Welcome From President Rizzini

It is a pleasure to welcome back all of you who are returning for another year. I know that you will continue to find Roger Williams College to be a place of good influences where you will continue to learn to the fullest and to grow in those areas of responsibility which will reflect credit upon yourself, your family, your college and your community.

This fall the medium of the Quill will extend a special greeting to all new students. I hope that you will find the College worthy of your expectations.

Finally, to those students who are about to start college in their first year, I want to welcome you to one of life's major steps. It marks the true beginning of adulthood for you who have accepted the full responsibility for your own progress.

The task of Roger Williams College is to give you the tools to make you think. Your task is to take full advantage of this opportunity. All of us in this college community hope that you achieve nothing but success in your college years.

RWC announced on August 23 that it will sell five buildings at the former Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical complex to a firm that plans to convert the buildings, at a cost of about $8 million, into housing for the elderly and handicapped.

President Rizzini said the school will sell the buildings for $600,000 to Bristol Acres Associates, a new firm consisting of the E. Turgeon Construction Corp. of Cranston and Consultant's, Inc. of Providence.

Consultants Inc. will serve as the project manager. The Bristol Town Administrator will serve as the general contractor. They plan to convert the buildings, tentatively to be known as "Bristol Acres," into 150-200 one- and two-bedroom apartment units. The project also will include a lounge, community center and crafts area.

The Kaiser complex, which consists of 46 inactive buildings on 18 acres of land in downtown Bristol, was acquired by the college last October.

Four years ago, amidst the early August tranquility, Dick Yakovonis joined RWC as a newly created position of Assistant Director of Residential Life. One week later the Director of Residence Life resigned for greener pastures, and Dick not knowing the system nor anyone in it, was thrown to the R.A.s to lead them...and to gain their respect. (eds)

The most difficult duty that I had to execute was to ask my first student to vacate the dorms and move off-campus. I remember getting up for three hours sleep that night, mainly because I realized I was affecting another individual's life so drastically and maybe in essence, I was depriving him of a college education which is of high priority in my value system. Well, I did it and a semester later that same student ran into me on campus and thanked me for my action. He stated his life style was more suited to off-campus life, he was much happier and his grades had improved.

Realistically looking back on Housing's accomplishments and improvements of the past four years, I feel the following were most significant: An diminishing of the amount of drugs being used by students on campus, especially the hard drugs; the promotion of alternate living situations like the Biology Units, Co-Ed living, Unit 7 and 8 and the North Campuses; stimulating physical improvements done by the students themselves that they would have more pride in their living environment; increases in the quality and quantity of student activities; and finally, the promotion of mutual respect principle, making for a better communal living situation.

I strongly feel that the quality of dormitory life has improved drastically over the past four years to a point where it is now considered desirable to live residentially at Roger Williams. Our retention of returning students has doubled in the four year period, which tells you it must be an "ok" place to live. Don't think for one minute that I, myself, am taking credit for all of this success in Housing at RWC, but I am just glad to be a part of it. Bill O'Connell, Dean McKenna, Hector Massa, Paul Nalette and most importantly, the R.A. staff have all worked hard to make Roger Williams College a better institution of higher education.

College Sells Kaiser Buildings

The five three-story brick buildings that will go to the Bristol Acres Associates consist of a four-building, square structure known as the quadrangle and an adjoining building. The 5.5-acre parcel is in the northwest corner of the complex, bordered by Franklin and Wood Streets.

President Rizzini made the announcement at the Castle restaurant accompanied by Francis E. Ducharme, president of Turgeon Construction and Antoine L. Giorgetti, president of Consultants Inc. and Bristol Town Administrator Anthony E. Agatiello. Agatiello said he was "elated" by the announcement for three reasons: the plans will do away with what had been a "white elephant," the town "is in dire need of housing for the handicapped," and the project will return a portion of the Kaiser complex to the tax role. "That is why I sit here smiling," Agatiello said.

 Continued on Back Page

FAREWELL PONDERINGS by Dick Yakovonis

Robert F. McKenna has been promoted from dean of student services to the new position of vice-president for administrative and student affairs at Roger Williams. It has been announced by President Rizzini.

As vice-president, he will oversee all non-academic areas of the college, including finance, student affairs, auxiliary services, physical facilities, personnel, purchasing and data processing.

R.W.C. Class of '78

A graduate of the University of Rhode Island with a B.A. in accounting, and a M.A. in Economics, Mr. McKenna is a doctoral degree candidate with a concentration in higher education administration at Nova University, Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Mr. McKenna joined the faculty at Roger Williams College in 1963 as an instructor in accounting and economics. Shortly thereafter, he was appointed chairman of the Student Affairs Committee.

Seniors Class Elects Officers

The RWC Senior Class of 1979 has held elections for their officers. Congratulations to the following people:

President: Jon Williams
Vice President: Lynda Parker
Secretary: Hope Holthrust
Treasurer: Bruce Stark

The officers expressed their appreciation to all who voted. Your voice was heard!

I feel the quality and the seriousness of the students at RWC has improved each year, which means we have a greater number of students who wish to learn and grow. Students are serious about our college education and not just dodging the draft, but realizing that to get ahead in this highly educated society they are going to need more than a degree. With more conscientious students to select from than applicants last year, I firmly believe that the R.A. staff has become more and more professional over the years to better meet the students needs and act as appropriate role models. The R.A. is, an essential and integral part of the entire college system, because if he or she who work the 'front line' and is the...
Scott is excited about the opportunities that he has to offer. He hopes to help make Aquidneck a place where students want to live. He believes himself ready to meet this challenge, and he hopes the students living there are also ready for it. He sees the Aquidneck Hall as almost a fraternity or sorority type of living situation, with the students living in a family type atmosphere. He does realize, however, that there may be some control or discipline problems at the beginning.

"With no RA’s, Debbie and I will have to be very much a team; we will have to be there more and take on, extra responsibility ourselves. And the students will have to feel responsible for their actions — they have to understand that, if they want to live here, they may have to work on it. And they want to feel that they could come to us with an idea or a problem."

Scott does not see too many discipline or rowdiness problems arising, however. He believes that the Mutual Concern and Respect Principle will play a very useful role at Aquidneck. As students take responsibility for their actions, he feels that they will keep each other under control.

While attending Roger Williams as a junior, Scott was a major in Psychology and American Studies, receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree. He was also a Head Resident Assistant for two years and a House Manager for one year. He is a Beatles fan, he plays the guitar, and just this summer he learned how to juggle. And like most red-blooded single guys, he likes any girl and all types of girls “depending on what type of mood I am in.” Good luck, ladies.

Debbie Chauvaureaux, one of the two Aquidneck Hall night managers, firmly believes that Aquidneck will be an excellent living situation for the students who will be rooming there, for a number of reasons. She sees a great opportunity for the new freshman students living there, who will be going through what is often a difficult transition period together, to gain strength from each other and to grow into a tight “community” that will be bicultural, multinational, and with personal friendships developing. "Scott and I are both Ridgefield guys. We both like Aquidneck going on at the Hall, including dances, movies, educational services, etc. and we believe this will lead to a strong sense of community in the students. The kids won’t be left here as they sometimes are when they come to college as freshmen. They will belong."

Aqidneck Hall will not have Resident Assistants, only the two managers. This will force Debbie to be somewhat of a ‘taskmaster’, particularly early in the semester, she explained. However, she believes that this role will diminish later on in the year as the students come to realize that without respect for the halls and the residents, there will be very little cooperation. However, they believe that this will not be one of their first year students’ concerns.

Approval of the RWC dorms was expressed by Pete. "I like the layout, not too much style of dormitories of other colleges." He has Bachelors of Science degree in Psychology and Physics and a Master in Counseling Education. Although a New Englander at heart, his experience with emotionally disturbed adolescents as a recreation counselor in Texas has almost two years.

Pete sees a big advantage in having a counselor as a disciplinarian, although he says, "My position entails discipline as well as counseling and regulations and following them is extremely important in order to earn respect." Pete feels the RA’s will have to use whatever methods necessary in doing their job. He does believe that some RA’s may have a difficult job for the upcoming year. RWC’s newest bachelor doesn’t swing until a special friend visits from the cold country of New Hampshire. In his words, "They might see him occasional at the campus bar, or something ...

The3 Quill is new and different. But not only the format, but the Q staff are very easy to work with, and the attitudes of all who are involved.

Past years have proved an un-stabilizing influence on the school paper. Now the students have their own Aquidneck building; therefore no damage to it could be tolerated. And with only two Dorm Managers, neither feels that they could get too much slack off it or it could get out of control.

Debbie does not see too many discipline or rowdiness problems arising, however. He believes that the Mutual Concern and Respect Principle will play a very useful role at Aquidneck. As students take responsibility for their actions, she feels that they will keep each other under control. She was a member of the varsity basketball, track and swimming teams while at college, and enjoys playing the guitar. She is a “Beatle fanatic, he plays the guitar, and just this summer he learned how to juggle. And like most red-blooded single guys, he likes any girl and all types of girls “depending on what type of mood I am in.” Good luck, ladies.

Debbie Chauvaureaux, one of the two Aquidneck Hall night managers, firmly believes that Aquidneck will be an excellent living situation for the students who will be rooming there, for a number of reasons. She sees a great opportunity for the new freshman students living there, who will be going through what is often a difficult transition period together, to gain strength from each other and to grow into a tight “community” that will be bicultural, multinational, and with personal friendships developing. "Scott and I are both Ridgefield guys. We both like Aquidneck going on at the Hall, including dances, movies, educational services, etc. and we believe this will lead to a strong sense of community in the students. The kids won’t be left here as they sometimes are when they come to college as freshmen. They will belong."

Aqidneck Hall will not have Resident Assistants, only the two managers. This will force Debbie to be somewhat of a ‘taskmaster’, particularly early in the semester, she explained. However, she believes that this role will diminish later on in the year as the students come to realize that without respect for the halls and the residents, there will be very little cooperation. However, they believe that this will not be one of their first year students’ concerns.

Approval of the RWC dorms was expressed by Pete. "I like the layout, not too much style of dormitories of other colleges." He has Bachelors of Science degree in Psychology and Physics and a Master in Counseling Education. Although a New Englander at heart, his experience with emotionally disturbed adolescents as a recreation counselor in Texas has almost two years.

Pete sees a big advantage in having a counselor as a disciplinarian, although he says, "My position entails discipline as well as counseling and regulations and following them is extremely important in order to earn respect." Pete feels the RA’s will have to use whatever methods necessary in doing their job. He does believe that some RA’s may have a difficult job for the upcoming year. RWC’s newest bachelor doesn’t swing until a special friend visits from the cold country of New Hampshire. In his words, "They might see him occasional at the campus bar, or something ...

The3 Quill is new and different. But not only the format, but the Q staff are very easy to work with, and the attitudes of all who are involved.

Past years have proved an un-stabilizing influence on the school paper. Now the students have their own Aquidneck building; therefore no damage to it could be tolerated. And with only two Dorm Managers, neither feels that they could get too much slack off it or it could get out of control.

Debbie does not see too many discipline or rowdiness problems arising, however. He believes that the Mutual Concern and Respect Principle will play a very useful role at Aquidneck. As students take responsibility for their actions, she feels that they will keep each other under control. She was a member of the varsity basketball, track and swimming teams while at college, and enjoys playing the guitar. She is a “Beatle fanatic, he plays the guitar, and just this summer she learned how to juggle. And like most red-blooded single guys, he likes any girl and all types of girls “depending on what type of mood I am in.” Good luck, ladies.
On August 23, 1978 the Board of Trustees of RWC announced the sale of five dorms to a complex to a partnership headed by the Turgeon Construction Co. These buildings will be adapted for senior citizen housing and represent the first step in the College's attempt to re-use the vacant buildings at Kaiser, for the benefit of both the College and the senior citizen community of San Francisco. The College will benefit by the money received, and the educational opportunities presented, while the community will gain better housing for its elderly residents and see the return of these vacant buildings to the active tax role. I would like to take this opportunity to acquaint the college community with the various steps in this sale and indicate some of the implications this has for us.

The College has been receiving unsolicited proposals for portions of the Kaiser plan ever since it was donated to the College in October of 1977. An internal committee at faculty, students, staff and other members of the college has been meeting since November of 1977 to work on plans for the buildings. A special team-taught course last January also worked on plans and designs for the site. Out of this process came a recommendation that the College consider selling some buildings for elderly housing. This sale will provide the College with much-needed businesslike financial and educational resources. During the Spring of 1978, the Board of Trustees accepted this aspect of the recommended plan through they did add another building to the 4 recommended for sale by the Committee and asked interested developers to submit bids by July 14, 1978. Four formal bids were submitted at that time, and on July 20, 1978 those members of the Internal Committee who could be reached met and reviewed the proposals. The Committee passed a resolution supporting one of the proposals and passed this along to the Board. Their decision was announced and indicated above.

The Board did not decide to accept the offer which was recommended by the Internal Committee, but did so on the basis of "clarification" information that was not available to the Committee on July 20. There acceptance of the Turgeon bid was based on their belief that it offered the best and most secure financial terms for the College. While I have pertinent questions about this and would have continued my support for the bid recommended by the Internal Committee, it should be recognized that this proposal had an element of "gambling" to it, and with this College's precarious financial position, the Board did not believe they should take that chance. Thus, the Board's decision was not surprising but it was in the best interests of RWC.

The RWC community has, unfortunately, a history of bad relations with our Board of Trustees, but I believe this is one instance where we can thank them for a job well done. The financial and educational benefits that will accrue to the College in the coming years will be very significant. This process has also witnessed a significant decision made by our Board. While this was not total and large areas of non communication existed even during this process, I believe a change has started. The Board has been able to continue its work planning for the rest of the year. I hope this will be done by building on the positive aspects of the just completed process, and not by latching onto the remaining negative ones. Though this is only a partial first step in reversing the negative perception of the Board, we must take it as a step in the right direction. We should be grateful for the financial and educational benefits the Board has given the College at this time and also thankful that a decision was made to continue with the Capital campaign to potentially reversing the negative interaction the Board has had with the students of the College community.

Point Counter-Point

Should Dogs Be Allowed on Campus?

PRO

The recent decision to no longer allow dogs on the RWC campus is no surprise, but it is a disap pointment for a number of reasons.

Dogs do more than create problems. They bring laughter and love to the cold, businesslike world that is today's society. They give us a chance to enjoy ourselves and forget about our worries for a short while. When a person graduates and is out in the real world, he is left behind because he must learn now what his co-workers or colleagues had discovered while they were in school.

Student input is necessary if Roger Williams is to continue to improve and grow. Without it, the college cannot adapt to the people who remain immobile. More importantly, students should become involved for a selfish reason: the tremendous personal opportunities it will give them for their own personal growth.

CON

Okay, you probably think because I'm on this side of the column that I hate dogs, take candy away of all my children, etc. WRONG! I love dogs - em

I just don't dig the dirty looks and snide remarks of the Instructor because he is my brother and is lecting me and wagging his tail profusely, enjoying the gales of guffaws from everyone else in the room. I can even hide under the table talking instead of going to the bathroom.

I am also one of many who goes into an almost epileptic fit thru the nose and eyes everytime funny little puppy wags its tail.

You may think I am a character of little importance and here in the College, but you would have been proudest if I stepped into a "pooie" outside my own house. I actually told a few little words:

"Who's a very generous. I always give left-over to my dog, but in the Student Center, canine visitors want the main course before I sit down to the table!"

Dogs are warm, friendly neighbors to all of us. Should they be left out of their place. Until the school can afford to build dorms for dogs (not high on their priority list at the moment) I must agree that canine students should remain immobile. Dorms are not the place for our little canine companions.

Meanwhile, Scarlom
BUSINESS CLUB

Brought out of obscurity by President Lynne Hart and Vice President Steve Shea, the Business Club is the club that offers new horizons for growth and new heights of education and well-raising. The club plans such events as a trip to the New York Stock Exchange; a trip which definitely will not be boring as it sounds. A Business Club meeting takes place every Thursday at Mr. T's Side Door Saloon. The club meets for this year. This year will feature such meetings as: P.I. Club and Contest, a men's Tee Suit contest and much more. The club is open to students of all majors.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS

The purpose of the A.S.C.E. is to give students the opportunity to get to know people in the field of civil engineering. They also meet with other societies in the Rhode Island, Connecticut, and Massachusetts area. Each year the society undertakes a major project. In the past they have constructed a concrete canoe and raced it at the Aquidneck Hall. How the heck am I supposed to do that? There are also three buses, and students can pick up nomination papers in the Social Science Division or Bill Winter, 1 South.

PHYSIOLOGY CLUB

After a great beginning last Spring, the Physiology Club is ready for another great year. We were formed last February from a group of physiology students that got together after class in the lab. These students wanted to get closer to the Physiology Division teachers, as well as others, both on a student - teacher level, and on a professional level. The Psychology Club members are also working to advance their own classroom education in the field.

We have a lot of things planned for this new year. We are going to the Eastern Psychological Association Convention in Philadelphia this spring. (Last year 35 students and faculty went.) We are also planning movies, trips to local conferences and workshops, a Psychology Fair for prospective students, and other interested high school seniors, who can pick up nomination papers in the Social Science Division or Rob Walker, Aquidneck Hall.

URBAN AND ENVIRONMENTAL PLANNING SOCIETY

The purpose of this unique organization is to educate public and students about the environmental impact that students have with city planners in Bristol and exchange ideas about how to improve living conditions. For more information contact Kevin Jordan or Khalil Al-Hamoudi, in CL 142.

EDITOR’S NOTE

Aquidneck Hall. It's a must to contact the Club and now is the time for all students to help themselves and become involved in R.W.C.

As of now, you may already know, the Student Senate is the strongest and strongest of the student body. The senators and other involved students are the student voices on many of the college committees which found the basis for our future and that of the college itself. Aside from these gatherings of students, faculty, and administrators, other committees of the senate work on such things as parking, budget allocations, social events, etc.

The Student Senate Social Committee provides most of the dances, movies and other activities of the college. This committee is always looking for new members and new ideas.

Every fall semester, freshmen or transfer students are elected to join the Student Senate. Each position is filled by a presidential election, which were the previous April. These 15 people make up our Student Senate but many more students are needed. You can make a difference in what happens here at Roger Williams College and the only way you can be accomplished, whether it be changing something or starting something new, is to help us do it. By ourselves, we are handicapped, but together we can make it happen.

Freshmen and transfer students interested in running for the Student Senate this year, particularly freshmen attending the Student Senate on the Lower Level of the Student Center and return it with a printed page stating your interests, views, and reasons for becoming a senator.

Anyone interested is welcome to stop by the Senate Office or come and talk to us. We would be happy to find out more about what YOU can do. Feel free to drop by and tell us what's on your mind.

Stop-Line stops the round-around, anxiously waiting for the lunch hour problems. Write Stop-Line through the Stop-Line, and if you need a high school math or science help, be sure to be examined by our staff and as many questions as possible answered in the Quill. No questions can be answered personally because of time and staff restrictions.

Why do I have to take Expository Writing, I can’t write a good enough paper already. - W.L.

SCIENCE FICTION CLUB

From Messier 13 to the Dog Star Sirius, from a galaxy far, far away, to where no man has gone before, the Science Fiction Club is part of a successful year. As a result of the advancements of science fiction, this club is made up of story writers and sci-fi experts, be they the future or the future may or may not hold. The club is not only confined with the local bards of juvenile Spock ear freaks. This is a serious group of people who share their imagination, interest in science, and science fiction. This election year, students can look forward to hearing many candidates from Rhode Island. No offers have been elected for this academic year, so all interested students are welcome. Students can contact Janie Szarek and Bradfute and Rob Walker, Aquidneck Hall.

PODARABAN

There is an organization that provides a forum for all interested students in politics. The political forum takes place every Thursday in the Sirus room. Through lectures, discussions and speakers, the political forum provides for this through lectures, discussions and speakers. In this election year, students can attend their first meeting, during the second week of school. The person to contact to get more information please contact Kevin Jordan or Khalil Al-Hamoudi.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

Have you ever wondered what it was like to live in the Middle East, after being in Israel? Saudi Arabia, Iraq or Thailand? The International Club is the place to find out. This is the place to meet foreign students, study their heritage, country and language. They have dances, cooking presentations, slides and movies. The International Club is open to all students, regardless of their heritage. For more information, please contact Mr. Al-Hamoudi.

POLITICAL FORUM

The United Minority Coalition, spawnd from the minds of Eric Garrett, Viola Covington, and a host of others, is an assembly of Ebony minds with great promise for the coming year. Best on showing a sometimes misguided camps that people of color can do more than tap-dance and call greens, the club swells with both pride and style. Fashion shows, trips, and Disco parties are planned for this year. This club is a must for people who take pride in their heritage and are ready to admit that Black is Beautiful.

U.M.C.

Have you ever wondered what it was like to live in the Middle East, after being in Israel? Saudi Arabia, Iraq or Thailand? The Inter-Club is the place to find out. This is the place to meet foreign students, study their heritage, country and language. They have dances, cooking presentations, slides and movies. The International Club is open to all students, regardless of their heritage. For more information, please contact Mr. Al-Hamoudi.

SAILING TEAM & CLUB

One walk around campus and you will notice that we are completely blessed by water. This year we are going to form a sailing club. Two years ago, some R.W.C sailors took the first leg of this club and formed an intercollegiate sailing team that also offers club sailing. This team has had many victories over national powers. This year the Boston College Trophy last season against eleven various faculty member teams. Team member Dave Kurt tied third with Túls against 13 competing schools like Yale, Brown, MIT, and Wesleyan. The team also placed third in the New England College Sailing Championships. This unique organization is recognized as both a club and an athletic team. They offer both team sailing and club sailing. So, if you are interested, be one, come to our first meeting, during the second week of school.

ENGINEERS OF PROGRESS

In this election year, students can attend their first meeting, during the second week of school. The person to contact to get more information please contact Kevin Jordan or Khalil Al-Hamoudi.

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate of Roger Williams College wishes to take this opportunity to extend a warm and hearty welcome to the Body and the rest of the college community.

The Student Senate plays an important role here at Roger Williams College and one of the student body. The senators and other involved students are the student voices on many of the college committees which found the basis for our future and that of the college itself. Aside from these gatherings of students, faculty, and administrators, other committees of the senate work on such things as parking, budget allocations, social events, etc.

The Student Senate Social Committee provides most of the dances, movies and other activities of the college. This committee is always looking for new members and new ideas.

Every fall semester, freshmen or transfer students are elected to join the Student Senate. Each position is filled by a presidential election, which were the previous April. These 15 people make up our Student Senate but many more students are needed. You can make a difference in what happens here at Roger Williams College and the only way you can be accomplished, whether it be changing something or starting something new, is to help us do it. By ourselves, we are handicapped, but together we can make it happen.

Freshmen and transfer students interested in running for the Student Senate this year, particularly freshmen attending the Student Senate on the Lower Level of the Student Center and return it with a printed page stating your interests, views, and reasons for becoming a senator.

Anyone interested is welcome to stop by the Senate Office or come and talk to us. We would be happy to find out more about what YOU can do. Feel free to drop by and tell us what's on your mind.

Box 71 Phone:255-2200

11 ·1

FINANCIAL ARGUING)

The Dean of Students and the faculty have worked long hours to plan a bus schedule to fit the needs of Aquidneck and Ramada students. The results and a related story can be found on page 5 of this issue. There are some problems that are both good and a writer, why aren't you on the Quill staff?

HELP! I am a freshman living at Ramada, and I need to get back and forth to the psychology classes, when I live nine miles away. -A.H.

Your question has been on the minds of a lot of the Administration. The Dean of Students and the faculty have worked long hours to plan a bus schedule to fit the needs of Aquidneck and Ramada students. The results and a related story can be found on page 5 of this issue. There are some problems that are both good and a writer, why aren't you on the Quill staff?

HELP! I am a freshman living at Ramada, and I need to get back and forth to the psychology classes, when I live nine miles away. -A.H.

Your question has been on the minds of a lot of the Administration. The Dean of Students and the faculty have worked long hours to plan a bus schedule to fit the needs of Aquidneck and Ramada students. The results and a related story can be found on page 5 of this issue. There are some problems that are both good and a writer, why aren't you on the Quill staff?

HELP! I am a freshman living at Ramada, and I need to get back and forth to the psychology classes, when I live nine miles away. -A.H.

Your question has been on the minds of a lot of the Administration. The Dean of Students and the faculty have worked long hours to plan a bus schedule to fit the needs of Aquidneck and Ramada students. The results and a related story can be found on page 5 of this issue. There are some problems that are both good and a writer, why aren't you on the Quill staff?

HELP! I am a freshman living at Ramada, and I need to get back and forth to the psychology classes, when I live nine miles away. -A.H.

Your question has been on the minds of a lot of the Administration. The Dean of Students and the faculty have worked long hours to plan a bus schedule to fit the needs of Aquidneck and Ramada students. The results and a related story can be found on page 5 of this issue. There are some problems that are both good and a writer, why aren't you on the Quill staff?

HELP! I am a freshman living at Ramada, and I need to get back and forth to the psychology classes, when I live nine miles away. -A.H.

Your question has been on the minds of a lot of the Administration. The Dean of Students and the faculty have worked long hours to plan a bus schedule to fit the needs of Aquidneck and Ramada students. The results and a related story can be found on page 5 of this issue. There are some problems that are both good and a writer, why aren't you on the Quill staff?

HELP! I am a freshman living at Ramada, and I need to get back and forth to the psychology classes, when I live nine miles away. -A.H.
Don't be fooled by the facade of serenities covering the doomsick of Denis LaFreniere. "Skeet," his friends call him (besides numerous others which we've sold) hail from Bethlehem, Connecticut. Now in his last year at RWC, Skeet is constantly dashing from the Student Senate Office (he holds the Veep position for the second year in a row); to the dormroom he has signed up as the Q photographer and, lucky us, he's the best around!); to the dormrooms because he is a Resident Assistant on the 2nd Floor South (rumor is that he'll be one of the bests to the ocean underground with his scuba gear (as a member of the Diving Club); and in his "SPACE" time, to one of the places he enjoys most - Sambos making eyes at Daine!

One of the most appropriate things about Skeet is that he was one of the college Budweiser College Superstars last year (where they won the State and the Regionals, and came in fifth in the Nation). He has never been one to pass up a beer on Superstars last year (where he was a frosh. He remembers that he was a Dean Latle in Unit One."

As a Hot Preservation major, Monica's instructor finds her a conscientious audience, although DiMauro, after seeing one of her drawings, piped: "She has trees growing in her fence!" (I wouldn't let worry her, Monica...)

"She also hates to be written off" pipes in Fred again! "Friends describe Monica as a "down to earth girl" who doesn't have her head stuck in the clouds...!

Monica Letournet, the name of the attractive petite brunettes, who hails from Worcester Mass., rings familiar to many who worked in the dormroom. In a number of her school activities she finds herself involved in, including a new one this year, R.A. of Unit 8.

"As Secretary of the Student Senate last year, Monica will again represent students as a senator this year. She will also be involved with the Social Committee and her warm and friendly personality, as attested to by fellow Student Government peer, Fred DiMauro, invites good relationships with those whom she works.

One exception to this rule applies only to the Liberal Arts freshman, who will be special need that we are not aware of, please feel free to come to the Housing Office that day at any time. We are located in Tower A-Dorm I. We would also like to wish all of you the best of luck this year at RWC.

Grama's Clean Cut 100% off wash service With this Coupon- Month of September Only 'Let us get to know you' Wash, Dry & Fold Bulk Dry Cleaning

Quill Room Assignment Rationale

One of the most staggering statistics about Roger Williams College is that our Dormitory population has more than doubled in the past five years. Everything possible to meet this increased demand has been done. The old Nike base (now the North Campus) was acquired, and one of the buildings located there has been converted into a dormitory that houses 40 students. The fifth floor of Dormitory II, which had not previously been used, was recently remodeled in order to accommodate an additional 30 students on campus.

However, with the demand for housing still on the rise, it has been decided that instead of turning students away when all the rooms are filled, we would offer them the option of living in an off-campus housing, the Aquidneck Hall.

For more classrooms of living environments, it could quite obviously get very complicated when room assignments are made at an effort to solve some of these problems. A system has been developed that will attempt to assign rooms to the students based on where they would prefer to live. Of course, all of these individual requests cannot be met.

In March, the Housing office conducts a lottery wherein any returning student that has put down his/her dorm deposit can choose any occupied room in the Dormitories. We would like to live in, whether it be on campus, at the Aquidneck Hall. All the remaining rooms are assigned to the incoming students via their deposits on a first come, first served basis. The sooner the deposit is made the better the chances are of having your request met.

An exception to this rule applies to the Architectural Engineering Technology and the undecided Liberal Arts freshman, who will be residing at the Aquidneck Hall. The reason for this is because the Dean of Students, William O'Connell, must also set up a bus schedule around the students schedules so that they can get to campus on time for classes.

The students living at the Ramada Inn were responsible for the benefits that living in a hotel would entail. The rooms are much larger than those on campus, they all have double beds, they are carpeted, they each have a private bath, and maid service is provided. Students also have access to all the less facilities, including the coffee shop, pool, and heated swimming pool.

As you can see, there are certain advantages and disadvantages to each living environment that we offer. The housing office hopes that we have been able to meet most of your needs and requests wherever you may be living further.

Any student who would like a further explanation of why you are living where you are, or if you have a special need that we are not aware of, please feel free to come to the Housing Office that day at any time.

One year, when students returned from "PAC" from their summer jobs and vacations, they found a new addition to their lounges. This addition was four barrels marked "Green Glass", "Clear Glass", and "Aluminum Cans." Many students wondered as to the purpose of these barrels was.

What exactly is the purpose of these Recycling Systems? An estimated 10 tons of glass collected last year alone, with 500 lbs. of aluminum cans. Last year a ping pong table was awarded to Unit 2, for collecting the most recyclables during the fall semester. That floor won a pool table for collecting the most recyclables second semester.

This year, Recycling Systems is growing even stronger. Fred and Steve Fusco have plans for more than just recycling cans and bottles. "We hope to use the money that we have made from recycling to help fund our annual student activities, and to improve the quality of life for all students on campus."

According to Llewellyn, Already Recycling Systems, along with the help of Peter D'Arbes, has been able to pressure Rhode Island soda companies to provide RWC with an aluminum cans in the soda machines on campus.

Both Ramada and Aquidneck Hall have been added to this year's recycling contest. Weekly results will be posted in the Cafeteria. Results are compiled by the computer of bottles collected per person living in that unit. RWC hopes that everyone agrees for a fair and strong competition.

When asked what Recycling Systems plans to do with the grand prize to the floor that collects the most recyclables, neither Fusco nor D'Arbes was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us. However, the following week's plans to give away a color T.V. No one was ready to tell us.
NEWS FOR WOMEN

Women's Athletics: The women's athletic program is an integral part of the sports program at Roger Williams College. It is under the leadership of Athletic Director, Hector Messa.

An intramural sports program will be active throughout the year. This will include volleyball, basketball, and softball. Volleyball and basketball will be played at the Bristol Armory. The women's basketball and softball will be held on Saturday, October 14. The workshop will be led by Ms. Jane Schachter and Ms. Karen McGuire of Northeastern University, who are specialists in this field. During the workshop participants will work through a process which will assist them in making key decisions relevant to career choices. For further information about this workshop contact Lois Schuyler (2164) or Fran Kazantzi (2221).

HEALTH SERVICES:
In addition to the health services already provided by Roger Williams College, Ms. Ruth Purdy, director of the Health Services, has made arrangements for a Family Planning Clinic to be held on campus at the Health Services twice a month. There will be a charge for this clinic. The charge covers the cost of the examination and associated lab fees. For further information or an appointment call Health Services (2164). All services at Health Service are available to commuter and residential students. Except for Family Planning clinic all services are provided on campus are free.

Pregnancy counseling and abortion referral are available at all times. At no time. Health Service no appointment is necessary.

People:
Roger Williams College is fortunate to have within the community diverse, interesting and highly skilled women. You are urged to become acquainted with them. To assist you in getting to know them a series of articles about many of these women will appear in future articles of the Quill.

The purpose of the Women's Program is to provide opportunities and to encourage involvement of women at Roger Williams College. This article discusses some, but not all of the programs available to women.

The Women's Program Coordinator is Lois Schuyler. Lois has a dual role at the College. Two days a week she works as a registered nurse in the Health Service. The rest of her time is spent working with the Women's Program. As well as being involved with many of the programs listed above, Lois works with the resident assistant staff doing educational programs in perinatal contraception and related issues. In housing, women's athletics, Lois may reach her Health Service (2164) or through the Dean of Students Office 2138.

CROSS COUNTRY

Roger Williams Cross Country is back in full force this season. The top two runners from last season, freshmen sophomores are coming off a 20-10 mark, predicted for the team this year. Number one for the 77 season was freshman John Owen. John earned his number one spot by placing 9th in a field of 70 in the "Pop" Crowell invitational and with five freshman 5 mile times of 26.44 and 26.53. John should be ready for bigger and better performances this year.

John will be pushed by a number of people, among them last year's top two runner Bill Reddick and freshman Bill was a welcome addition to the team this season. Bill fit in right away with the most potential on the team. Bill displaced times of 27.04 and 27.07 last season. If Bill gets excited there's no telling how much he can improve.

On the heels of "Big Bill" last year's Freshman Pete Facinelli. With 27.04 and 27.17 times Pete is battling up there with the leaders. Primarily a sprinter, if Pete keeps it close the first few miles, other teams will be eating his dust at the finish. Last year's number four was sophomore Ed Dorn. Ed is ready to run. Practicing at a feverish pitch all year round, Ed is in top form. Ed's five mile time about 2 minutes lower than last year's 27.32 season best.

In the number five spot last season was sophomore Greg Vazdekis. Greg two years ago as a freshman ran 26.06 and 26.17 5 mile races, but HWC and came in 5th in the small college class. Last year Greg had an off season. If Greg comes back true to form he will be competing with the front runners.

Up and coming runners include Junior Dave Patlan. A runner in high school, Dave has been idle for the past two years. Last season the summer Dave had a 34.17 10,000 meter which came in 5th place, 7:38.5 5 mile. This kind of performance would probably put him in the top 5. Dave is ready and working hard in preparation for the upcoming season.

If you picture yourself a runner contact Coach Conway at CL 103 - 105 or Assistant Coach Ben Hellmann.

PSI CHI

No, Psi Chi is not the capitol of Greece. It is the national psychology honor society in psychology, and a chapter is being established at Roger Williams. The purpose of this organization is two-fold. The first is to provide academic recognition to its initiates by the mere fact of membership. The second is for the high eligibility standards, set by the national office, and membership is by invitation. The second purpose is to provide an atmosphere congenial for the academic and intellectual development of its initiates. This will be achieved by sponsoring and encouraging independent student research. The organization will attempt to spark the intellectual development of all students, initiatives or not.

The formal initiation ceremony is set for September 29, tentatively. If you have any questions or comments, please feel free to contact Rob Walker at Aquidneck Hall, or Joseph Neresnick, Social Science Division.
Somehow the wharf will become vacant of a departing train. The faces, so many oiled and red, line of people who carry yellow and blue shop bags...
Continued from Page 1

The firm will have to present its development proposal to various groups for review, including the Bristol Town Council and Zoning Board of Review, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and the State Housing and Mortgage Finance Corporation.

The zoning will have to be changed from industrial to residential. Agatiello said he would push for the change and could not see any difficulty in getting it.

It is expected that the review and government-financing process will take approximately eight months. The renovation and construction are expected to take about another 18 months to complete.

Ducharme said that Bristol Acres Associates would stay with the project after its completion. It will form or hire a managerial firm to run the complex after completion, he said.

"Bristol Acres Associates will own, maintain and operate the complex," Ducharme said. "We're here to stay."

The firm has put a $50,000 deposit on its deal with the college. Ducharme said. Even if approval and financing cannot be obtained from the government agencies, the $50,000 stays with the college, Ducharme said.

"We feel so strongly about the project that we were willing to undertake the step," Ducharme said.

Rizzini said that the two firms were picked out of four other firms to develop the complex after the college's board of trustees decided to convert a portion of the Kaiser site to housing for the elderly. The housing plan had been recommended to the trustees by a committee of faculty, administrators, staff and students, Rizzini said. The committee members, many of whom are Bristol County residents, consisted with representatives of various Bristol organizations. Rizzini said.

Rizzini said the college is studying proposals for other sections of the Kaiser site. He said these include academic uses, a theatre, museums, community uses and light, nonpolluting industry. He said the college has ruled out using the site for athletic activities.

"It is the general feeling that when we get an athletic facility it should be on campus," Rizzini said.

Continued from Page 1

Business Department. In 1969, McKenna was named associate dean of students for the Providence Campus, and upon the closing of that campus became director of auxiliary services, and later dean of administration for the college as a whole.

Ducharme said he would consult with the trustees by a majority vote. McKenna would be Bristol Acres. Associates will own, maintain and operate the complex, "We're here to stay."

The firm has put a $50,000 deposit on its deal with the college. Ducharme said. Even if approval and financing cannot be obtained from the government agencies, the $50,000 stays with the college, Ducharme said.

"We feel so strongly about the project that we were willing to undertake the step," Ducharme said.

Rizzini said that the two firms were picked out of four other firms to develop the complex after the college's board of trustees decided to convert a portion of the Kaiser site to housing for the elderly. The housing plan had been recommended to the trustees by a committee of faculty, administrators, staff and students, Rizzini said. The committee members, many of whom are Bristol County residents, consisted with representatives of various Bristol organizations. Rizzini said.

Rizzini said the college is studying proposals for other sections of the Kaiser site. He said these include academic uses, a theatre, museums, community uses and light, nonpolluting industry. He said the college has ruled out using the site for athletic activities.

"It is the general feeling that when we get an athletic facility it should be on campus," Rizzini said.

Continued from Page 1

Business Department. In 1969, McKenna was named associate dean of students for the Providence Campus, and upon the closing of that campus became director of auxiliary services, and later dean of administration for the college as a whole.

Ducharme said he would consult with the trustees by a majority vote. McKenna would be Bristol Acres. Associates will own, maintain and operate the complex, "We're here to stay."

The firm has put a $50,000 deposit on its deal with the college. Ducharme said. Even if approval and financing cannot be obtained from the government agencies, the $50,000 stays with the college, Ducharme said.

"We feel so strongly about the project that we were willing to undertake the step," Ducharme said.

Rizzini said that the two firms were picked out of four other firms to develop the complex after the college's board of trustees decided to convert a portion of the Kaiser site to housing for the elderly. The housing plan had been recommended to the trustees by a committee of faculty, administrators, staff and students, Rizzini said. The committee members, many of whom are Bristol County residents, consisted with representatives of various Bristol organizations. Rizzini said.

Rizzini said the college is studying proposals for other sections of the Kaiser site. He said these include academic uses, a theatre, museums, community uses and light, nonpolluting industry. He said the college has ruled out using the site for athletic activities.

"It is the general feeling that when we get an athletic facility it should be on campus," Rizzini said.