DEDICATES
THE BRISTOL CAMPUS
TO ITS STUDENTS

We would also like to offer the opportunity to any other groups who might want to dedicate the Campus. It is not necessary to invite anyone other than whom you desire, as evidence last Tuesdays dedication by the Board of Trustees and the Corporation of this college. Anyone interested may make arrangements with the library staff through this newspaper.

Dean Search Committee: Bristol

The Bristol Campus has been without an academic dean since June, 1970. Although there has been an acting dean (Harold Payson) to carry out the administrative functions of the position, no one can expect anyone in this position to provide the imaginative leadership necessary here to give this campus direction. A dean's search committee was formed over the summer to screen applicants, conduct personal interviews and make recommendations to the President, who ultimately will make the decision.

Len Goldberg, dean of students, is the chairman of this committee, with Dr. Kellog, Dr. Topf, Mr. Fox, Mr. Stout, Mr. Hawkins from the Bristol faculty, Tom Sears and John Vigano from the administration and Robert Miller and Judge Paolino from the Board of Trustees. Two students are also supposed to be members of this committee but they haven’t as yet been chosen. No one has expressed any interest despite repeated efforts by Stan Shatz, chairman of the Bristol Senate to solicit these people.

This committee, which has already received some 300 applications, has begun screening. Although they recognize the limitation of resumes and evaluating on the basis of whatever image they present on paper, it is not possible for them to conduct 300 or so personal interviews. The following criteria have been developed for this screening purpose (1) should be emphasized that these criteria are not rigid and that at best the committee will only find a balance in any
If statement: students also project mediocrity, that students are needed, badly, Gauvey became president. Education where students created experimental programs aimed at ordinary?" that Roger themselves from the mainstream of college life. Rather they chose their own individual criteria. Further progress takes us to a one-year have developed a mode of the average student. Take, for example, cause absurd. It would seem to those that have been observing from within and those who have followed the lively experiment from the outside that Roger Williams has moved in a direction of education as a life-long process. But has it? When one closely examines the structure and ideas that are also coming from Roger Williams such as actively seeking accreditation, hard line faculty, recent publication propaganda, questions arise. One of the most immediate questions of public is that of question is: Is an institution's personal statements accreditation should a student submit his personal statements? Indeed, personal admissions personal admissions have developed a mode of the average student. Take, for example, three statements printed on the inside cover of the admission statement: "sometimes a high school senior does "C" work... What college will give the ordinary fellow... who for a variety of reasons find themselves having unable to prepare for change, ordinary?" One term does not fit into a proper perspective one would get a picture of mediocrity." Don't worry, there is a place for you, we will get you that job. Just come, pay your dues, do your part -- get a degree. This combined with the directives on the personal data form further the remoteness of student responsibility. Why should a student submit his application to his high school guidance counselor? Why should a student consider whether or not he is the correct college to the student to see if he answered all questions faithfully? What is his concern? What about the transfer student who has long high school? Of the older student, even veterans who have been through experiences that remove him from high school ideals? Recent "you too can come to Roger Williams" ads seeking new students also project mediocrity, that students are needed, badly, come and come we will educate you. An image has to create a new student, add to a person's experience, make him react so as to make him become involved. Accreditation has taken its part in projecting image. Some- time ago a dean came. He had great dreams of the future. Brown, the bastion of science and great discipline and academic structure. Shortly a faculty came, ready to test the underlying assumptions of education. An assistant dean came and began to actively seek accreditation. What does this mean? According to the N. E. Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, "institutions must be able to fulfill the objectives. This does not mean upgrading admissions or giving out too many A's will jeopardize accreditation. Everyone is waiting. Williams". What will the future be? When will he come forth with his presence and give himself, his being? How long can we wait?

The Absurdity of Freedom As A Political Goal by Robert Rebal Freedom as a political goal is absurd. It is absurd simply because freedom as a concept makes no sense within the political framework. And this is what leads our radical youth are beginning to realize. At the very heart of political philosophy is the determination of the proper balance between freedom and law and or­­-

Richard Moses

My as well come right out with it: the evening wasn’t one of the best I’ve been to. I went to see 'Hello Out There,' a musical I saw at the College Theatre. The play, "Hello Out There," an experiment in new music and new drama, was rather blandly by Cunly.

The play "Hello Out There," an experiment in new music and new drama, was rather blandly by Cunly. The play itself was rather blandly by Cunly. It was composed of an experimental program in 1967-68 where twenty students produced themselves the "Hello Out There" was only part of the reason. The other part was a group called UN- CASS, filed as "pre-show entertain­­ment."

Orders Being Taken For '71 'Witness'
The Witness, Roger Williams College Providence Campus Yearbook has been put online. Students can order their yearbook.
The Witness is better than ever and now holds about 240 pages and is a $5.00 in size. Also, the cover and emblem are the same. The Witness now has a taller format in between is so much better than the old pages. There will be pictures of activities, students, administration, just about everything you can think of. Just about every student at RW has been captured in the 1971 Witness.

Help out the Witness by ordering your book at the bookstore between the hours of 8:30-4:30. The cost this year will only be $10.00 plus 25c if you want the book mailed directly to your home. Does this sound like a bargain? We feel that the cheaper the cost, the more students will buy. The sooner you order, the sooner you can be a part of the 1971 Witness and Roger Williams College. Remember, don't delay, order today.

Bristol Dorm.
Not So Pretty?
Ed. Note: This was originally a letter to the editor, but we felt it necessary to present a more accurate view of dorm life then dorm govt. reports.

In reading your issues of the "Quill" I see many articles on Dorm Government, liberalized roles, etc. But, never do I read any realistic articles pertaining to the actual dorm life of RW dorm students specifically their extracurricular activities.

Several weeks ago I became engaged to a girl on this campus. As soon as this information was published, he took another girl on a way of "strange" persons in your dorms. The first girls were normal, the second one was obnoxious, the third became obnoxious. Not only did I feel ashamed of my past actions and with this perversion, but also were my own home and a relation home.

Certainly my personal life - or my girls life - was not of great concern to RWC students, especially at 4 a.m. Staying up until such an early hours merely to cast a mass, perceived interest is hardly conducive to a healthy dorm living, or even basic education!

I think it time Unit Advisors and other authorities pay more attention to this type of thing. The situation is merely at a simmer, but soon its intense boiling will pervade the whole and perhaps destroy the already shaky foundation that is being built in many dorms.

I find it unfortunate that parking

THE QUILL

"TURN ON, TUNE IN, DROP OUT?"

In the past week-end I traveled to Medford, Mass. which was my first experience with not much of a scene of drugs and narcotics. Located here, is a civil center of drug culture. There is a hot-line and voluntary help. Volunteers on the hot-line help the users work hard to send these in but the battle is lost in their sea of confusion.

I also discuss in person to the establishment. That society made them what they are now. I don't feel that anyone hurt or even basic respect to their identity, unless they want to get off now and try to help them out.

Legal Abortions
Now Available

A new facility to perform legal abortion in New York State is now available.

Brownsville is a large, modern, five-story hospital located at 360 E. 34th St. in New York City. A surgical suite consists of New York State Licensed Obstetricians and a certified anesthesiologist. The facility is one of the most modern and all are on the staff of local hospitals. The pre-operative rooms are staffed by Registered Nurses. Abortions are performed by suction curettage on an outpatient basis, the patient is able to leave after waiting about three hours in the recovery room.

A physical examination, complete blood testing and urinalysis is included.

We at close in consultation with a local laboratory where a blood block and the price is all-inclusive of the complete blood work.

Abortions are performed Monday through Saturday. Calls for abortion should be made between 9 and 12.

Upcoming reservations for overnight accommodations can be made through either Shabby Inn, 207 Holby Inn, or Howard Johnson's Transportation from any of the three above facilities is $25.00 round-trip private limousine from LaGuardia, Kennedy, or Idlewild Airports.

By Highway, the facility is located on main road of New York State throughway, one mile west of Exit 8 of the Palisades Parkway on Rte. 78, New York, N.Y.

Correction

I would like to correct the following errors in Bob Imms' article, "National'on Film Forum Held in Bristol" (January 11, 1971).

1. Roger Williams College was never "fully accredited as a junior college." We had been granted HLC (Higher Learning Corps) junior college in 1965, and that accreditation was transferred to the College as a four-year institution in December, 1969.

2. We do not yet "hold a position somewhat above accreditation as a two-year institution." We had candidacy status as a two-year institution and we now have conditional status as a four-year institution.

3. We can never "apply for HLC (Higher Learning Corps) accreditation. It is granted only once for a five-year term. Should our HLC status expire before we obtain full accreditation, we may apply for full accreditation, but not with candidacy status.

4. Our present plans are to submit our written report to the agency in May. The visitation examination is expected in October, if the schedule is followed.

5. The various regional groups belong to the Federation of Regional Accrediting Associations on the six-year cycle to ensure a reasonable degree of stability in the operation of these agencies.
RISD (Brown Alumni) Top Hawks

by Ray Maker
Rhode Island School of Design Hockey team handed Roger Williams their fourth loss of the year by a score of 9 to 2. The Hawks were down by a score of 1 to 0 at the end of the first period, but with RISD coming up with seven goals in the last two periods it never got much past the Hawks.

One of the reasons the Hawks did not have a good night was that they had not had a game in over a week and at times the team seemed very poor in their skating and shooting ability. One thing also must be said is that the RISD team has three of four Brown Hockey alumni playing for them which did have a definite advantage for the RISD side.

The first period started with not much action, rather dull. At 14:27 Allen scored for the RISD forces, assisted by Harrington, and led at one goal. At 19:32 RISD got its final goal of that period, when Skully scored a goal. This gave the RISD club a 2 to 1 lead at the end of the first period.

Many times in this period the Hawks had their chances, but they could not convert them to goals. They were getting penalties that hurt, but Bill Seibl kicked out 14 shots while John kicked out 9 shots for RISD. The second period started scoring started up at 7:06 when RISD scored — getting the final score 9 to 2. In this period Coach Bob Real all used Paul Kelly and Steve Holland in goal. Paul did a rather good job as he did not allow a goal in the first half of that period. Then Coach Real used Steve Holland in goal and was greeted with three more goals.

One thing that has to improve is the way the defense played the game. Making the problem has come up with the team and that is the loss of two Defensemen; Paul Kelly is leaving for personal reasons and Rick Nye is transferring to RLC. This is really going to be a problem for coach Bob Real and there are sure to be some goals made before the next game.

James Russo Award Night

On Monday, February 13, 1971 Mr. James Russo will be honored at the home basketball game between Roger Williams College and Franklin Pierce College at Central High School, Providence.

Mr. Russo will be presented with a special recognition award as the first basketball coach at Roger Williams College.

The James Russo Award will be presented to the outstanding senior basketball player based on his athletic ability and scholarship.

The Roger Williams Basketball Hawks traveled to Washington, D.C. on Jan. 26 for a game against Federal City College, whose athletic director is Sam Jones, former Boston Celtic great. The Hawks lost 75-72, but were still in the running for the ECAC title.

The Hawks held a quick 14-4 lead but saw their lead diminish to one point at halftime 35-34. Roger Williams scored the first six points of the second half but then Federal put it all together and led at one stage by 16 points.

Federal beat Roger Williams under the offensive boards. Paul Harston of Federal scored 36 points for Federal. Bob Brooks netted 22 points for Roger Wil-

RISD and Latvia now 20.

The Hawks won on Southeastern University at Arlington, Virginia, the following night and came off with an impressive 86-81 victory. Roger Williams trailed 30-35 at the half but again Latvia scored on a three point play and put the Hawks ahead 78-77. Southeaster
