1-21-1970

The Quill -- January 21, 1970

Roger Williams University

Follow this and additional works at: http://docs.rwu.edu/the_quill
Part of the Education Commons

Recommended Citation
http://docs.rwu.edu/the_quill/123

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Publications at DOCS@RWU. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Quill by an authorized administrator of DOCS@RWU. For more information, please contact mwu@rwu.edu.
Admissions Hearings: Alternatives To Adm. Policy

Students wishing to be considered for admission to Roger Williams College must show evidence of their desire to pursue a college degree. Normally college applicants provide evidence to indicate that the prospective student is a well-rounded individual having the intellectual acumen or the commitment to academics which will enable him to become a valuable contributor to the college as well as a valued member of society. On the other hand, Roger Williams College encourages students to apply for admission who are eager to engage in the "rookie experiment" of the college. To help students and faculty with this admission are considered regardless of their background and previous academic record, these standards by which applicants are evaluated can be outlined as follows:

RAT'S should be employed as tools of evaluation only. The guidance people should see them after the student is admitted.

-Mr. Ellis

The "Open Door" policy is feasible only when we are able to accept everyone who wishes to enter. Since we are not able to do this, the problem is to decide to whom the door is closed.

We should not adopt a policy which closes the door as is done in "traditional" liberal arts colleges. Our value as a institution is not to be defined if we offer something (some opportunity) which other schools do not. We might, therefore, see ourselves as a "second chance" college where students who apply perform below "acceptable" levels in the past can find a place to develop. Many students whose academic problems have caused a lack of maturity and satisfactory grades and test scores, and letters of recommendation help the college boards must be given some kind of assistance. Personal interviews, the college and the university in view of the college's upgrading itself and simultaneously preserving its unique "second chance" opportunity.

- John M. F. O. Connelly

As a student at Roger Williams College I take pride in being con- cerned for the welfare of our college. As a student I feel that Roger Williams College is in reality two colleges in one, a Junior and a Division ADMISSIONS

Student Affairs Council Does Not Have Answers

The group of students organizing to discover just what exactly are the dynamics responsible for the resignation of several eminent faculty members and their first meeting on Wednesday, Janu- ary 7. Here they were advised to seek the answers they wanted through due process, a route which allows for final decision-making, and usually presents only that many new questions!

Due process led them first to an emergency meeting of the Student Affairs Council which was called on January 9. I don't think it's overly gracious to say that the commu- nity is proceeding to proceed to their assistance by every means that it can help. They also helped to the students to couch their arguments in language that the faculty could get responsive from those people who might have been there. That is, to take all questions away from the area of personal reasons, such as:

Did Dr. Herbert and Dean Long have at least one rather abrasive conversation? or, does Dr. Herbert feel that two faculty members aren't enough to adequately handle a philosophy area with approximately 25 majors, etc., etc., and move them to the next level of the "hockey" area, where it might be easy to lead to conduct investigations and produce factual evidence as op- posed to hearsay.

The result of all this was that the students council concluded that they would ask Dean Long, Dr. Cardill, Dr. Herbert and Mr. Vercoust to appear before the committee on Tuesday, January 13, 1970.

As a student at Roger Williams College I take pride in being con- cerned for the welfare of our college. As a student I feel that Roger Williams College is in reality two colleges in one, a Junior and a Division

Student Government: First Meeting — Election Results

Believe it or not, the first meet- ing of the Student Council, Gov- ernment members were held at no. 202. The meeting got under way at 3:30 p.m. and lasted until after 6:00. The agenda consisted of just one thing, elections. After a mo- tion to have members vote as of- ficers rather than the student body was passed, the elections proceeded. Elections are very interesting at this college. They resemble a popularity contest rather than an official election. Officers from president through treasurer were held amidst abstentions and confusions until only one office remained to be filled, parliamentarian. Unfortunately, no one was aware that there would be an office such as this offered. Nominations were held, votes cast, counted, mixed up, etc. Next a consensus vote was asked for and taken until last semester was elected.

Meanwhile, some members were still complaining that they had no idea this was an elected office. Some wanted to know the qual- ifications of the elected parlai­ mentarian. Others said this could not be done for the members didn't see who was at what position. That brought up the claim that it should have been done for no one really knew all the candidates. Still others were clamoring that a motion was was made to change the officers rather than the student body was passed, the elections proceeded. Elections are very interesting at this college. They resemble a popularity contest rather than an official election. Officers from president through treasurer were held amidst abstentions and confusions until only one office remained to be filled, parliamentarian. Unfortunately, no one was aware that there would be an office such as this offered. Nominations were held, votes cast, counted, mixed up, etc. Next a consensus vote was asked for and taken until last semester was elected.

Meanwhile, some members were still complaining that they had no idea this was an elected office. Some wanted to know the qual- ifications of the elected parlai­
mentarian. Others said this could not be done for the members didn't see who was at what position. That brought up the claim that it should have been done for no one really knew all the candidates. Still others were clamoring that a motion was was made to change the officers rather than the student body was passed, the elections proceeded. Elections are very interesting at this college. They resemble a popularity contest rather than an official election. Officers from president through treasurer were held amidst abstentions and confusions until only one office remained to be filled, parliamentarian. Unfortunately, no one was aware that there would be an office such as this offered. Nominations were held, votes cast, counted, mixed up, etc. Next a consensus vote was asked for and taken until last semester was elected.
The Quill, published weekly in Providence and Bristol, Tel. Providence 274-3369 ext. 45

The Exciting Administration. We feel we have obtained a great deal superior to any product ever produced in the paper's brief nine-year history. If the growth of the paper is so recognizable, then why must we work so hard and sacrifice our bodies to take in revenue in (The Quill)?

Letters to the Editor

The Quill experienced many growing pains along with some additional staff changes in its first members. We have now many talented people devoting their time and energy to provide you with the news you want. It's not the news you want, then come down and talk with us. It's our Providence and Bristol and creative ideas instead of criticizing about the lack of The Quill. Often the student innocently forgets to realize that we need everyone more than we are being paid for our valuable efforts. I'm only doing it for you.

The Roger Williams College fall semester is rapidly becoming history. During that glorious period, the Roger Williams College fall semester.

The exciting administration. We feel members ever, these individuals cannot possibly do the job of printing your rights. We are only doing it for I believe the student body of Roger Williams College. This castle divided and is in two different locations. Where Mr. Gauvey built himself a new and larger castle. I have not finished my bit of his glory.

In May of the year 1969 the evil peasant students went on rampage. They refused to tell the truth. They only told the part they wanted to say. They had enlisted the aid of the over-seers and thus formed a giant dragon who roamed the school burning out of anyone who happened to be in its path. One of the men who bravely fought the monster was one Dean Robert S. Long. But this man suffered defeat at the hands of the dragon. And on his dying lips."I don't know!" It was true for he didn't know, but this was a lie that he told to the monster. The people holding this monster called counsel and again re-form to go back and work in the fields. Meanwhile in the kingdom of New York, Mr. Gauvey caught wind of the uprising in his kingdom. He got his silver armor (which, as we all know, reptile-like serpents) he headed for his kingdom to slay the dragon. When he arrived he got on his white charger (another symbol of purity) and fell into the dragon's mouth. For a while it looked like the dragon would win; but in the nick of time Mr. Gauvey put on enough heat to control his environment. This is his story, as best I can tell it. So read on dear friend and shall you see the one question to ask: Why don't we see Mr. Gauvey in his old castle? Providence? Why, Mr. Gauvey return and once again see the joy in the faces of your students and hear them cheer you to your great triumph.

The Dragon Killer—Viewpoint

Gerry Aldrich, Louis Anderle, Alfred Arnaud, Elaine Bore, Larry Berk, Linda Boria, John Cane, Thomas Chave, Daniel Code, Louise Falm depth, Peter Greene, Brian Hall, Charles Hebert, Joanne Hebert, Robert Levy, Jack Mahoney, Douglas Mahoney, Ed Medell, Mike Smith, Peter Strnad, Robert Walters, John Wade, M.

A Step Backwards—Viewpoint

The Quill every time it comes out, and never finds answers to any of my questions. We are an unimportant paper won't give any thought to improving its quality and its access road it was once an easily funny play, and the characters ran through this performance, the play was so terrible precisely because his statement that the academic atmosphere of the college abandoned the smart. We inberg 1. Perhaps Mr. Gauvey was the on the stage, the editor wrote a on the stage. The rest of the college and community mailed a letter containing some of the most important letters. We all happened too quick to be blamed on that. Perhaps it was the editor's fault somewhere and I think that it should be settled before the play begins. This is why I attended the meeting scored the fact that the students were now alone. Verスタンジック, whose new position at Brown's was secure, decided that he would be unprofessional for him to appear at Co-op meeting. Heber, whom, all alone had asked not to be involved, but for whom there was the most legitimate price, felt that no "good" could come from his attendance. He was put on the spot to say, the play was a success.

Life or Lice

Roger Williams College is going to conduct an ecology teach-in in mid-April. The whole day will be devoted to the exploration and understanding of this subject. It is important to us because it is so important to us because it is in our control and our environment NOW we won't going to have a very long time to be sorry. Some people will be able to spend some time between now and April in preparing an exciting, informative scene which turns us to where on our planet is it? Is it in its death throes or is in a growing up change? The rest of the college and community will have something to do with this short dominant because they like life.

Good Luck

In Providence, Doctor Hebert

During the 1969-70 term you witnessed a token growth of The Quill under an entirely new administration. We feel we have obtained a great deal superior to any product ever produced in the paper's brief nine-year history. If the growth of the paper is so recognizable, then why must we work so hard and sacrifice our bodies to take in revenue in (The Quill)? We are only doing it for I believe the student body of Roger Williams College. This castle divided and is in two different locations. Where Mr. Gauvey built himself a new and larger castle. I have not finished my bit of his glory.

In May of the year 1969 the evil peasant students went on rampage. They refused to tell the truth. They only told the part they wanted to say. They had enlisted the aid of the over-seers and thus formed a giant dragon who roamed the school burning out of anyone who happened to be in its path. One of the men who bravely fought the monster was one Dean Robert S. Long. But this man suffered defeat at the hands of the dragon. And on his dying lips."I don't know!" It was true for he didn't know, but this was a lie that he told to the monster. The people holding this monster called counsel and again re-form to go back and work in the fields. Meanwhile in the kingdom of New York, Mr. Gauvey caught wind of the uprising in his kingdom. He got his silver armor (which, as we all know, reptile-like serpents) he headed for his kingdom to slay the dragon. When he arrived he got on his white charger (another symbol of purity) and fell into the dragon's mouth. For a while it looked like the dragon would win; but in the nick of time Mr. Gauvey put on enough heat to control his environment. This is his story, as best I can tell it. So read on dear friend and shall you see the one question to ask: Why don't we see Mr. Gauvey in his old castle? Providence? Why, Mr. Gauvey return and once again see the joy in the faces of your students and hear them cheer you to your great triumph.

The Dragon Killer—Viewpoint

Gerry Aldrich, Louis Anderle, Alfred Arnaud, Elaine Bore, Larry Berk, Linda Boria, John Cane, Thomas Chave, Daniel Code, Louise Falm depth, Peter Greene, Brian Hall, Charles Hebert, Joanne Hebert, Robert Levy, Jack Mahoney, Douglas Mahoney, Ed Medell, Mike Smith, Peter Strnad, Robert Walters, John Wade, M.

A Step Backwards—Viewpoint

The Quill every time it comes out, and never finds answers to any of my questions. We are an unimportant paper won't give any thought to improving its quality and its access road it was once an easily funny play, and the characters ran through this performance, the play was so terrible precisely because his statement that the academic atmosphere of the college abandoned the smart. We inberg 1. Perhaps Mr. Gauvey was the on the stage, the editor wrote a on the stage. The rest of the college and community mailed a letter containing some of the most important letters. We all happened too quick to be blamed on that. Perhaps it was the editor's fault somewhere and I think that it should be settled before the play begins. This is why I attended the meeting scored the fact that the students were now alone. Verスタンジック, whose new position at Brown's was secure, decided that he would be unprofessional for him to appear at Co-op meeting. Heber, whom, all alone had asked not to be involved, but for whom there was the most legitimate price, felt that no "good" could come from his attendance. He was put on the spot to say, the play was a success.

Life or Lice

Roger Williams College is going to conduct an ecology teach-in in mid-April. The whole day will be devoted to the exploration and understanding of this subject. It is important to us because it is so important to us because it is in our control and our environment NOW we won't going to have a very long time to be sorry. Some people will be able to spend some time between now and April in preparing an exciting, informative scene which turns us to where on our planet is it? Is it in its death throes or is in a growing up change? The rest of the college and community will have something to do with this short dominant because they like life.

Good Luck

In Providence, Doctor Hebert
Their Buy Back Policy

We are proud to announce our new buy back policy which will assure you of receiving higher prices for your books than you have ever been offered before. This policy, part of our service program, is another first for our store. Since it is our desire to offer you the best possible service, we have undertaken to start a used book program which will save you 25% on your purchases, and often up to 50% of the purchase price for books that you sell back.

The price we will pay for books is as follows:

Textbooks: These books are generally shipped to wholesale buyers at a price that is lower than the purchase price that we paid for them. Exceptions:
1. Books in very poor condition will be bought at slightly lower prices and sold for proportionately less.
2. When we have purchased a sufficient quantity to satisfy next term's demand, our buy back price will drop accordingly.
3. Books that are old editions or soon to become outdated are rarely marketable. For this reason, we always advise that you sell your books as quickly as possible.

Paperbacks: Due to the higher costs of handling and the doubtful market value of paperbacks and outlines, we will purchase these items at between 25-25% of the cover price. It should be noted that most other College Stores do not pay more than 10% for paperbacks.

Buy back hours will be in effect from January 21 and 22 in the book store.

We trust you will be pleased with the service.

The Book Store

The Book Shop

HOPE STREET

BRISTOL, R.I. 253-3718

Books of interest for the Occasional - Average or Intensive Reader

Prop. EDDY SOUZA

---

Faculty Recital Review

Kudos and congratulations to the Roger Williams Trio! The December 11 faculty recital featuring Maria Miyake, violin; Mary Spalding, flute; and Anthony Mole, piano certainly provided the finest closing note possible to Open House Weekend. The group began their performance with Joseph Haydn’s Trio Sonata in G Major. The four movement (Largo, Vivace, Adagio and Presto) 2.0 sonata combined the best of astringency and distinct well-spaced phrasing. The evenness of technique, particularly pianist Mole’s, raised the level of performance appropriately. He consistently “underplayed” the chordal passages, allowing both Miss Spalding and Miss Miyake to develop their European interpretations. Unlike many academic editions of Bach, this recital avoided the awkward dedication to convention which too often spells death for chamber music. Certainly the Finale statement and development was one of the best examples of trio co-coordination and pleasing this reviewer has encountered in several months.

Telemann’s Richte in A Minor for flute and piano followed the Bach sonatas and proved a delightful showpiece for the flute virtuosity of Mary Spalding. The opening Air l’Histoire de la Reine was a rhythmically simple theme in the piano to be developed by the flute. Miss Requie combined the Baroque embellishments and demanding chromatic progressions with a candor that not only charmed her audience but did justice to a compositional style too often faulted for its ostinato nature as well. The short Minuet movement likewise proved the ensemble’s opportunity to present the value of differentiation and balance in orchestral solo work over a chordal bass accompaniment. In the final Haydn sonata movement both pianist Mele and Miss Miyake staged a delightful tour de force of harmonic passages developed in the accompaniment as well as the solo line. The Schubert A Minor Sonata for violin and piano (Allegro Molto, Andante e Allegro Vivace) provided a change of pace. The tempo of the piano statement was followed by a fine Romantic development by violinist Maria Miyake, a performer whose technique combines the best of academic tradition with a restrained passion that cannot fail to impress. In the parcellated-structured Andante, pianist and violinist alike proved their ability to interpret Romantic composers. The repetitive structure of Allegro Vivace opened with a violin statement well played by both performers. The closing movement must have thrilled everyone who enjoyed the sheer flow of technique in certain Romantic compositions. A temporary composition, Paul Creston’s Facultas for Flute, Violin and Piano (Shirynage and Bur­ licks) brought the first Roger Will­ liams Faculty Recital to an end on a cumbatively dissonant note. Creston’s work is clever if not always sound structurally; it provided an excellent showcase for the talents of all three recitalists, however. Daniel Mele’s dovetailing rhapsodic opening showed a keen awareness of sensitive shading. His overmodulation of key combinations merely intensified the aura created in the accompaniment. The resulting recital was an excellent one. Miss Miyake and Miss Spalding adequate­ quate opportunity to prove their virtuosity, if any still doubted it. The violinist’s assured double-stop playing was never less than shown by the best of against antifeminine sen­ simal in the recital audience!

There were no outstanding sup­ halt. There cannot exist enough perative to describe this review­ er’s reaction to the final faculty recital; it was excellent; moreover, it was indicative of what we can look forward to. American and her educational sys­ tem are slowly learning to cope gracefully with femininity as well as excellence. If we must choose one, let us choose the former. And the open-end question? To the president and his board of trustees: We want more! College experience must not only open eyes, it must open ears as well.
Sports "Ins and Outs" by Peter Greenberg

With all the current dialogue concerning this new year of 1975, RWC cannot help but stand back for a moment to gaze into its future. How will RWC cope and grow? and new memories must be created. In this new decade, we must be confident that RWC will emerge as such an organized complex equipped with the most advanced athletic facilities. Presumably, when RWC becomes accredited as four year institution, it will be eligible for National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics league participation. It is inevitable, therefore, that in the late 1970's we will have need for our own hockey rink.

Hopefully, Club Football will join the realm of RWC sports on one way or another. Yet, each student who has pride in himself and his college is a part of a growing heritage which can change our lasting reality. The future is what you make of it. Let us no longer live in the past, but let us move on to a brighter tomorrow!

Football Club Raffle

The football club of Roger Williams College is planning a Valentine Raffle of a color TV, a snow blower, and a tape player. At the last meeting, the club accepted the above items and also approved various committee. Sal Spinagl is the President of the club, Michael Higgins is the Treasurer, and Patrick Fenzino, Jr. is the Vice President.

During the next semester, RWC will be registered as a member of the National Club Football Association, and will be getting a list of possible schedules for next year's season. Bob Mattsson will be organizing the meetings of the club. Some of the procedures from the sale of bumper stickers can be attributed to a donation from Hope High school, the club now has 40 football helmets.

Student Government (Continued from Page 1)

meeting did eventually get re-cessed and upon return of the members nominations were heard. I might add that they had a little confusion and debate here and there. Should candidates for all offices be heard and voted on, or should elections be held by office. Qualifications were heard by each candidate within a specified three minute limit. Then we finally elected the same president again before completing the voting. I would like to see the voting at the last meeting get about the same 10-15% as to whom was elected. I'm sure that if the office of president was already decided on then I don't know what is in charge. As Neil walked dozens of questions and nominations for V.P. took place. No more was needed and the meeting was then recessed.

We had some kind of a conflict where there folos, but wait, Secretary was next and nominations for V.P. were heard and elected to the office of a vice-president. Then some one had to go and open his mouth as though there are always one in the crowd. Why, regardless of how many were nominated for V.P. there were the right number who got the right to hear the qualifications of each candidate? After this was done, which was pretty hard, waiting to get the nomination for V.P. wasn't there, and everyone knew the V.P. candidate would be elected anyway, nominations for treasurer types folks, that's right took place. Would you believe they were run without complications? Parliamentarian nomenclature were now called for, received, qualifications stated, voted on, and there you have it.

I can't continue. I left for a quiet evening with my head-ache. After that. After the meeting some members stayed to talk about the basketball video tape of the meeting, was taken and would be replayed later. I must say, from what I did see, it was a pretty good. Why they title it "A Run of the Mill Brothers," though, I'm never un- derstood. • • • R.W.U

ELECTION RESULTS

Elected to the office of president was William Kyryszczak, a senior majoring in history. Gerald Wilson, a political science major, was elected to the office of vice-president. For the first time in the history of Roger Williams College, there will be two students covering the office of treasurer. Dean Green, a political science major, was head treasurer. After the meeting, head treasurer and Al Stein, assistant treasurer. Elected to the office of secretary was Paul Eiben. For the office of parliamentarian, Matt Miller was elected.

CLASSIFIED

TEAC: Panasonic turntable, 8- track system, and an AM-FM radio. 15 watts peak power. New $280, or will trade for an older one. See D. Leitman, Room 414. Need bread for trip to Canada to be speeded.

by Jim Healy

This year's hockey rep- resentatives who have compiled records that are not bad at all. The records were 25 points, 4 goals and only 2 defeats pays dues to their efforts. Paul Driscoll for their face-off 7:00 p.m. Saturday evening November 22. Driscoll has been the key player throughout 11 other goals. The versatile forward is also accredited with scoring his team mates in 11 other tallies. This well-balance offensive effort exhibited by Driscoll is what makes him the most indispensable skater on the Roger Williams College sextet.

Driscoll in turn on to the ice with a background of 11 years of experience. From the time he was 7 years old. Paul he played organized hockey. Paul made his entire career with LaSalle Academy. After progressing through the ranks of the Pee Wee and Bantam divisions. In his junior year in high school Paul was credited with 15 registers and 5 assistant and also received an Honorble Mention for his services. During his senior year Paul we se- lected captain of his hockey team and that year was selected to the All-State, second team, which is a hockey oriented state like Rhode Island is quite an achievement. Roger Williams can look forward optimistically for the next 3 seasons of having Paul Driscoll perform for them. He is approaching his Bachelor Degree with a solid C average and has tentative acceptance letter to many colleges.

Offense Factor-Hawks Beat Curry

by Steve Horowitz

Roger Williams, utilizing a tight full court press, overcame a well trained Hawk squad to win at Central. The victory, the sec- ond over Curry this season, brought the Hawks season to 3 and 3.

Curry, however, held the ball for too long and patiently for the right shot, jumped off right in the third quarter. Williams, employing a 3-2 zone at the time, seemed to have a struggle on their hands. An 11 minute mark in the third quarter, mark Roger Williams called a time out and after getting support with Larry Long away from the middle, and Jim Rosander getting past the outside, the Hawks started to pull away. They had switch to a tight and stilly full court press, thus doing what they could. And many Curry turns prove. Jerry Latimore, sick since the game, began to collect some boards, and Larry Lang splashed up the Hawks forged behind 47 to 33. Larry Lang and dynamite guard, Jim Rosander led the halftime score with 10 points each.

At the start of the second period Roger Williams continued their onslaught, and at the ten minute mark upped their margin to 24, 67 to 43. Substitutions did not even bring the lead, and Ro- ger Williams marched off to an easy victory. This was, by far, a better battle than what the teams displayed at Curry. Curry came prepared, and with a fine defensive strategy, the Hawks might have gone down to defeat. Hopefully, the Hawks reflected the team's versatility on the bench. The evening was marked by many situations, changing roster, or bringing in any of their regulars. Roger Williams College is now a five man team.

Larry Lang came up with his top effort of the season, contributing 25 points. Other high scoring Hawks included Jack Curley with 16, Bill Price with 13. Jerry Lat- imore had only 12 points due to his illness, but had a game high, number of 22 rebounds. Oh, if only Jerry could get well!!!

Alternatives

(Continued from Page 1)

Senior Division. Thereof, a dis- cussion must be made at the be- ginning B.A., B.S., etc. This ques- tion must be asked of the individ- ual applying and must be fulfilled. Therefore, I make these recom- mendations.

If an individual is applying for a two-year course, the following should be considered.

Although Roger Williams Col- lege has maintained an "Open Door" policy, it is possible to realize that we as a small college, which is growing, does not have room for a student who has previously attended a person's high school record, not only his or her academic record, but outside activities, extra-cur- ricular activities, etc. Also the col- lege should set up some kind of entrance test to see where the student might fit in. However, I also feel that a four-year course is a tense (sic) course and should be a two-year course. Therefore, the program cannot be suitable for the student who just walks in.

I feel that when admitting an applicant for a two-year program the college should look more closely on the SAT's and achieve- ment test and his high school record especially; also I feel for those students. I feel that there should definitely be an entrance examination for these students with a certain average he must obtain. One time we must not overlook the interview. However, I feel that this should not be so highly looked upon as in the case with the entrance examinations. In summary it should be stated that if an individual is applying for a two-year course, there should be a strict admissions policy. Without the two-year candidates the criteria may not be so strict and more leeway should be given to these students.

—Fred Fitch

The following alternatives have been proposed for an admissions policy:

1. Open enrollment on a first come first serve basis. High school degree or its equivalent re- quired.

2. A system of random selec- tion of applicants.

3. A quota system: a heterogeneous student body chosen by means of a broad spec- trum of criteria such as:

a) performance b) geography c) cultural background.

4. An admissions policy of the "Open Door" type.

b) High SAT and other test scores.

b) Interviews; c) High school record.

b) High school record.

c) A letter of rec-ommen-
dation and personal recomdendations.

c) Continuous changing poli-

6. Acceptance primarily of culturally and economically deprived students.

7. Other.

Which specific policy or commotion this should not be so lightly looked upon. Also I prefer Roger Williams to follow the same as the others. And then to Mr. Pax by Jan. 21. the back of this may be used