GABORDI RESIGNS AS DORM GOVT. PRES.

At last week's Dorm Government meeting, Bob Gabordi, former President of Dorm Government, formally announced his resignation, which is effective immediately.

Terry Gillick, Vice President of Dorm Government, will take over the responsibilities of president, and according to the Constitution, Greg Delaporta, an appointed officer, shall step down from his position as Parliamentarian.

Dorm Government has been providing the students at RWC with more and more activities and Bob feels that they have been getting, at the same time, more and more criticism. This has been a problem that has puzzled Bob for a long time. Respect of the Dorm Government, in Bob's eye, is no question because the organization has put on dances, movies, Tom Chapin, etc. "... and when you think we did this in one year, you can be very proud of yourself".

Gabordi believes that growth is a series of changes and that now is an appropriate time "... for a new person to accept the responsibilities of president..." Bob says. Personal factors that have played a part in this decision include Bob's wish to run for Student Senate for Administration to create an "effective" campaign, he also needs time to himself for student affairs. "My head of personal problems", Bob commented. He wishes to leave a legacy of the positive work Dorm Government has produced.

Bob said that he has the "highest confidence in my vice president to lead this group..." and it is Bob's hope that Terry will be president next fall. "Good luck Terry, it's your ball park now!" Bob wished.

Terry said that he will "follow the same basic format that we have been following all year. I want to get the parking proposal through...I do have plans for the next semester". Dorm related functions will be emphasised for the rest of this semester instead of large social events under Terry's administration. When asked whether or not he will run for president next semester, Terry didn't hesitate to say that he would run.

After this semester, Terry remarked, Dorm Government will have a lot of plans for next year and he hopes that Peter Longo will be Vice President of Dorm Government next fall. Terry also very hopes to appoint Mike Cavenaugh as Treasurer (continued on page 7)

STUDENT REPS. IN D.C.

Between March 10 and 14, Greg Delaporta, parliamentarian for Dormitory Government, Lisa Gratza, President of Student Senate, and I attended the United States National Student Association conference on Lobbying in Washington, D.C. The purpose of the conference was: 1) to lobby for more money for Higher Education; 2) to learn how to effect policies involving students; 3) to brief us on issues that pertain to students; 4) to inform us on the directions students, and student governments in particular, should take in the future.

We received large quantities of literature, available to all concerned students, on the issues and arguments for our support at the outset of conferences. We then attended issue briefing sessions which explained the information and the arguments. We spoke to our Senators and Representatives about the issues. We attended briefing sessions on how to communicate with legislators. Finally, we attended meetings with national and regional delegates from other schools to determine what life is like outside the "Dodge".

Some of the issues we addressed ourselves to are: student control of the student fees; funding for post secondary education; jobs for students; child care for students with children; food stamps for students; veteran's benefits; student loans; voting rights for students; minority students; and low cost travel.

Between the three of us, we spoke to Senator Pell, Senator Pastore, and Congressman Pozzi, of New Jersey, Senator of Roger Williams, We are very thankful to the Senate and Dorm Government for this invaluable experience, and hope that in the future, we can repay this debt by bettering Roger Williams College.

DORM GOVERNMENT PROPOSES SCHOLARSHIP

Dorm Government, if approved, will institute a Dorm Government sponsored scholarship to be awarded annually to the student who has contributed the most to the dorm and to the school. The election procedure will consist of nominations from anyone to be judged by a special board. The board will be made up of three members of Dorm Government and three members of Student Senate. Two members of the board will be appointed by the Scholarship Committee: Billy Gillen, Dick Yakovonis and Mike Swanson. This group will collectively decide upon the winner.

The scholarship would go to a member of Dorm Government with the exception of those on the special board. Anyone who feels they know someone who is deserving of the award, be it an R.A., Dorm Government member, Student Senate member, a commuter, etc., can send in their nominations. Everyone who sends in a nomination will be notified of the winner of the scholarship.

A specific cutoff date will be established at this point, it has not been established yet. It will probably be, a spokesman said, around the middle or end of April. The winner of the scholarship will be announced at the right of the Awards Banquet.

WHO CARES?

Although apathy is a major problem facing many college campuses, here at Roger Williams there are some that do care.

There is a courtesy force consisting of 26 students which is coordinated by Mark Fallon, a student here. Wednesday through Sunday, the force patrols the campus looking for destruction, vandalism, and any other types of destructive behavior. When such activity is spotted, the force reports it to the Housing Director Billy O'Connell. These students are all volunteers and they can be found at school functions and with new students as they visit campus.

Another group of concerned students are those working on the baseball field. A baseball area is currently being created. Students have made contributions from various activities, for example, at a dance last year $200 was raised. This year, students gave a dollar out of their dorm damage deposit, a party at Mr. T's grossed 400.00 dollars, members of the basketball raised $144.50 as a result from not eating in the cafeteria for a week, $10.00 was received from selling popcorn at the movies and $700.00 was donated by Bob McKenna on behalf of the school. The baseball diamond will be placed adjacent to the soccer field.

Other students caring, make up the Student Activities Committee or better known as SAC. The chairpersons of this industrious group consist of Mora Lee, Barbara Milder, Terry Gillick and Maria Rowe. They work with Billy O'Connell, housing director, at RWC. Activities they have put on include open houses, sock hop, Tom Chupin, day at the races, etc.

Keith Gorley, Bernard Miller, and Bill O'Connell have recently rented the Andrew's Gym in Woonsocket. It is planned to use the gym facilities on campus for activities.

The parade of candidates, reportedly, has narrowed down to four front runners. Three interviews will be held on campus and behind closed doors at the end of this month. A decision should be handed down before commencement. By the middle to latter part of July, the new president shall be on campus. In September, the president will be inaugurated. We can only hope that the Board of Trustees will pick one of the four finalists so RWC doesn't follow in Brown University's footsteps. Brown is also looking for a new president and the selection came down to two candidates. The corporation there could not decide on a winner so they threw out the two hopefuls. Students held a rally against the move.

Dear Editor,

In the March 16 letter, THE ALTERNATIVE, a parking proposal was presented to the Guida. I cannot disagree with any point in Mr. Guida’s proposal except that it is not the only alternative. A lottery system, a new parking lot, estabishing commuter parking and restricting freshman parking are only a few of the many alternatives.

Mr. Guida’s proposal was not completely new. Many of its components were discussed at the November 6 meeting of Dormitory Government. The result of that meeting was the open invitation to Mr. Guida to present his plan to the campus-wide parking area below the new dorm and the establishment of a parking committee to study our problem.

Dorm Government has studied the problem. On March 6, Dormitory Government invited the college community to attend an open meeting to discuss the parking problem. At the meeting, the Board of Dorm Government presented a parking plan we feel will benefit all dormitory residents, faculty, and guests. The suggestions, ideas, and criticism which are presented are appreciated. I want to thank the small group of faculty and student representatives who attended. I hope their contributions and for assisting in making a presentation which Roger Williams is not apathetic.

The Dormitory Parking Proposal will be presented to the college community for reference at a later date. Everyone, I believe, can have a feasible parking alternative working in the coming fall semester.

Sincerely,

Chairman, Board of Dorm Government

Dear Editor,

What's a DJ to do? In Rodger Dodger's cafe there's no way one can be a DJ for everyone. Last year the students were allowed to hear the radio during dinner, but this year there are arguments on what station should be on and when the music should turn off. This year things are slightly different. After the first month when we managed to get a turntable and a microphone bringing you all types of music and announcements. A little bit of soul and rock and roll. I love my job and hope to persevere a career in radio. I've learned a great deal flipping your discs. The selections you hear come from many great collections that a lot of students have. I've often wondered how long I'd live if I had an evening of soul music only. Saturday we devote most of the music to hard rock groups. Sunday is midnight, just as the many soft folks I can talk to, speaking more soft, let's mention the volume. Too many people are writing letters and putting them in the suggestion box claiming the music is too loud. I would like to think that telling me would get the volume lowered a little faster, but through the suggestion box. The equipment is not the best, we'll be expanding our collection. I'll forget to turn down the volume after a soft song. By the way, it's quiet on campus and the record while it's playing. It's either a scratch on the record or a bit in the cup of one of my utensils from dinner.

Signed, Mack

One of the main attractions at RWC last month was the Theatre Department's main season production of "RIMERS OF ELDRITCH" by Lanford Wilson. The show, directed by RWC's William Grandgeorge and co-directed by David McCullough, appeared in the Coffee House Theatre from March 19 to the 27.

The setting of the play, designed by Donald Ricklin, was an arrangement of platforms that managed to make the rather cramped stage, due to the minuteness of the Coffee House itself, appear rather spacious. The 17 actors, who all remained on the stage for the entire performance, were situated in a kind of chorall arrangement for speaking and said their parts when each scene was introduced by the lighting. The method of setting the play was similar to the Theater Department's earlier Wilson play, "This is the Hill Speaking". In both productions, it proved, for the most part, successful yet sometimes confusing if each scene was introduced too quickly.

The characters are the inhabitants of a creasy Mid Western ghost town, population 70, that has been deserted since their coal mines ran dry. Although the stage is absent of any set, actors conveyed a vision of abandoned mines, decayed buildings and wind-blown streets reflecting the empty lives of the characters themselves.

The main characters were generally frustrated would-be's with an urge to flee the dying community. We see the ugly, tragic and sometimes humorous side of the townfolk when these unchecked urges are twisted into incessant, twisted gossip.

The plot is centered around the trial of a woman who has shot and killed a presumed rapist of a crippled girl. The cruelty, malice and hypocrisy of the townfolk obscure the facts of the occurrence and the audience never really finds out the outcome of the trial but this is not the real point of the play. It is in actuality the inhabitants of Eldritch who are on trial and it is Skelly, the old town lecher who spends his evenings peeping into windows, who is the prosecuting. Their crime is hypocrisy in the face of their own supposed "Christian" values.

An absolutely excellent performance was done by Polly Stiness, a member of the Barrington Players. Her terrifying portrayal of a deranged old lady obsessed with death held the audience spellbound. Another superb performance was done by RWC's Richard Cameron who portrayed Skelly Manner, the tragically misunderstood town lecher. Mr. Cameron received a well-deserved standing ovation in the middle of the performance for his monologue.

Despite a few slow moments, the cast delivered a conscientious, yet relaxed, performance.

Students in the Intro To Journalism course, here at RWC, reviewed the play as an assignment. Here are a few excerpts from some of the reviews:

"...good play with an excellent cast." - Mike Perry.

"...excellent in my opinion." - Robert Morris.

"...sometimes confusing yet gripping portrayal of small town life in Middle America." - Crm Shott.

"The acting was superb." - Jonathan Rothschild.

Cynthia (Chip) Pape, a theater student who played a Baptist mother in the play, told a QUILL staffer that the cast stood on their feet for approximately one hour and forty-five minutes without leaving the stage. She also said that because the regular actors were on the London Program, this gave the new actors a chance to develop themselves. The newly trained players parts that they would not normally be chosen for.

TOM CHAPIN WELL RECEIVED HERE

For those of you who missed the Tom Chapin Concert on Sunday, April 1, you missed quite a treat. At first, the audience was a bit unresponsive, yet with Tom's sense of humor and music abilities, it didn't take long for the audience to loosen up to a great performance. Tom called the audience participation, at first, in singing as the "Roger Williams Memorial Choir". Everyone got into the performance and enjoyed every minute of the concert. Tom said that "There's nothing more satisfying than something like this when the song comes off well and the audience, you create an evening that both will remember and for both of us works. The audience tonight was marvelous and ready to hear me and I was really into it!"

Not only is Tom a great musician but he is the former host of ABC's hit show, "Make A Wish!". The show has been on for five years and has taken the crew all over the world ending in Philadelphia last summer. The show has won the Peabody award in the show's first year. The Peabody, which is the most respected award, was awarded to the show as the best new children's television show. "Make A Wish!" also won an Emmy, the most famous award in television, for the best new informative children's program. Tom mentioned that he does not write the show but that a "...very talented writer, producer at ABC..." named Lester Cooper writes it. Tom said that Lester created the show "in a drunken haze one night." "The real artistry in the show is not the reference staff so much as the verbal twists that Lester puts to it!" Tom remarked.

Tom Chapin started playing music when he was twelve. He is now thirty, Tom and his brothers, Harry and Steve, started out as the "Chapin Brothers" which copied "The Weavers" and "The Kingston Trio", etc. Tom went through school playing bands. He grew up in New York City and he currently lives in Brooklyn, New York. Tom went to high school there, and after which he went to college in up state New York where he played a lot of basketball. After finishing school, Tom did the film "Blue Water, White Death". He started a band, after finishing the movie, with his younger brother, Steve, called "The Chapins" and Harry was writing songs for it. Tom described the band as "An eclectic, folk-rock act." While Tom was in this band, their manager, Paul Colby, mentioned to Tom about the TV show, After a screen test, etc., the choice for the host came down either John Denver or Tom. Tom came out the winner as a result of Denver's turning down the offer.

Now that his show has been cancelled, not because of its high ratings but as a result of, as Tom puts it, television politics. Tom is currently emphasizing concerts and music. "About a year and a half ago, I got very heavily into writing. I have always written melodies but have shied away from lyrics probably because Harry is so prolific and Steve is also a good writer", "I have been in and out of films...so I am sure I will be doing that sort of thing". "Basically, I'm sort of hanging loose but concentrating right now on a concert career, trying to set up a situation where there is an audience who knows me and wants to hear me...and that's much more exciting than television or movies or anything else".

Again, it was a great night of entertainment for all and, in fact, after the performance, Tom joined all down in the 'Rat' for an after show celebration!

Baseball Team Off To Good Start

Last week, Roger Williams College opened its baseball season with a double-header against Dartington College.

In the opener, the Hawks won 8-7 while losing the second game 1-0. The Warrior's Hew Ventura pitched the two-hit shut out.

Bo Reis of Roger Williams smashed a double in the seventh inning of the first game scoring catcher Steve Gruzin, who had walked to lead off the inning. From second base with the winning run. Jack McKinnon picked up the victory in relief of starter Randy Clarkson.

In the second game, Hew Ventura throttled the Hawk attack. The only hits given up were to second baseman, Bob Reis, who hit a single and a triple. Barrington scored its winning run in the top of the fourth with a barrage of hits.

On April 3, RWC lost to Bryant College 5-1 at the Warren High School.

Timely hitting, clutch fielding and a few early miscues by the Hawks, helped Bryant to their fines victory of the season.

Jack McKinnon got it off on an unlucky start in the first inning that carried through the game. Two costly errors by his teammates in the fifth inning scored three unearned runs and put the game out of reach. McKinnon didn't allow an earned run, while giving up only five hits, striking out seven and walking three.

Roger Williams swept Nassau College in a double-header played at the Warren High School. In the opener, it was Roger Williams 2-1 in ten innings and 6-4 in a six inning game that was called on account of darkness.

The first game was scoreless until the top of the ninth when the Lions scored on a fielder's choice. The Hawks came back and tied the score in their half of the inning when Bob Scussel doubled home Larry Turner who had walked to lead off the inning. The winning run scored with two outs in the tenth, when Ron Nawrocki reached first on an error, was sacrificed to second by Steve Corbett and scored when Turner hit an infield pop-up that was dropped. Ron Nawrocki went all the way picking up his victory. He struck out four and walked three.

In the second game, the Hawks trailed 3-1 before combining five walks, four errors and two hits for a five run rally.

RWC Tennis

On Saturday, April 3, the RWC Tennis Team traveled to Cape Cod to meet with the CCOC. The Hawks beat CCOC 5-2 in the Hawk's second official match.

In the single's matches, 12 pro sets were played with Bob Carpenter winning 12 to 3, Bud Sahler winning 12 to 11, Brian Sarvetnick losing a close match 11 to 12 and Wayne Ziegler winning 12 to 2.

In the double matches, Brian and Wayne, Bud and Bob both won and Paul Munson and Butch Newman lost their match.

Two members of the RWC tennis team, Andy Wang and Bob Shorr, quit the team prior to the CCC-RWC match. Dick Yavkavonis, coach of the tennis team, said that "... school work comes first before practices... and matches". Because of this, Dick could expect his resignations. Bob Shorr explained to a QULL staffer that his "work piled up..." and that he didn't have enough time for both.

Andy Wang, Dick mentioned, hasn't shown up on many of the team practices. Dick said that Andy was told that if he continued not to show would be removed from the top 6 line-up. Andy was not available for comment. Dick also commented that Andy had other obligations to meet is the reason why he resigned.

RWC Chess

The RWC Chess Club won this year's Minor Division of the Rhode Island Chess League. This year's season began early in February and lasted until the last week in March. This year there were 18 members of the club, 14 students and 4 teachers.

Dr. George A. Picorilli, a professor in the Biology Department at RWC, has just completed his fourth year as head of the Chess Club. Prior to Picorilli's management of the club, there was no formal club at RWC.

Players on the team are rated by the R.I. Chess Association. Depending on their individual standings, members play their opponents according to each other's rating. Some of the standings of the players are:

- Dr. Picorilli, 1399
- Ron Scullly, 1350
- Brian Sarvetnick, 1194
- and Gordon Gurney, 1090.

The Chess Club will be an award team and individual trophies at the All Star Bowl which will be held at Brown University's Wilson Hall on Fri-

REVIEW
AN EVENING WITH WOOD DANCER

For want of better words, the group "Wood Dancer" which performed for a somewhat eager crowd at the student center last Friday night, might be described as an acoustic, classical duo indulging in stylistic innovation on six and twelve strings. They rather describe their music in simpler terms but that is what it sounded like in a mish-mash of musical mutation resulting in the listeners' internal interest, confusion, and eventual rigor mortis of the ear.

This is to mean that the two aren't technically proficient at their craft, to the contrary they are; their clean, articulate guitar work and smooth vocals convinced me that they do have talent, a lot, but they lack direction in their song writing. A master chef might be as equally proficient at making brownies as he would be at making fine Italian cuisine, but would you eat a dessert he made with a crock pot? That is what they do have talent, a lot, song writing. A master chef at making brownies as he might be as equally proficient would be at making fine Italian cuisine, but would you eat a dessert he made with a crock pot? The Trinity Square Repertory Company will complete its 1975-76 season with the world premiere production of "After the Rehearsal" and the works," by Adrian Hall and Richard Cumming. Based on the James Purdy novel, the production opened on April 2 in the downstairs Lederer Playhouse, and will continue through the month of April. The production presents the involved relationships of a group of young people in Chicago during the depression of the 30's. Writer-director Adrian Hall considers the upcoming production a show of the Trinity's loving tribute to a great American novel... abortion and unemployment... sex and homosexugin... the Roosevelt children... Chicago in the Great Depression. The production is the world premiere of "Wood Dancer" by the group's Isabel McCullough and Michael Cutler, which performed for a large and enthusiastic crowd last Friday night, and which was their rendition of the RWC campus. "Wood Dancer" failed to generate any real excitement. "Rare acoustic music" yes, but not necessarily entertaining.

The production, which is recommended for mature audiences, has been designed by Louise Warren, with costumes designed by Mark Rippe and costumes by Ben Lewis. The cast, directed by Hall, includes: William Damkoehler, Peter Gerety, Richard Kavanough, Richard Koeveland, Barbara Meek, Margo Skinner, Cynthia Erickson and Daniel Van Bergen.

The Newport-Bristol campus will be held at the Sheraton Islander on April 23. A cocktail hour will be held be­tween 7 and 8, dinner between 8 and 10 and dancing with "Jubilation" between 10 and 2.

Tickets are now available to all RWC students and faculty by contacting: Patty Coombs, Bob Cassidy, Denise deVillers and/or Jim Whiffen.

ty, the ownership of the property is not on a 50-50 scale. The law states that whoever paid for the property owns it, so if a husband dies, the wife's contributions in caring for the property does not entitle her to any share of the marital property. In the area of employment laws, women who have the same job as a man does not receive equal pay. For example, a woman at Brown University's Psychology Department with the same qualifications as a man was denied equal pay under the law.

There is a lot of discrimination in the area of criminal law. In Massachusetts, a man was indicted for selling his sexual services but when the case came to trial, the judge declared that "only women could be prostitutes".

Although legislation and judicial decisions have tried to achieve equality under the law. Some of these laws have been unsuccessful, the only way to achieve equality would be through a constitutional amendment.

GIVE A PINT

In the recent past Roger Williams College has donated blood in excess of 120 pints. This type of direct community involvement is something to be proud of.

You might wonder how the blood you donate is used. Some examples are as follows: Surgery may be scheduled on a man to repair a defective lung. Six pints of blood from the donor are used. An elderly man needed an exchange transfusion, a fresh pint of blood from the blood drive was utilized. An automobile accident victim was admitted to the emergency room and needed 4 pints to stay alive while a team of doctors worked on him. Two hospitals called the day after the blood drive and borrowed 12 pints collected at the blood drive. The sister hospital of St. Jo­

Robert Stone, author of two novels, "Hall of Mirrors" published in 1964 and "Dog Soldiers" recently published at Roger Williams College on March 16. The first evening on campus, which opened with "Aquarius Obscured," to a lecture hall of students and the next night, with a short presentation from the students in a creative writing class, Stone received the Guggenheim Fellowship for "The Hall of Mirrors." Mr. Stone started writing when he was 16. He was stopped when he was in the navy, four or five years, except for one short story. In 1971, he was a journalist in Vietnam. His next book will be in 16th century Germany, about his character, Stone. "I think those book will reflect the circumstances of my life, except that I have worked in radio, that I have been a reporter in Vietnam. On a level of which certain characters may remain but the resemblance is all apart of me." When Stone began writing, the material helped him inspired but he believes, now, that inspiration has come from inside. In 1970 and also received the Honorary Fellowship for "The Hall of Mirrors."石先生在1971年开始写作。在1971年，他成为了一名越南的记者。他的下一部书将在16世纪的德国，关于他的角色石。他认为这些书会反映他生活的情况，除了他在电台工作，他在越南当记者。灵感来自于内心。1970年和1971年，他也获得了荣誉全会会士的提名。
