RWU Law and Urban Debate

Posted by David Logan on 04/23/2014 at 04:34 PM

RWU Law was an active participant in the RI Urban League’s annual Community Debate. This terrific event, hosted by Brown University, brings urban youth from around the state, pairs them with volunteers from the community, and gives them experience in public speaking via an informal debate tournament. Co-chaired by Congressman David Cicilline and Central Falls Mayor James Diossa, RWU Law provided deans (Logan and Lalli), students (Nicole Verdi, Marcus Swift, and Erlin Rogel), and alums (Angie Cooper, Dionney Garcia, and John Dorsey) to the effort. Congratulations to the student competitors, who were not the least bit intimidated by being judged by lawyers, as they addressed three wildly different questions:

• Should financial aid be more easily available for science students than humanities students?

• Should graphically violent video games be illegal? and,

• Should time travel be illegal?

Here is coverage from the Providence Journal http://www.providencejournal.com/breaking-news/content/20140405-urban-high-school-students-test-their-mettle-in-community-debate-event-at-brown-university.ece and then some pictures from that fun day.
