On Wednesday, January 13 at 6:00 P.M. barring any technical difficulties WRWB will be on the air. You can listen to us on your AM or FM transistor radio. Just plug it in and turn your dial to 570, sit back, and listen. The station hours are 7:00 A.M. to 3:00 A.M. Sunday thru Thursday and 7:00 A.M. to 7:00 P.M. Friday and Saturday. The station is located in room 307 directly below the Common lounge, come on down and visit the place, we'd be glad to show you around.

But even if you don't come down don't forget to listen. Don't forget that this is closed circuit station (that means only on the campus) but we're going to expand into a 10 watt FM station as soon as possible. Remember 570 on the AM dial at 6:00 P.M. "LISTEN."

Good Luck!!

Sincerely,
Mike Rinaldi

Accreditation Forum Held In Bristol

by Bob Iainco

Rumors, speculations, assumptions, and half truths are often presented (and taken) as fact whenever individuals (in an institution) undertake a project that affects the entire membership of an organization. Emotions blare out of control and the resulting overflow of factual information only feeds the fire of confusion. When this happens, it becomes necessary to separate fact from fiction and present the truth to those people who desire to know what is going on.

To this end, this article has been written to present the facts concerning the struggle for accreditation at RWC. This article is the first in a series of articles that will be concerned with presenting the student body with the most accurate information available concerning accreditation, the struggle for obtaining accreditation, the problems encountered and the progress that has been made.

Dr. Cardi, in the informal forum held last Thursday in Bristol, presented some of the basic facts concerning accreditation procedures. In the United States the accrediting agencies are non-governmental and non-national. There are six such agencies in the states and they are responsible to the Federation of Regional Accrediting Commissions. It is the responsibility of the Federation to keep the standards of the six independent accrediting agencies relatively uniform.

The Federation owes its responsibility to the National Commission which concerns itself with the proper administration of functions by the regional agencies.

Roger Williams was fully accredited as a junior college when it applied for accreditation as a four year institution. The New England Board of Accreditation extended the status of recognition as a Candidate for accreditation (RCA). This means that we hold a position somewhat above accreditation as a two year college.

In May of last year the college submitted a conversion report to the New England Board of Accreditation and some months later (Dec. 69) we received our RCA status.

As a matter of fact, in August a progress report was submitted. Then a four-man team will investigate all facets of the college based upon the August report. If we apply for full accreditation during the five year period and receive a negative response from the Board, reapplication will be necessary. However, if we apply and withdraw the application before the Board votes on our application, we retain our RCA status.

The Accreditation Coordinating Committee of RWC, which consists of Vignaux, Marshon, Rinaldi and Cardi, adds the President in the coordination of the project. This committee suggested to Dr. Gaskey that committees be set up on both campuses to deal with specific areas that need to be examined. As a result, two committees for curriculum and faculty were created (one for each campus) and others were created to deal with all the other specific areas that must be evaluated.

More information concerning the entire problem of accreditation will be found in later issues of the Quill. If you wish to know more about what is happening make sure you get your hands on all the future issues of the Quill.

Bristol Student Senate To Dissolve?

CLARIFICATION

Editor's Note: This is the actual motion brought to the floor 10/13/70 by Stan Shatz. It was voted down—10—8—2

Moved; that a referendum be held, campus wide abolishing the student Senate and placing whatever tasks the senate now possesses under the jurisdiction of the dean of students office, Bristol Campus. The abolishing of the Senate would also mean the abolishing of the student activities and Athletic Fees. This referendum would take place the first week of the second semester academic year 1970-71. A one month period would then go into effect transferring activities of the Senate under the direction of the Dean of Students office. The Dean of Students could then reorder the student government system. The activities taxes would not be collected in fall 1971 if no new plans were developed.

William McCall is 24 years old and a full-time student at Roger Williams College. He spent four years in the USN and is currently attending RWC under the G.I. Bill; but that is not enough money to pay higher education costs. He has a part-time job working 32 hours per week which is vital to help pay expenses. Moreover Bill is married and his wife works. They have no children and said Bill, "At this time I just can't afford it." Many students at RWC, similar to Bill's situation, work while attending classes during the week and some work Saturdays also to handle school expenses. RWC is not unique, all across the nation students are being forced to acquire part-time jobs to pay the mounting costs of higher education.

At Brigham Young University Jess Ord, 21, and a senior must earn at least $1000 a year. He hires dozens at 4 a.m. for a $15.63 an hour job as a junior, working 15-18 hours a week and carrying a full 16-hour academic load.

At Vanderbilt University, one sophomore spends 30 hours a week selling "grapes." Every two weeks she makes a 12-hour round trip to Texas for supplies. "It's the only job where I can concentrate on my studies and still make lots of money," she said. A friend added: "My father put himself through school bootlegging whiskey during Prohibition. So what's the difference?"

Between 1965 and 1969 the number of full time college students grew by 32 percent to 5.8 million. During the same period full time students working part time grew by 64 percent to almost 2.1 million. Educators conclude that the increase stems from the following: Rising cost of books, clothes, rooms, and food; tuition has increased more than 50 percent in 10 years. Increased difficulty in obtaining low interest student loans. Fewer jobs during the summer when many students must earn a large part of the next school year's expense money. A nation in economic slump that has seen many parents laid off or their work week reduced as union bills fell down.

"There's no doubt about it," said Dr. Kenneth L. Wooten, president of the National Association of Financial Aid Officers. "All of our studies show that more and more students are going to work."

The Federal Government work-study program provides 80 percent of wages paid to 375,000 students for a variety of campus jobs at 2500 colleges. In 1970 the program received $154 million. In 1971 the appropriation is $190 million or about half what is necessary, according to Dr. Wooten. "There may be more total dollars," he said, "But with more students, especially those who have family incomes, entering more colleges, we are actually being asked to do more."

At RWC all efforts are being made not to increase tuition for the fall 1971; however, this cannot be determined until all financial statements are analyzed.
Panel Discussion Held

A "Panel discussion on experience with: the President of the Experimental Betsy Williams College, President, Edwin Hollowback; his Dean, Frank Zannini; his Director of Development, Betsy Williams; and the faculty members, Loony O'Doo.

Questioner: President Goreeve, could you please begin the discussion on the experimental path you are tackling? Do you feel the experimental college it is capable of becoming. President: Yes, Zannini's are applied for accreditation. Is the V. P. actually, we were planning to attract more Ph.Ds. We have been speaking to our faculty about this, that they must think a bit more stringently to help us answer the question. President: Do the accreditation people have any influence over the experimental path you're striking out on? V. P.: As long as we understand that Betsy Williams is applying for accreditation. Is this true? V. P.: Yes, that's true. We should do whatever we can to convince the people that the experimental college is capable of becoming.

Questioner: Zannini, are your receipts on tuition are always on the increase. This is, of course, the life血ood of our institution and we expect to haul in more next year.

Questioner: While you have the floor, Dean Zannini, would you tell us what you think the effect of the College Without Walls? Dean: Yes, I would. I feel that the College Without Walls is a significant attempt for the student body of the College in order to build more buildings on the new campus and give the students the facilities they need. President: No, Dean Zannini, I think you misunderstood the question. He's asking about the program you were so influential in getting your faculty to accept. President: Yes, we're very much in favor of that, of course.

Questioner: Tell me how the money is going to be used from the facilities playing on each campus in Panel.

CRITICAL WRITING SERIES

CRITICISM of the yearbook's heavy emphasis on fiction and the use of the word "yearbook" in the title, the Quill was the yearbook for the college. In the past, the Quill has been a voice for students' opinions and a place to express ideas about the college and its programs.

The Quill was originally published in 1919 as an evening branch of The Providence Journal. It was renamed The Bridge in 1931 and later became the official yearbook of the college in 1952. Today, the Quill is published annually and is available for purchase at the Providence College Bookstore on both campuses.

THE BRIDGE

The Quill is the official yearbook of the college, and it is available for purchase at the Providence College Bookstore on both campuses. Copies are also available at the College Bookstore on both campuses.

Sicily Club of Rhode Island Honors "Semester Abroad" Participants

The Sicily Club of Rhode Island hosted a dinner at Roger Williams College last night honoring 11 students from the college who will spend next semester in Sicily on a special independent study program.

The dinner affair, begun with cocktails in the college administration building on the Bristol campus and followed by dinner at the home of Orlando J. Bishno, head of the Sicily Club and Bristol Town Clerk, Mr. Bishno's son, Paul Bishno of 404 Wood St., is a participant in the Semester in Sicily program.

Dinner was served in the college dining lounge at 8:15 p.m. following the cocktail hour.

This is the first year Roger Williams has operated such a "semester abroad" program for students. Organized by faculty member Mrs. Mary Finger, the Sicily program is open not only to RWC students but also to students in the other colleges of the Union, Experimenting Colleges and Universities, a group of 29 institutions to which Roger Williams belongs.

The participating students will fly to Palermo Feb. 3. They will each be met there by an Italian family, with whom each will stay for a month. Arrangements for these visits have been made by the Experiment in International Living organization. For the remainder of the three-month program, the students will live together in a "pensione."

Their classes will be held in the local U.S. Information Service offices. The students will study intensively such subjects as the Italian language, the history of the Mediterranean area, Sicilian culture and contemporaneous social problems. They will also "conduct" independent research projects and will make a 12-day tour of major Italian cities.

Other RWC students participating in the program are Eda M. Roche and Anne T. Caldarella, both of Providence; Michael J. Carey of Newport; Philpis M. Gagne of Woonsocket; Robert L. Pearson of Portsmouth; Michael Simms, of Brockton, Mass.; and Harry L. Torres of New York City. Steve Gonzalez of the University of Rhode Island, and Pamela Mercier of the University of Massachusetts are also participating in the program.

Business Club Has Xmas For Aged

On December 15, 1970 Roger Williams Business Club had its annual Christmas party for the patrons of Lynn Ann's Nursing Home on Elmwood Avenue in Providence. Lynn Ann is a small home for the aged. Candy and gifts were distributed by Santa Claus, played by Sigmund Slavsky, the only Jewish Santa in town. Sil did a beautiful job--thanks, Sil.

Almost all of the Business Club members took part in going to the home. Nick Romano was the chairman of the committee, with Paul Boivert, Pam Tucker and Ann Sisson also on the committee. They all did a great job--not only setting up details and going to the home, but collecting gifts which were donated by some local firms.

The Club wishes to thank Russ Brothers for donating candy, B. B. Greenberg Company for donating jewelry for the women; Weingroff, Inc. for gifts for the men and John Burgess for the fruit basket from his fruit stand business. The Business Club is happy to give a little pleasure to the older generation and also the pleasure they gave us in talking with our older citizens.

The club is planning a tour of the Narragansett Brewing Company on Tuesday, January 12, 1971. All club members are urged to be on Pine Street at 1:30 p.m. The tour commences at 2 o'clock sharp at the brewing company.

On January 26, Mr. Robert F. Parkinson, Scout Executive of the Narragansett Council of the Boy Scouts of America will speak to the business club at our regular meeting on the job opportunities that are available in the Boy Scout managerial opportunities.

Zannini Upholds Original Dean's List Standards

Question -- When are the standards for the Dean's List changed and yet not changed?

Answer -- When conflicting replies are printed in the Providence Handbook and RWC catalogue, and when controversy erupts as to the accuracy of editorial.

To clarify the predicament, the Quill met with Dean Zannini, Dean McKenna, Mr. Rizzini and Mr. Langello. As a result of the meeting it was clear that the standards for membership on the Dean's List have not been changed. The RWC catalogue is accurate. "Full-time students who earn a quality point average of 3.0 or better with no more than one "C" in any semester will be placed on the Dean's List for that semester."

The FDAC (Providence Dean's Advisory Council) composed of academic area heads; last year and suggested raising the standards for the Dean's List. They presented their proposal to Dean Zannini who then REJECTED it. The catalogue was printed with the Dean's List qualifications accordingly. Through some one's error, as yet still to be determined, the Providence Student Guide was printed altering the qualifications for the Dean's List. A student recognized the conflict and asked for clarification on the matter. It was then stated that the Providence Handbook superseded the catalogue; this was an administrative error. It was brought out at the meeting with Dean Zannini that after he rejected the FDAC's proposal it went dormant, where it still lies. Through human error, a re-vamping of the qualifications for membership on the Dean's List appeared in the Providence Student Handbook.

New Auto Pollution Standards

The National Air Pollution Control Administration has announced auto exhaust standards for 1972, 1973 and 1974 automobiles that are less stringent than those first projected earlier this year.

NAPCA also announced new test procedures admitting, as critics have claimed for several years, that the old tests do not measure correctly the amounts of poisons being discharged by the average auto.

To quote the NAPCA press release, "Current test procedures, which combine measured data and theoretical estimates, underestimate exhaust emissions from automobiles."

The new regulations are designed to reduce emissions of exhaust hydro-carbons by 80 percent and carbon monoxide by 69 percent as compared to emissions from present models without pollution controls.

The first part of the week was dry and cloudy with some temperatures above freezing. Colder air mass should move in about Wednesday, notably accompanied by snow.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY

OF CIVIL ENGINEERS

The Roger Williams chapter of the ASCE will meet on Tuesday, January 19, 1971 at 8 p.m. Membership cards will be distributed to members who have paid their dues; and final plans will be made for our upcoming field trip. All members and interested students are urged to attend.
Hawks Can Tune Clippers Twice

by Ray Maker

Roger Williams College recorded its sweetest hockey victory in a long time when they defeated the St. Andrew Tune Clippers. The Hawks coming up with four goals in the last period, came from behind to win the three time provincial hockey champs by a score of 4-3. The winning goal came at 19:23 by Rick Morello with only 37 seconds left to play.

First period started out as if the Canadians were going to blast their way out of the rink by scoring three goals in the first period. John Snow scored first for the Tune Clippers at 15:33 assisted by Bob Ross. Tune Clippes striking back at 17:33 on a power play score again when Mike McCurdy sent the puck rocketing into the nets, assisted by Bob Ross and Brian Kohler with Bob Jackson in for two minutes. The Tune Clippers were still to get one more shot on goal as they went down 1-0 as they played a power play at 18:53, with Paul Church in the box for two minutes. Mike McCurdy assisted by Irvin Kohler scored the third. Bill Selino had shot taken off him while the Hawks could only go off 10 shots on the Tune Clippes goalie Ed Stinson. Selino appeared very nervous before the start of the game and this might have carried over into the first period. But he still made some great plays as he usually does for the Hawks.

The Hawks narrowed the lead of the Canadian six to 3 to 1 when Rick Johnson scored on a power play goal for the Hawks at 4:20, assisted by Mark Goerner and Bill Watson. At 1:45 Bob Jackson got his second point and was assisted by Mark Goerner and Mike Zanfagna. Bill Selino made 13 saves that period as they only took 5 shots on him, as he also kicked out 13 shots taken on him, as he was assisted by Mark Goerner and Bill Watson.

Second period started out with N.E.C. scoring its first goal in the second period. The New Hampshire squad acquired a 50-50 tie to spark the staid offense of the Hawks. The defense was restructured and an effective shooting game prevailed. Only three turnovers were recorded for the Hawks within the last ten seconds as they had to play out of a total accumulation of 23 for the game. At the ten minute period the cagers lead had been again narrowed to 66-64. New Hampshire College obtained an own goal off that as they were skating very quickly, they readily showed some hustle in the open. The game played a fine first period as he kicked out 8 shots. Al McLaughlin kicked out 13 shots taken on him, as he also played a fine first period.

Second period started out with N.E.C. scoring its first goal in the opening minutes of the period as they were skating very quickly. They got their second goal of the night as he scored for the Hawks. Bob was assisted by Rich Johnson and Mark Gomer. At the 6:47 frame the Pilgrims kicked out 13 shots taken on him, as he also played a fine first period. New Hampshire College beat the Hawks 66-64 as they scored two goals in the final period. Still N.E.C. played a fine ball game that night.

Pilgrims Stuff Hawks

by Ray Maker

Roger Williams College hockey forces dropped their third game of the year to the New England College at Concord, N. H., by a score of 8 to 3 last Wednesday night. Coach Williams was leading by 2 to 0 at the end of first period, but N.E.C. coming up with eight goals in the final two periods proved too much for the Hawks. The main problem with the Hawks was that they were not getting shots on goal, the shots off on goal in that period as they only took 5 shots on goal, the shot skating was also off that period.

The main problem for the Hawks was that they were not getting shots on goal, the shots off on goal in that period as they only took 5 shots on goal, the shot skating was also off that period.

First period started as if the Hawks were going to win this one, as they scored two goals in the opening period. At 12:49 Dan Gofde scored for the Hawks and was assisted by Jeff Gibson. At 18:47 Bob Jackson got his first of two goals of the night as he was assisted by Mark Goerner and Mike Zanfagna.

The Hawks played a fine first period as they went down 1-0 as they were skating very quickly, they readily showed same hustle in the open. The game played a fine first period as he kicked out 8 shots. Al McLaughlin kicked out 13 shots taken on him, as he also played a fine first period.
