The Griffin

ON THE ROAD

By CHIP BOWIE AND SCOTT

Amid eerie of a second Bethlehern late last week, one wise (?) man, a couple of raven-haired beauties, a taxi squad of third string sports writers and a hawk in a pear tree officially split from the Griffin to form their own version of a college newspaper... the Griffin.

The brains (?) behind the break away can be found in the head of former Quill sports editor, Pete (the eldritch) Greenberg.

Under constant questioning beneath a bright light the following fact about the motives, the turncoats and the format of the new paper were poured out of the Griffin's editor.

- Greenberg (the editor), as a child, liked to squeeze chickens.
- The staff of The Griffin likes to squeeze Greenberg.

The name "The Griffin" is the name of an ancient bird that had one wing.
- The three chickens on The Griffin all have one wing, between them.
- No word in The Griffin will be longer than five letters, most will be four.
- The pages of The Griffin will be perforated and fit most bathroom dispensers.
- A dirty rag, a squeee bag and wrenchen monkey go then each issue.

The past couple of weeks we have steered clear of our role as journalists and have attempted to get more intensely involved with the campaign.

We began working in Boston where we met up with some advance people. Our plan had been to spend some time with campaign advance person to get a picture of how the whole show is run. As it turned out we moved from Boston to New York actually doing advance work ourselves.

An advance person is one who organizes events which the candidate will attend. The advance person must research the situation and be able to brief the candidate on all aspects of his trip.

This means getting everything from the guest list to renting the buses, to coordinating with the Secret Service, to ordering a bedtime snack for the candidate, etc.

The trip has been very interesting, really because we spent much of the time traveling from place to another. We've seen so many good, honest and kind people that even if we don't learn much politics it has certainly been a very worthwhile human experience.

At this point we'd like to give a special thanks to Jean and Reid for their unfailing openness and willingness to help us explore the campaign.

Until next week we are faithfully yours.

ON THE ROAD
To the Editor:

You ask for freedom.

You ask for responsibility.

You ask for respect.

But why should YOU be given these things when other months, other dormitory residents, the dormitory floor lounge doesn’t reflect responsible citizens. It reeks of childish actions and of a total disregard for the property of others. The walls and floors of the corridors are a disgrace to Roger Williams College. The lack of pride which you show in your living quarters is incomprehensible to those of us who do care. This is YOUR College…This is YOUR dormitory…It’s time that your actions reflect the maturity with which you have been asked to be treated.

In Case of Bad Weather

By FRANK ZANNINI

When it becomes necessary to cancel classes due to inclement weather the College will give official notice over radio stations WEAN, WICE, WJAR, WPRO, WONG, WXTK and WHM as soon as possible in the morning. Usually this information is available by 6:30 a.m.

In order to insure that all work will be performed the supervisors will identify key personnel in each department and arrange for arrangements on their arrival on the college campus.

The cancellation of classes does not mean that employees do not have to report for work. On the other hand the College does not want to jeopardize the jobs of its employees, so it demands only that each employee make a reasonable attempt to report to work. If weather conditions improve during the day the employee is then required to report for work.

Out of the Body Experiences

Soul Traveling, a unique experience, it and of itself it is in the natural way and a very nug­ gery way to deal with the physical body. For you are apart from the physical world and all other Sheaths as your true self, soul.

There are many degrees or states of being outside the physical world, however, being in the astral, causal, mental or soul consciousness and there are also many degrees of being in these particular levels.

Most people have experiences with the phenomenon of astral travel refer to Article in last Quill. One of them knows he is having an out of the body experience, because there is a feeling of falling which is usually concerned with the individual being in a sleeping state and in some cases physically winding up on the bed.The bed and quite consciously awake. These experiences, if left voluntary and are enough to scare the wits out of anyone not knowable in the way of soul travel. Sometimes there is a pushing or wind sound that one will hear paired with the feeling of falling. In both ex­ periences you could lose a sense of control of their physical body when you are in bed. In such a case one usually has the sen­ sation of liberating or to move their physical body what-so-ever of it in any part.

There are a few examples that I think that many people may have experienced and did quite not know what it was that was happening to themselves. So you could not identify any of these symptoms while sleeping do not partake or not to any common happenings. These are the beginning stages of doing astral travel.

There are many more types and degrees of astral travel that in­ dividuals go through in out of the body experiences. They are also connected with the many degrees of the out of the body state.

There are those who have full consciousness and clarity of being outside of their physical bodies. And who are conscious of their physical bodies lying on the bed from a vantage point or viewpoint somewhere on the other side of the room.

These people are much more able to travel on, and through other planes, worlds, and universes to pick up the knowledge which is there and bring it to the physical. I do not wish to give the impression that getting out of the body only taken place in the sleep state or the state between sleep and being awake because this phenomena can happen while fully awake by intentionally practicing certain techniques.

The few examples that will be given are of the type of out of body travel here are taken from Paul Twitchell's book , Eckankar, the path of the soul traveler.

These particular cases that I have selected from Paul Twitchell's book, I provide the evidence that it does not matter who you are and your situation that you can pass on to be able to soul travel. A few of them are:

1. An open consciousness towards Soul Travel as taught in Eckankar, Life in the Past and Master and a willingness to learn. The traveler finds out what it is to learn in Eckankar, to set about disciplining one self to attain those goals.

2. Neilson Napoleon nor Alexander succeeded in the end for they used soul projection for a purpose unseveral of spiritual nature could not be accomplished. Everything, Alexander had an earth depth as movement and came to a halt like a jou­ rney imposed imprtmtment and a slow death.

These are a few cases of out of the body traveling but there are many more that are very interesting and as astounding as these two.

These people are much more able to soul travel.

The idea originated with Mr. Charles Jungwirth, who then did extensive research on the matter and spent a rather long time. Mr. Jungwirth then gave a special test to Mr. Robert Morse, an open consciousness towards Soul Travel as taught in Eckankar, Life in the Past and Master and a willingness to learn. The traveler finds out what it is to learn in Eckankar, to set about disciplining one self to attain those goals.

Research Center in Afro American Studies

By RHEET J. SONES

The Afro-American Studies Program at Brown University is in the process of organizing a research center and we need the help of students on your campus to help us develop our center. We would very much appreciate your help in making sure that the center is as good as possible in your pages for the next month or so.

The Afro-American Studies Program at Brown University needs your help in the construction of a research center. We need people to ask professors for bibliographies, check access lists at libraries, review periodical indexes, inventory the collection of the books, and do general work. None of it is very exciting but we have no money to pay you. You can be of service without leaving your dorm room but you must be willing to work as often as possible in your pages for the next month or so.

THIS BABY NEEDS HELP YOUR SILENCE IS KILLING HIM

Your Support of Bill HR-7122 Could Save These Helpless Creatures

During 1972 Harp Seal Hunt which took place on the Labrador Front off the coast of Canada, 100,000 baby seals met a violent and inhumane death. THAT WAS EVERY BABY SEAL BORN THERE THIS SPRING. Thus the hunt is not only an immoral atrocity but ecological madness.

The beautiful white baby harp seal is only a few days old — trusting, gentle, and almost immobile — when he is descended upon by the hunter and clubbed to death. Reporter David Wright — Daily Mirror (UK)—wrote "I saw one hunter club a baby seal 13 times before skinning it. I heard a "dead" Seal scream twice as the hunter plunged the skinning knife into it." It is not uncommon for a mother seal to be beaten off while her infant is skinned before her eyes and then crawl back to nuzzle the skinless carcass after the hunters depart. This is too high a price for an intelligent animal to pay for the delight humans receive from wearing their fur.

Brian Davies — Director of The International Fund for Animal Welfare, New Brunswick, Canada, has dedicated the past seven years of his life to opposing the seal hunt. Subjected to personal abuse from the sealing industry and the Canadian Government, he nevertheless, has succeeded in having rules introduced that make the hunt a little less cruel. But it still a senseless, bloody business and should be stopped altogether.

LAST APRIL, BILL HR-7122 WAS INTRODUCED TO CONGRESS BY CALIFORNIA REPRESENTATIVE JEROME WALDIE (DEM). THIS BILL BANS THE IMPORTATION OF HARP SEAL PRODUCTS TO THE UNITED STATES. Baby seals are killed for money. Passage of the bill will drastically reduce the profits to the sealing industry and could end the pathetic plight of the baby seals.

Won't you join Brian Davies in his brave fight against the baby seal slaughter? THE INTERNATIONAL FUND FOR ANIMAL WELFARE NEEDS YOUR CONTRIBUTIONS AND SIGNATURES IN SUPPORT OF BILL HR-7122. Please help by filling out the coupon and sending your donation to:
