The New Dormitory

As of December 1, Roger Williams College had opened another building — that of the dormitory. Some students living in the dormitory said they view their new home. They lived below, living conditions, food, transportation to be improved in Bristol and if they had any improvements?

Eliott Money

"From the Harvard-Brighton and was moved to Dan Long's house where I had to share a bed with somebody else. It was better, furnishings but very noisy. The food for breakfast is not bad, but the idea of paying for lunch is breaking me. One of the eight members are very narrow minded. The police department is like a bad dream. Activities are great but I wish the college was closer to our campus at 2 p.m. Also I don't need transportation because it takes a minute to walk to the 'Y'."

Robert Stitter

"I don't like living with girls, at times they're bitchy. If the workers instead of taking 20 coffee breaks would do some work the whole dorming might be completed. I don't think the people like us, except the shopkeepers who signed the Moratorium Peti- tion on Oct. 15. A lot of apathy, we need to pull together as students and there are only a few instructors who are the biggest part of the school."

Lisa DelAngelis

"From Griswold Hall, Barrington College. The living conditions are very good except there's not enough of it. I was housed at the Beautiful downtown Warren Min- or, Bristol is beautiful, but that's not very comforting. I think the food is good. I wish the college was closer to a bigger town. Provide bus service to Providence on week- ends." Marianne Schriner

"From the Warren Manor — Personally the living conditions are very good except there's not enough of it. I was housed at the beautiful downtown Warren Min- or, Bristol is beautiful, but that's not very comforting. I think the food is good. I wish the college was closer to a bigger town. EECOLOGY:

"Fix It In Your Mind"

A new national mobilization is now underway to engage students and faculty in understanding the pollution of our environment. On April 22, a teach-in is planned at colleges across the country. It is co-sponsored by a Democratic group (Gaidish Nelson) and a Republican Representative from California. A national office manned by college students, has been opened in Washington, which will aid in starting committees and participating colleges in or- ganizing at the local level. With the help of the students it is possible to help organize and carry out the planning for this day please contact Mr. Porter, in office 69, immedi- ately. He has information from both the Washington office and the planning group at Brown (where planning for elaborate happenings is already well-under- way). This program is meant to be a student-run program. Brie- fened as we are by a wealth of water resources in particular, it would be a crime if Roger Wil- liams College failed to participate in this program. The word that describes all this is 'ECCOLOGY'. Fix it in your mind, because it is rapidly becom- ing a fixture in our daily voca-

Admissions Committee:
Verstanding Breaks Tie With Deciding Vote

The Admissions committee, one of the seven committees ap- pointed by the Dean of Liberal Arts, Dr. Long to make recommen- 1.00 tations to him concerning all with one vote and administra­ tion, Dr. Long to make recom- mendations to him concerning all with one vote and administra- tors acting as consultants with seven faculty and seven students with according to its function. Miss Hathaway was received with emotional excitement and reaction as ex officio members (not adminis­ trators) and seven faculty all with one vote.

Discussion followed on both re- ports. Part of the committee feel- ing that this is a family commit­ tee and that the faculty will have to remain in control. The balance of the committee favored the nature of the committee. Adminis­ trators is an all college problem and representatives of the entire college should be allowed to sit on the committee.

The majority report was then amended to include the adminis­ tration as ex officio members (not voting). It was then put forth as a motion and was called to a vote. The motion was defeated four to four and the chair was called ADMISSIONS — Page 2

Opportunity For All Students

"If it is an opportunity for you, to enrich your Christmas season. On Thursday, December 10th, a group of approximately 30 emotionally disturbed and deprived children have been invited to our beautiful college. At 2 p.m. Mr. Bill Grandgeorge will put on a group of approximately 150 students to welcome these children to our campus at 2 p.m. Also I don't need transportation because it takes a minute to walk to the 'Y'."

Marc Hendler

"Although Christmas is good, it is hard to share it. I don't need transportation because it takes a minute to walk to the 'Y'."

Margaret Aiken

"Pretty good, there's not any- thing really wrong. The food isn't too bad but there should be more of a variety of vegetables. I think the school should provide some form of transportation. Bristol as a town is all right, as long as you have the college students driving through it. More functions to get people together at the college."

We need a committee of 30 students to welcome these children to our campus at 2 p.m. We need help in passing out refreshments at the party at 3 p.m. By doing such a small thing, you can help to make these children very happy.

Please come to a meeting, Mon- day, in Room 7 at 2:30. If you are unable to attend the meeting, but would like to help, please contact me at 421-9873.

Admissions

There has been a constant stream of peremptory remarks regarding the quality of students here at Roger Williams. This berating, while being most discouraging, is also most unnecessary. The deft finger of blame is of course directed toward the more or less "open-door" admissions policy. What well happens from here?

The President doesn't know for sure how this policy originated, but it must be changed. The Dean of the Boston Campus feels that inevitably we will have to become selective and there's more humane way than picking papers off a pile. The Dean of Students feels that it must be changed to improve the quality of students.

It is to be accepted that there is a direct relationship between the admissions policy and the purpose of the college, then we must be able to support any policy which does not change the purpose of this college.

Attentions Bench Warmers

Are you interested in sophisticated, fast paced entertainments well then, how about our HAWKS? Yes that's right fellow students, the HAWKS, Where else could you go to have a sensational date for free (just show your I.D. Card) and help to participate in giving our athletes the encouragement they need for having an enlightening evening also.

It is up to your College, your team, and more importantly YOU to make Roger Williams College Hawk games as successful as achieving what every great college in the nation has achieved, of obtaining an enthusiastic audience at its sports events. Roger Williams College is rapidly approaching the status of becoming Rhode Island's next great four year college. It's not that difficult to believe when you just come out once and view the performance and dedication displayed by the Hockey team or Basketball team either on the ice or on the court. There is no doubt in my mind that as with academics, sports is slowly becoming an ever increasing part of this College's success.

Learn to score with the HAWKS, it's a fact that I don't miss. Come out and be a bench warmer at any of the scheduled games this season, you'll be glad you did.

Why Vietnam?

Any reply made to critiques of the war in Vietnam by challenging their assertion that our president knows what is best for America is enough to make Mr. Johnson don't, but then he is no longer president.

If recent Gallup poll, seventy-four percent of the people believe that the President is not doing his job and Nixon's handling of the Vietnam situation. In his November 3rd State of the Union Address, the President can people cannot and should not be expected to understand the policies which involving the overthrow of peace and war unless they know the truth about that policies.

Unfortunately, Nixon has not yet told the American people what the policy is. Do we want South Vietnam? A Korean-like solution was printed on December 18. Now, as Christmas approaches there will be, The Quill, Volume 7, Number 5, published on the evening of November 24.

At the end of the tail, I hope I have not yet told you the American people what the policy is. Do we want South Vietnam? The New York Times raises these same questions, and concludes it is likely that the Vietnamese will withdraw but rather plans for the situation in South Vietnam and to have a controlling interest there, just as present in the United States. The intellectuals had not protested over Hitler, the President's comparable handling of Germany in the 1930's when the aggressive spirit of the intellectuals. The intellectuals had not protested over Hitler, they had not protested against the treatment of the Jews, they had not protested against terrorism, etc. Finally, when the intellectuals were gathered up, there was no one to protest on their behalf. Those who compose the Peace Movement are mainly students and teachers - those who are in the thick of the intellectual world. And if they did not protest, who did?

Lyndon Johnson could still be president. There would still be a possible Vietnam Peace Treaty. (Or, else by now, we might have exterminated all life there, paved it, and turned North Vietnam into an Asiatic Parking Lot.)

The President and Mr. Johnson are an unknown senator from Minnesota. Revolution might now mean 800,000 troops in Vietnam. To, this picture, is correct. The peaceful movement's accomplishments are many.

Crisis say draft resistance, protest, and civil disobedience, are wrong. I point to the results of the peace movement. Only in the success that the civil rights movement has had, using similar tactics. Does anyone think that in the us unattained their present status of non-participation without using similar tactics? Furthermore, the peace movement has been entirely non-violent in its approach.

Opponents of the peace movement object to their solutions to the Vietnam problem. For example, Mr. Nixon has no solutions either, but he does have the power to make them public. To critics, I say, maybe we cannot know what we are involved in, maybe we should recognize that other do, however. At least we are trying to bring forth constructively ideas to end the war, rather than operate a vacuum. The policy of the President is a mistake and the lives of American dead, one million Vietnamese casualties. All in vain. In Vietnam, the United States shows no signs of coming to an agreement on the Vietnam peace treaty.

We have to ask ourselves, what is the United States doing in Vietnam and to have a control interest there, just as present in the United States. The intellectuals had not protested over Hitler, they had not protested against the treatment of the Jews, they had not protested against terrorism, etc. Finally, when the intellectuals were gathered up, there was no one to protest on their behalf. Roger Williams does it Again!

Roger Williams College has done it again! Once again the brilliant minds in the administration have allowed one of the most capable members of our faculty to slip through their fingers. We are speaking of Mr. Lee L. Verstandig, a member of the Political Studies Dept., who is leaving the College. Mr. Verstandig to the Ivy Tower on the evening of November 24 in the parking lot of the Ann and Hope Cafe.

A large van called the "Police on Wheels" with two large, flashing, police - cruiser - type lights on top was parked directly in front of the college. A loud speaker on the truck was "calling forth considering men, women, and children to see what turned out to be gas, hollister, a variety of weapons and get this, nothing less than a hampster's cage, a room and a real electric chair!

The chair is an "exact duplicate" of the one used at My Lai and above it is a sign that reads "Highest Award for Crime." As the sign indicated, Mr. Verstandig was an actual photograph of a man being electrocuted with a text describing his "crime." A card was being printed in print what the voice on the loud speaker had to say. To expose this Christmas present, who happens to be so unfortunately as to be within hearing distance of the truck - the actual process by which a man is electrocuted.

What an anachronism that a story fraught with Christmas decorations would have this hideous display parked at the door of an institution proposed to build a world predicated on human love and compassion when "peace" officers." I hope that some man is being, as being, as being by the student body???

Candidates views

Paul Cardoza, Jr. Glass

A person who can come forward and lead in any situation and not lose his presence facilities are inadequate to situation. Also student placement after graduation all building with a lasting relationship with other colleges in the area.

Comment

With many two years experience and over the years I now cast my ballot for the election as Junior Class Representative.

Joe Canning

Leadership should be your full and undivided attention towards finding out different options requests by the students.

I feel this is the new job. I now cast my ballot for the student body to regulate any policy desired.

Wanted: Leadership Now!

I believe the constant postponement of the student council elections is unacceptable and absurd.

This has been happening because of an apparent lack of interest of students to run for offices to represent themselves. Preliminary elections will not eliminate ambiguity. Candidates were given ample time to apply. While the elections stay up in the air, the students are not being represented.

The President of our college, Dr. Gauvey, said that he did not know how the open-door policy of admissions originated. He stated that when he entered the college, it was still open for students to apply, but it must be done right.

Dr. Gauvey stated that Roger Williams College will open with a four-year institution, and that the administration will respond with modifications to the admissions policy. Also, there will be some further modifications this year at the latest. He also stated that there is a committee of the present and the Bristol campuses, that will continue to work on the college's philosophy of education, and that the college is rapidly growing.

Dean Long: Upon asking Dean Long of his feelings about the open-door policy, he said that he should be modified, because the college is not a policy that can serve our needs at this time. The students are constantly growing in numbers, in admissions, and soon it will come to the point when there will be more students applying to the college, and the campus will be overcrowded. There will be a point when the school will have to start saying no to the students applying. Dean Long hopes that the committee will soon be able to tell the students applying to the college, what it is required that they do.

The admission committee will give consideration to the qualifications required to enter the college.

Dr. Gauvey said that the admissions committee is sure to do this. It is in the best interest of this college, when he is applying.

The college must take the time to write such a paper, he feels. He is not interested in this college, when he is applying.

Prospective: Present Admissions Policy

In July of 1960 Mr. Paul Rochford began his career in education. He hopes to be a school administrator one day. He is currently serving as an assistant to the Dean of Admissions.

When an admission Director takes upon the responsibility of his position, he feels that he can live comfortably. Because he feels that he can live comfortably.

The policy of Mr. Rochford uses its present admission policy. It does not take any one in the future. He feels that he is not interested in the college of the present admission policy.

The policy as Mr. Rochford sees it does not open up a new campus in the future. It is as if you cannot open up a new campus if you do not have the necessary funds. It is as if you cannot open up a new campus if you do not have the necessary funds.

It is as if you cannot open up a new campus if you do not have the necessary funds. It is as if you cannot open up a new campus if you do not have the necessary funds.

The fundamental obligation of any college is to meet the demands of the students. It is as if you cannot open up a new campus if you do not have the necessary funds.

The college feels that in most cases, the admission director in fact, a Director of Rejection and not of admission. This is as if you cannot open up a new campus if you do not have the necessary funds.

One of the pressing needs is higher education in America today. It is as if you cannot open up a new campus if you do not have the necessary funds.

"One of the pressing needs is higher education in America today..." ...whether or not this particular college has the responsibility of meeting the role of this college is up to the Roger Williams Community to decide.

This is an unique position, it has provided the chance to receive a liberal education for those who would otherwise be prohibited that opportunity. We should continue our own policies, and not open up a new campus in the future.

Dr. Gauvey said that he did not think it would be possible to open up a new campus in the future. He feels that he is not interested in the college of the present admission policy.

The President of the college, Mr. Rochford then again gave a possible solution to the problem of many applicants. At present they are not the type of academic divisions in the college, they might have to develop different procedures for each type of student. These divisions depend on the type of student, each division would require. Transfer students also pose the problem of an application to be evaluated, with a careful plan of what the student has previously accomplished. This is as if you cannot open up a new campus if you do not have the necessary funds.

Man has to look at his environment, nature, the incoming passing feeling of together, and decide whether he wants to be judged by an impartial criteria of grades and board scores or grades. The system thus grades, a person. At these problems, Roger Williams feels that his division must be to provide the chance to receive a liberal education for those who would otherwise be prohibited that opportunity.

A personal evaluative assistance aimed to remove those deficiencies in background which hinder certain students from realizing their potential.

A look at education today will reveal the need for a personal contact with men. As a college we have to develop ourselves through new ideas, experimentation to give man a chance to be himself. Whether it be a black man, Indian, or Oriental.

We know that education is a close point to always provide what it is supposed to do. Preparation is lacking in the system the thus grades, college board are not an adequate measure of learning. A personal evaluative combination with interviews would reveal the person, his true self.

Roger Williams has set its purpose to develop a comprehensive program to incorporate all of the above points. Roger Williams then reversed itself to a point where it is not a standard you must meet and it is not a standard you must meet. It is not a standard you must meet.

In order to understand this education we must look at the problem of many applicants. At present they are not the type of academic divisions in the college, they might have to develop different procedures for each type of student. These divisions depend on the type of student, each division would require. Transfer students also pose the problem of an application to be evaluated, with a careful plan of what the student has previously accomplished. REPORT: CURRICULUM COMMITTEE

On Wednesday, December 10, 1969, the Curriculum Committee met to discuss the freshman course proposal. The proposal was voted on by Mr. Don and Mr. Henderson for "The creation of a creative writing course for the first semester with a major leading to a B.F.A. Degree."

As this proposal must be reviewed by the English area and the Humanities Division, it will be published just before it goes to the Faculty Assembly. The Curriculum Committee however did unanimously vote to recommend approval of this proposal to the Faculty Assembly.

The committee again voted unanimously to recommend approval of this proposal to the faculty assembly. The next issue was this proposal concerning interdisciplinary majors. The committee approves this proposal. The final vote to recommend approval of the proposal was unanimous.

The Business Club sponsored a Christmas party for the elderly in Thursday, December 11, 1969. The Club brought a little cheer of Christmas to the residents of Lyon Ann Nursing Home who would otherwise have just sat looking out the window while the younger and more healthful people enjoyed the holiday.

With almost twenty-five Business Club members on hand, including Santa, the Club shared their good spirits with those who were less fortunate. The Club presented the elderly with gifts, fruit, and joyful Christmas music.

New York Tech. Clobbers RWC, 98-76

Jerry Lattimore paced the Hawks with a game high of 20 points in an unassailable attack against underdog New York Tech. The Nets were grabbing the rebounds and putting the ball into the net for a score. Larry Lang also helped in the losing effort by adding 14 points and seven rebounds. Price also hit for one point. By the second half, the Hawks were 49 seconds remaining in the game. Forty-six seconds later, Coach Reall instructed his team to tighten up on defense and not to let up because they had not yet satisfied the Hawks' fourth net and his second goal. Their once cohesive offense and defense had become much better than the previous game, however. The Hawks began hitting a second half goal even in the field of play. Coach Reall's team was heading for victory over Hawheverup in New Hampshire on Wednesday. Now York had won two games with no defcts and also had a few season victories. One victory was over Kings Point College who in turn beat Brown University. On February 19, the Roger Williams basketball team will once again challenge the New Yorkers in Westbury, Long Island. It ought to be a game and a half. May I also add that the folks who help to support your team is a winning team. It is unfortunate that our cheerleaders could not attend the New York Tech game held at the old Coliseum for a victory if they did show at the away games. Your help is also needed and appreciated.

Nichols Edges Roger Williams, 3-2

Contrary to the posted score, the Hawks of Roger Williams College displayed a matplotlibous amount of talent in their victory over Nichols, Roger Williams. The team exhibited a much tighter defense, and efforts in valiant effort than in the previous two games. This was especially evident in the first period with the Hawks maintaining control of the puck and not allowing their opponent for most of the time. The opening half of the game was fast-paced, moving defense and body-checking team with quick accleratation at the start of the game. This resulted in the amount of goal efforts. They continued with their defensive play throughout the period with deficit of one net. The Hawks were not yet satisfied with their destruction of New Hampshire's loyalists. Within 14 seconds of the previous goal, Butch Loughery set himself up for a net tally with a pass from Ray Spiritid which accounted for the eighth and final goal. Coach Reall was satisfied with his team's overall performance and hoped that his team would learn from their mistakes.

John LaPietra, statistical recon­cile for the game. This was the first loss for the Hawks of Roger Williams in this game. Mr. LaPietra also noted the well-bal­anced scoring by each team.
