Karen Haskell Selected As New Dean of Students

By KIMBERLY NEWTON
Six months of national searches, meetings and formal interviews came to a halt this week when President of the college, William H. Rizzi, appointed Karen Haskell to fill the vacant Dean of Students position.

Haskell, the former associate dean of student life at Wheaton College, said she accepted the position "to provide a strong support system and atmosphere for students, and given to the Night student body, to help them meet and exceed their academic potential." Haskell holds a B.A. degree from Wheaton College and a M.A. degree from the University of Chicago. She has taught and conducted research in psychology, and is currently a professor of psychology at Wheaton College.

As New Dean of Students

Haskell said she will work to create a more welcoming and supportive environment for students on campus. She plans to implement a new program that will allow students to meet one-on-one with a faculty member to discuss their academic goals and progress. This program will be called the "Cornerstone Program" and will be open to all students.

Haskell also plans to establish a new student organization called the "Nightariat," which will be open to all students on campus. The Nightariat will provide a platform for students to express their ideas and concerns, and will serve as a liaison between the student body and the administration.

Problems At Almeida

Need Solving—Nalette

By BILL WINTER

Although admitting that students are unhappy with the Almeida Courts apartments, Night Manager Paul Nalette has charged that students there are upset about several aspects of the living conditions there.

Chief among these concerns are the poor mail system, inadequate security, and mounting maintenance problems, according to Nalette.

"We understand that everything wouldn’t be perfect when we got here," Nalette said, "but we realized there would be unforeseen difficulties—these problems should be straightened out."

West said there was a mail system for Almeida, which existed John M. O’Connell, who was dismissed as a "force," as the head of the living and learning program.

The Post Office has refused to deliver mail separately to Almeida, claiming it is a college dormitory. Because of this, all Almeida mail is separated out at the Mail Room, sorted by Housing Office work study students, and given to the Night Managers.

They must then spread it out for students to pick up, since the college does not have the keys to the individual mailboxes. The Night Manager is then forced to sit there for two hours, "like a cardboard box," he said.

This can be a better way to handle it, claimed Nalette. He suggested allowing mailroom work study students to do all the sorting and distribution, and said the college should use the mailboxes at Almeida.

"They have mailboxes," said Nalette. "Why use them?"

The lack of security is also a big concern of Nalette’s. Since the complex has no security guards, students are forced to face the buzzers themselves to enter.

BML Best Choice Claims Housing

Despite Drawbacks Such as Distance

By DAVID LEVIN

Agreeing that the Bristol Motel Lodge is not the perfect solution, BML Housing Director Tom Love said that the Bristol Motel Lodge was a lot better solution than having students live in a dormitory.

"The Bristol Motel Lodge is a lot better solution than having students live in a dormitory," said Love. "It provides a more comfortable and convenient living environment for our students."

Both Housing Directors, Barbara Love and Peter Sherman, believe that leaving the Bristol Motel Lodge this year was one of the better decisions made by the college.

In past years, Sherman and Love pointed out that many RWC students were forced to live on the other side of the Mount Hope Bay Bridge, either at the Ramada Inn or Aquidneck Hall. The Motel Lodge, on the other hand, is located only a few miles away, in a more convenient location.

If we didn’t leave the Motel Lodge, we might even have to turn students away," said Sherman.

Another major difference is the size of the students’ living quarters. The Motel Lodge is designed as an apartment complex, rather than a dormitory. Thus, each student lives in an apartment that has two rooms; a living room and a bedroom.

A final advantage is the privacy each student has. Each student has their own bathroom, complete with a refrigerator and sink. Students are able to have guests in their apartment, and can come and go as they please.

What Sort of RWC Store Sells Playboy?

What sort of man reads Playboy? As of last Friday, the RWC sort does, now that Roger’s Corner Store is selling that magazine, as well as Penthouse and Playgirl.

The decision to sell this type of magazine especially in light of last year’s nationwide publicity about William O’Connell’s "sexually explicit material," was made by the Store’s Executive Board for a very simple reason. Explained Steve Shear: "It sells."

In fact, out of the 26 magazines they received last Friday, the Store had only 17 left by the time they opened for business on Monday.

Despite the impressive sales, both Shear and Robert Glaser, who comprise the Executive Board, said they have been getting mixed reactions from students.

"They guys’ reaction is that it’s about time," said Glaser. Female students are another story. "They pretend not to notice," said Shear. However, Shear and Glaser agree that most comment:

What does Bill O’Connell say about it?"

"They think we make it hard for women to be looked on as individuals, and make it easy for them to be looked on as sex objects. For that reason, we decided that they are selling these magazines in the Student Center," said O’Connell.

Walton isn’t the only student to think the ban is an appropriate place to sell this type of literature. He added: "And what’s on people’s minds is to take to defend the purity of the RWC student body. "If any action will be taken," said O’Connell, "it would come from the Student Senate, not the Director of Student Services."

Last year, as everyone from Kansas to New York knows, O’Connell was the Acting Dean, and did take some action on the matter of Playboy.

When Dorm Government and the Business Club first came up with the idea of a store in the snack bar area, they asked O’Connell for help in getting started.

O’Connell agreed, as long as they agreed to not sell "sexually permissive" reading matter.

Gumbling somewhat, they continued. However, the Quill got wind of this "ban" and asked O’Connell to defend his position in a Point—Counterpoint in the paper.

A reporter from the Providence Journal happened to read that issue of the Quill, and detected a story. After interviewing O’Connell, she wrote a story about how the Dean of Students at RWC had "banned" Playboy from the school.

O’Connell did just that, explaining that he found three magazines offensive and degrading to women.

The next logical step was naturally, nationwide coverage. The story went over AP andUPI and was picked up by newspapers across the country, from the Austin (Texas) Times to the New York Times.

Six Students Try For Three Vacant Student Senate Positions

Lea Hoffman

My name is Lea Hoffman, and I am running for the Freshman Senate. I would like to be one of the representatives for the Senate because I will work hard and I am very much interested in being involved with school affairs. I have strong determination, drive, and motivation to make this school even more united as a whole. I will put forth my very best effort to achieve the position of a Freshman Senator. Please give me the opportunity to show you what I can do.

In the past, I have been involved in many activities and jobs that show leadership, responsibility, and the desire to work hard. Some of the various activities have been Creative Writing editor for my High School newspaper, Senior editor for the yearbook, a Town Council Intern, a chair person, Head Library Assistant for two public libraries, secretary and assistant to Student Senate, and Project Manager for Mayflower Moving Company.

Some of my hobbies are: listening to music, playing popular and classical piano, singing rock and country, writing, painting, going to parties, and in general having a great time in anything I do. So, when it comes to time to vote give me the opportunity to show you what I can do. I will do my very best for you.

I am very much interested in being a member of Senate.

VOTE OCTOBER 3RD FOR WALLY RAMOS, SENATOR.

Wally Ramos

I'm Wally Ramos, a resident at Russell-Morin Hall, running for the Senate to represent the Freshman student body.

I am ready and willing to bear student grievances and complaints, and become involved in campus problems and student Senate which serves as a student advocate. I am very aware of the problems of students living off campus at the Lodge and Almeida Community Center. Some of these problems need rearranging promptly. Also another problem facing on- and off-campus students is the parking situation.

Wally Ramos plans to be an active voice in the Senate for all students, from freshmen, as myself, to the senior "COURIER".

Brian Mulinn

Hello, my name is Brian Mulinn, and I'm running for Student Senate. I have put forth my very best effort to achieve the position of a Freshman Senator. Please give me the opportunity to show you what I can do.

In the past, I have been involved in many activities and jobs that show leadership, responsibility, and the desire to work hard. Some of the various activities have been Creative Writing editor for my High School newspaper, Senior editor for the yearbook, a Town Council Intern, a chair person, Head Library Assistant for two public libraries, secretary and assistant to Student Senate, and Project Manager for Mayflower Moving Company.

I am very much interested in being a member of Senate.

VOTE OCTOBER 3RD FOR WALLY RAMOS, SENATOR.

Ray Tedesco

My name is Ray Tedesco and I would like to just say that I am running for the Student Senate because I want to get involved with helping the students with school functions and organizations.

I have gained experience in the past serving as senior class president in my high school, chairman of City Planning Commission, and various other activities in my community. I am a transfer student from the University of New Haven, which I attended for one and a half years. I do think that everyone should get involved in the campus atmosphere. Even though I know that I could make this possible because the Student Government directly effects our students needs.

I ask for your vote with the confidence that I will serve to you the very best of my ability.

Gregg Martin

My name is Gregg Martin and it is my sincere desire to be a member of the Student Senate. I am a Freshman, and my major is Liberal Arts. My interests are centered in old-fashioned cars and antiques.

I think that it is one of the best ways to get involved and find out what's really happening on the campus. I think that since I am very friendly I can relate to other students and help them.

The Student Senate is always trying of way to entertain the students and give them the opportunity to contribute to those ways of keeping spirit alive. I am running for a second term as long as I'm on the Student Senate and that I could make this semester a happy one. I will say this much: I won't be someone who has no time that I can't come through with or maybe. But I can say this, and that is I want you to know that I will try to help you in any way that I can.

WROG Remains Hopeful About FM

By: Jack Mirande

Even though the campus radio station has been dependent on too much spare cash to procure enough money from the Student Senate to convert to an FM station, the greatest threat still has faith and is optimistic about this year. However, the board still wants to go to the FM.

President David Farace expressed how the WROG execs felt the Senate Budget Committee turned their proposal down. "We have had to disappoint many people disappointed. Moving to FM was our goal and it is still our goal. The Budget Committee told us that there was no money, they could do at the present time. We tried going for $5,000, but found the area very slim. We'll try again this year."

It wasn't our Executive Board's fault, the Committee just turned us down," said Farace. He went on, "If they had only known the work that we put into this and then saw it rejected, I was shocked and so was everyone else. We were all shocked." "At first they (the committee) said it was alright if we went to FM, but when we told them the price they then said no," said Mike Wood, the Chief Engineer. "They gave us $5,000 for our budget for the next year, but we needed about $10,000 to make the FM conversion.

Business Manager, Dan Carpenter felt the same way as Wood stated that everyone was disappointed. The Senate gave us $5,000 for our budget for the next year, but we needed about $10,000 to make the FM conversion.

General Manager of WROG, Rich Heckemann said that the Budget Committee didn't give them enough to go to FM. "We'll try again this year, but this year will cost more than last year would have. We're in an economic situation and we need more money to operate the FM, and can't reach the students at Almeida Courts either. And we have received the report for one of the monies for the Senate Budget Committee and it showed the exact figures, but around two or three hundred dollars has been cut out of the budget and the station was one Continued on Page 3"
Freshman Elections Set For October 3, 4

The upcoming Student Senate Elections, which are slated for Oct. 3 and 4, have dozen of candidates. The freshmen who will be listed on the election ballots are Liza Hoffman, Greg Gianotto, Bill Wuruzon, Ray Tedesco, Kimberly Tinkham and Andy Molin.

According to Fusco, more freshmen are running to fill the vacancies than in previous years. I feel this can be attributed to the fact that the Student Senate has been concurrently the main administrative, social and community service organization on campus. I feel that freshmen are impressed with their present staff.

According to Fusco, several apointments have been made within the Student Senate. The committees—the All College Committees and the Social Committee. The All College Committees, which include the Academic Council, Attirion and Retention Committee, All College Council, Budget Committee, Curriculum Committee and the Faculty Senate were filled by Doug Gingrich, Don Utting and Charles Tosty. Stacey Wall and Monte Luna, respectively. The room was small and yet spacious enough for three unique and inviting individuals.

According to Fusco, Cooperative Education is primarily concerned with college students majoring in business, says "When you think about hiring more maintenance people."

Welcome Dean Haskell

On behalf of the RWC community, the Quill would like to take this opportunity to welcome Dr. Kenneth Haskell to our college as the new Dean of Students.

As Dean of Students, Dr. Haskell has some very important responsibilities. Foremost on the list is to immediately begin working with the Director of Student Services, William O'Connell, as well as the Housing Office and Counseling Service. It will be her responsibility to turn the student service area, which has undergone two years of resignations, acting deans, and internal—external searches, into a smoothly functioning operation.

Haskell also has an obligation, as a new comer to RWC, to present fresh ideas and perspectives in the performance of her job. Instead of following in the footsteps of past deans, Haskell should strive to make her own mark on the office, with creative new ideas that set RWC's student service area apart.

And last, but certainly not least, Haskell should remember that as Dean she is the student's advocate, and as such, must be always willing to listen to students and work with them. Without a continuous flow of information both in and out of her office, Haskell can not truly fulfill her duties. For any dean of students, communication is the key.

Beginnings are always delicate times, for they set the stage for what is to come. If Dr. Haskell can immediately show that she recognizes the problems and challenges of the office, and if she works with them, she is well on her way to becoming an important unifying force.

Is Promise to be Wasted

It is always unfortunate when an organization cannot maintain certain standards of excellence that it has shown in the past. It is even more unfortunate when this mainstay in standards comes at a time when this organization claims to be attempting to improve itself.

In the past week, WROG has been making prank calls to campus students between 6:30 and 7:00 in the morning. They have been recording the conversations with these just-wakened students, then broadcasting them over the air as entertainment.

This is not only childish, it is sad.

During the past two weeks, WROG has shown that it is more than just a collection of DJ's spinning disks. At times—such as the blizzard of '78—the radio station has shown itself to be a valuable communications tool of the RWC community. It has provided entertainment and information to the student body, and has been a training ground for students interested in radio. Plans to convert to a FM station, although not yet successful, are certainly more possible now than ever before.

In other words, WROG has shown that it has the capacity to become a truly powerful media station. And it is because WROG has shown this potential that it is especially sad to see them resort to such juvenile activities to get attention.

Perhaps a little re-evaluation is necessary at the Executive Board level of WROG. They must decide—is WROG to continue to serve as a valuable voice of the students, or is it to become the plaything of few children?

Spirit! Let's Hear It!

Something is missing at Roger Williams College Dorms. It's really frustrating, I'm only a handful of 20,000 students who go to RWC and they say, "where is there?" Even and I live about 25 miles apart in Massachusetts. Why is Roger Williams so unknown?

Educationally, I realize this college is not a University, or any other Ivy League School. This is alright with me. Most of the students here continue to miss classes time and time again. Why spend this great sum of money if you don't try to get the education you pay for?

Let us all try a little harder. The school won't be referred to in the future as a place to go after all the other schools have rejected you.

For those who forget or never discovered how our Student Senate president got elected, let me give you a recap. For this important position, Steve Fucso ran unopposed and was elected out of a possible 479 votes. It was a close race.

First, how come nobody else cared enough to run for this position? Are we running a government like the Soviet Union in Russia where 80 percent of the people vote for the candidate?

Secondly, how come only 25 percent of RWC students cared to vote at all? If this sounds like I'm comparing Steve Fucso, you're right. Will anyone call me a hand job cap, bow and shake his hand?

Commentary

By bunny Cuniff

for having enough school pride and spirit to run for Student Senate?

Where were the votes? Doesn't anyone care for this school? Is it because classes time and time again?

I was called a hand job by a girl at WROG the other day so I wrote my new name in the paper and handed a little too boring for me. Why does anyone vote for this school? I paid $6,000 dollars a year and I paid six hours. If you don't vote then don't complain. It is through this very concept of the blizzard of '78.

In the future, WROG has shown that it is more than just a DJ's spinning disks. Dear Editor: I am writing this letter to express my concern about the RWC security system. The security at RWC is not sufficient to ensure the safety and well-being of the resident students. Last Thursday night’s incident, in which the campus was invaded by 15 rowdy, drunk students, was an unfortunate incident. The security guard that was there will admit he handled the situation well for one person with only a walkie-talkie. But these rowdies were on campus for at least 45 minutes. At least one of our students got into a fight with them. Where was I, the leader, in this security force? The U.R.I. students were outside Dorm II, creating havoc and trying to pick fights with mostly freshmen. Where was our security force? I would also like to clear up a fallacy that has been going around campus; that the students from U.R.I. parked at NIKE and walked over to the campus. This is not true. I walked out with the U.R.I. students to their cars, and they were parked in the commuter parking lot. This means they had to come right through the front gate. Where was our security? The same security that busies freshmen with stickers about parking on the main campus. I hope this letter goes to print, I hope to be chairing a committee set up by the Student Senate in Investigate this incident and all other complaints about the security system. If you would like to work with me on this committee, or have any other questions, contact me: rm 224 (I North) or at the Student Senate office.

Getting Rid of a Roommate, Or: Kissing Elbow Face Goodbye

College students have their own particular set of problems, unique to them. They also have no one to go to for advice; Ann Landers would be totally perplexed, and your clergyman would suggest monkhood. Therefore, in an effort to solve some of the typical college problems, the Quill has assembled a board of professional students, who love to give advice. This week. How to get rid of an unwanted roommate. Alright, you've got this problem. Your roommate is a real jerk. You know the type: For example, his idea of a good time is listening to Barry Manilow records. Or: He has seven very friendly boyfriends. Or: His mother visits him twice a month. And from the Lodge, but many students are not satisfied with the present schedule. The main complaint is that the bus runs to and from the Lodge, but many students are not satisfied with the future issues and managing the Quill office and personnel.

R.I. Dairies Announce A Crackdown On Milkcase Thieves

If you are one of the many students who use milk crates in your dorm room to hold up shelves, store albums, or carry things around, you may be in trouble.

The handy plastic cases, which are nearly a necessity for college students decorating their rooms, are widely used by students that the milk companies are finally sitting up and taking notice to the problem. They are doing something about it.

The Association of New England Milk Dealers Inc., whose member dealers in Rhode Island distribute approximately 150 million quarts of milk each year, has announced an all-out campaign to stop the theft of milk cases.

The plastic cases are used to deliver milk products to stores and institutions that sell dispense milk. Each year, according to the Association, millions of dollars are spent by New England Dairies replacing lost or misplaced cases. This loss is even more pronounced on the consumer in the form of higher dairy prices.

The loss figures appear to be staggering. Here in Rhode Island, during the last twelve months, two of the dairies (Brown’s Dairy in Cranston and East Greenwich Dairy of East Greenwich, Rhode Island) estimate their combined case loss at over a quarter of a million dollars.

Another large New England dairy, H.P. Hood, shows figures that far exceed those in Rhode Island alone.

The Association wants to do something about it. Recently, posters appeared wherever milk is sold or dispensed. The brasher, "Stolen Property," points out that cases in private, non-dairy use have been taken without permission and should be returned.

According to the Association, many people just don’t realize that the attractive, handy cases are private property, belonging to the dairy whose name appears on the side panel.

It is obvious that the taking of these milk cases is illegal. The same law applies to the taking of anything that doesn’t belong to you and many states (including Rhode Island) have specific laws on the books concerning milk case theft. The reason the milk companies are getting so agitated is easy to understand. The companies pay out millions every year for each of these cases. If your typical college student has about five of these cases in his dorm, you can imagine how much the milk-makers about $14.00.

That is enough to support seven by 800 dorm students at RWC, Night Class Students Rated More Mature, Goal-Oriented

By Philippe Montas

At a time when most students are taking a break from the day's grueling experience, a desperate group of people sit in a classroom wrestling with the subtleties of language and grammar. This is Communication 101. For Science and Technology, one of the most advanced courses taught at night here at RWC.

Many students find it impossible to attend the regular day session classes because of employment. Evening sessions are the only option open if a person wants to pursue a post-secondary education. As Steve Brennan puts it, "I work eight hours a day and the only way I can finish my education is by taking evening classes. I don't have the time to work because I have a wife and two children to support, so I must go to school in the evening.

Other students attending evening classes because of employment do not necessarily seek a degree, they would like to acquire the type of knowledge available only in an institution of higher learning, and also occupy their free time in a constructive manner. Some middle-aged students find the academic environment fulfilling. According to some, evening students are usually more mature and goal-oriented than day students because more often than not they have greater responsibilities than their counterparts. The realization that time is a precious commodity, instills a feeling of urgency among these students.

As Diane M. said, "evening classes are different. I attend both day and evening classes and find that although the educational level remains the same, the level of concentration and the use of terminology encountered during evening classes shows a greater maturity and sense of purpose."

Nevertheless, the majority of this group of people would like to take courses in the day because of the greater convenience and the inability of most of them to participate in any extracurricular activities.

In each issue, the Quill will profile one of the approximately 30 clubs on campus. This week: The Photography Club.

The RWC Photography Club is one organization that President Bob Brunke, who is ambition driven main in the field (darkroom) much longer. As a matter of fact, Brunke has several other hobbies aside from photography, and is looking forward to a darkroom he can use in the future.

But Brunke puts a lot of time and energy into photography, and is looking forward to the day when he can get his darkroom set up and start working.

Brunke doesn't want to charge students to use the darkroom, he just wants to keep it open for students to use at their leisure.

There are many different types of photographers, from beginners to professionals, and Brunke is hoping to attract students from all walks of life.

Brunke is also looking into the possibility of setting up a photography studio on campus.

But for now, Brunke is just enjoying his hobby and the company of other photography enthusiasts.

One of the greatest advantages of the club, however, is that it allows members free access to the darkroom, which is located in the Science-Business Boarding on campus. This not only allows experienced photographers to develop their own pictures, but also gives newcomers a chance to learn the process.

Brunke is especially hopeful about attracting freshmen members this year. "As many freshmen as we can get to join us would be great," he said.

The first meeting of the club was held last week, and Brunke said they will advertise again before the next one. For more information, Brunke can be reached at his office on the second floor of the Science-Business Building on campus. He is also available on nights to answer any questions you may have about the Club.

The Photography Club is one of the most diverse groups on campus, offering a variety of activities for people of all skill levels and interests.

The club is open to anyone who is interested in photography, and meetings are held every week.

The club's goal is to provide a supportive environment for its members to learn and grow in their photography skills.

Tell Brunke you heard about the club through this article, and he will be very happy to welcome you to their meetings. You can contact him in person, or by email at photography@rw.edu.
Entertainment and Reviews

Inside the Outside Inn
By WILLIAM FRIEDMAN
Lou Falcone's Outside Inn, formerly Mr. T's, is now offering entertainment in the area. On any given night, one can find live entertainment, rock and roll, and activities right on the premises.

Lou has one step further, and is also providing drink specials to go along with the entertainment. Most nights, Lou has his Wednesday Night with drinks 50 cents, Sunday night's open bar from 8-9.

These are just three of the special promotions that Lou has to offer. Whether it's rock and roll, a drink, or entertainment, the club has it all.

The club has been totally remodeled inside, and the once rowdy Mr. T's is now transformed into a club definitely worth visiting. The atmosphere is charged with excitement and one can quickly become right at home, either gaming, drinking, or just listening to the exciting music that Lou has to offer.

I chose Wednesday night to visit the Outside Inn, and found the Jimmy Carter Review rocking the audience. This band is definitely not to be confused with anything remotely political, but it did give a good dose of electricity. The group played superbly with dynamic guitar playing, with Jimmy Carter on bass, Joey Cared on lead and vocals, and a man named Middy on drums.

The Wednesday night crowd is at least every second, and we were all looking forward to the next. The Jimmy Carter band is just one of the many events that Lou Falcone has lined up for the fall. The club will be featuring a line-up of acts like Meatballs, Meatballs, Meatballs, Meatballs, Meatballs, Meatballs! The Meatballs are known for their unique blend of rock and roll and the evening show will feature the classic Meatballs.

Throughout the evening, various personal appearances and performances by the Meatballs will be scheduled, providing entertainment for the crowd. This is a great opportunity for fans of Meatballs to come out and experience the fun of Meatballs live!
New Coach

By JEFFREY TUCKER

The RWC Cross-Country team has added a new dimension to this year's soccer team with the hiring of a new coach. After reviewing many candidates, Robert Frye was chosen for the position due to his experience in the task of shaping a winning team.

Looking forward to this year's season, which is coming up soon, Frye said, "the team will surprise a lot of people and is expecting a "respectable" season.

Coach Frye believes the major strengths of the team are that they are well balanced, and they are a young team.

When asked about the team's weaknesses, Frye stated that the team was not used to playing together, and most importantly, they are not used to winning.

Frye is hopeful for more student support this year, and hopes that all and provides additional front row
