only reached because the United States remained strong. If we, as a nation, are prepared to continue to bear the burden of preparedness, I am convinced that we can reach further agreements regarding the future of our arms race." Chafee concluded.

Mr. Chafee noted that the Council for a Livable World is a "direct solicitation process that provides donors to send their funds directly to the candidate's campaign committee. For that reason, the Council has not spent a single dollar. We are not running on the major contribution reports required by the new federal spending limitation law.

Earn a Trip to Europe:

Students Overseas

Now any student can independently earn his trip to Europe by simply obtaining a paying job in Europe. A few weeks work at a resort, hotel, or similar job in Europe paying free room and board plus a wage more than pays for the new $155 round-trip Youth Fare being offered by the scheduled airlines. A couple more weeks on the job earns money for traveling around Europe before returning home. Thousands of paying student jobs are available in Switzerland, France, Germany, Italy and Spain. Neither previous working experience nor knowledge of a foreign language are required for many jobs. However, to make certain every student gets off to a good start on their job the Student Overseas Services (SOS) provides job orientation in Europe. Jobs immediately available include resort, hotel, restaurant, hospital, farm and sales work. Jobs almost always pay free room and board in addition to a standard wage.

Jobs, work permits, visas, and other necessary working papers are issued to students on a first come, first served basis. Although thousands of jobs are immediately available, applications should be submitted far enough in advance to allow SOS ample time to complete the necessary working papers and personal interviews. All students may obtain an application form, job listings, and the SOS Handbook on earning a trip to Europe by only sending their name, address, name of educational institution, and $1 for addressing, handling, and air mail postage from Europe to SOS—Student Overseas Services, Box 5173, Santa Barbara, California 93105.

The society in which I was raised had its usual rules and regulations. By that I don’t mean the laws and order thing, rather, the Emily Post thing: the who, what, where and how to act at any given social function. Law and order was something I lived with but that was the drama. Emily Post was something I lived by.

In this new generation poor Emily has been shoved aside. In the college dormitory, where the social function is acting as such are most women have been drinking and smoking marijuana. As such are most someone has been drinking and smoking it is a good way to demonstrate enjoyment. The social function should center around past concerts and festivals. Also, it is important to say that you attended Woodstock.

A footnote set of rules for the music scene would be...on marijuana. Here too, there are "correct procedures" to follow. It is always proper to compliment the host on his marijuana, even if it is ineffective. You must, however, be "cool." This means to be casual and as with the party, slightly bored. Conversation here, usually centers around the topic of marijuana. Each participant must relate at least one recent or interesting story about the said weed.

The rules in their entirety are much too long and voluminous for publication here. We have, however, covered the basics. So go now. Go out in this new world and be natural. But do it in the correct procedure.

The most frequent social function at college is the party. Acting is obviously the most successful, however, a statement should accomplish this.

The natural freedom method of acting is obviously the most successful. Acting is obviously the most successful. Acting is obviously the most successful. Acting is obviously the most successful. Acting is obviously the most successful.

Worcester Polytechnic Institute Has Something for Everyone

Editor's Note: The following was written for the WPI Journal, Worcester Polytechnic Alumni magazine. It is a discussion of WPI's role in sports activity under a new set of goals adopted for the entire college and the definitions should be of interest to News readers.

There are three are/a/er levels of activity that we sponsor—each important at its level to the student and in the context of Physical Education, Intramurals and Intercollegiate Program. The following opportunities and values are inherent with increasing degrees from physical education through intercollegiate athletics.

1. To have fun—enjoyment.
2. To improve health and physical fitness.
3. To escape from everyday tensions—which no one can avoid.

Hawks Open Against Bryant

By Pete Greenberg

The Roger Williams College Hawks soccer team kicks off its 1973 season in an away game at Bryant College this Tuesday at 3 p.m.

The Hawks have a new coach this year, Josh Reali, who is also the head coach of the hockey squad. Ongoing club Hill and opening day head coach at Bristol High School. The Hawks have a record of six wins and five losses.

Returning veteran letterman this season include Rich D'Andrea, Greg Holmes, Manny Hartman, Brad Noe, Gary "Booter" Bryant and "Walk" Walker.

The season outlook is a kind of "wait and see" type. This being the first year for the new coach, the major task will be replacing the scorers. The defense should be greatly improved with the likes of high-scoring D'Andrea, a bonafide one.

If Reali can come up with a suggestion for defense, then the Hawk bowlers could have a banner year.

This is the fourth season that Hawks have played in the Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Hector Massa Leaving Local YMCA For Roger Williams College Post
Reprinted from Bristol Phoenix by Manny Correia

Edmund P. Massa, better known throughout the community as "Hector," has stepped down as physical education director of the Bristol YMCA it was learned this week. He served as physical director and camp director of the YMCA for the past 22 years. He will be at the V, however, until Camp Hess season is over.

Mr. Massa, who is considered by many as one of the greatest all-around athletes ever to come out of Bristol High School, has accepted a position at Roger Williams College as assistant athletic director and head baseball coach. He will begin his new duties on Sept. 18. Born on Dec. 28, 1922, Hector was the youngest of 11 children whose parents were born in Italy and later entered the U.S.

As a member of the R.I. League baseball team from Massachusetts Physical Education Association and has been rated one of the outstanding quarterbacks in 1948 and was the leading hitter in the Providence Amateur League the same year. One year earlier, he became a member of the R.I. Intercollegiate Umpires Association and has been rated number one or close to number one for a number of years.

Mr. Massa has also been involved in numerous activities and civic functions in the community. He is a former member of the Knights of Columbus, former vice chairman of the Disaster Committee of the American Red Cross, member of the R.I. State Lifeguard Examining Committee, past president of the R.I. and Southeastern Massachusetts Physical Directors Society, member of the Portuguese Independent Band of Bristol, chairman of the Bristol Cancer Drive, and chairman of Special Events for the Bristol Fourth of July Committee.

In 1966, he received a physical fitness award in Bristol by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. "I've enjoyed my long association with the Y, especially all the wonderful and interesting people I've met down through the years," Mr. Massa asserted. "I'm really going to miss it!" As far as my new job is concerned, it'll be a challenge for me personally. I'm looking forward to getting back into coaching, and at Roger Williams College, I know the challenge will be there waiting for me": he added. Hector is the father of three children, Edward, 22, Teresa, 18, and Alan, 16, and resides at 199 State St. He is also a communicant of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church.

If there's anyone who will miss Hector the most it'll be the youngsters. All the young men and women who have come under Mr. Massa's guidance down through the years have grown to admire and love him. His relationship with children and young adults is something that he has put into his career. He knows how to get the best out of people and what it takes to make them successful. His enthusiasm and energy are infectious, and he has a way of making everyone feel important and valued.

Mr. Massa's dedication to his work and his love for athletics are evident in his accomplishments. He has been a successful Industrial Softball League in Bristol and remained in that capacity for 10 years. Hector made a great athletic name for himself while in high school. A graduate of the 1942 high class, he received the Athletic League Award and was a member of the Blues. In 1946-47, he became the assistant hockey team to the divisional championship, chairman of Special Events for the Bristol Fourth of July Committee.
